'Decisive Action' Threatened by N. Y. Prison Dep't Unless Escapes Cease

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The many recent escapes from state prison prompted Superintendent James M. Carter, of the prison department, to-day to notify all wardens that greater restrictions must be placed upon the inmates and that unless the escapes cease, he will take "decisive action."

Fluores accompanying the warnings show that since Superintendent Carter took office last March thirty-five convicts have escaped, twenty of whom still are at large.

PLAN PROSECUTION OF BLACKMAILERS

per, of Philadelphia, in the Federal Court in New York City. The defendants in the case probably will be removed to New York immediately for trial which is expected to begin in about a month.

The cases of the other alleged blackmailers are expected to also be pressed for early trial. It is possible that other arrests will be made soon according to Bruce Bielaski, head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

Refusal of witnesses to testify resulted in the delay of some of the prisoners in Chicago, but if necessary in the interest of justice the Attorney General may order the cloak of secrecy thrown aside and protection of the names of those involved may be withdrawn.

It was declared at the conference that operations of blackmailers under the Mann law have increased enormously in the past year, and that the men and women arrested in Chicago are but a few of those who are said to be working this racket.

Revision of the Mann law, which was originally designed to prevent and punish "commercialized vice," is fore-shadowed by recent developments in Washington. Federal attorneys in all the large cities have pointed out that they are unable to cope with the situation created by the Mann law, which lends itself to all sorts of blackmailing schemes.

Thousands of women, not identified with any bands of swindlers, are known to have been victimized by the force of the payment of heavy tribute from prominent men, but no way has been found to deal with these individual cases of criminality.

There are indications of more arrests pending, especially in some of the larger eastern cities, and a number of suspects not yet in custody are under surveillance of Federal agents. The opinion was expressed by some of the officials in Washington that the publicity which the blackmailing conspiracy has received should have an excellent educational and preventative effect.

Many Wealthy 'Prospects' Indexed by Blackmailers

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 21.—Wealthy men and women of Chicago who under the spell of some cafe infatuation or in a moment of temptation and champagne have broken the conventions of society's decalogue, were card indexed for ready reference by the swindlers of the blackmail syndicate exposed by the raid on an apartment last Saturday.

This card index was captured in the apartment of one of the alleged criminals. It is on the authority of one of the detectives who took part in the raid.

The list in the hands of the sharpshooters, said the detective, contained at least twenty names, all of people of wealth and some social distinction. If these names were made public—and you may be sure they never will be—it would cause a sensation that would rock society.

It was given out that Department of Justice men in Chicago are planning to arrest the chief members of the gang, two women and three men, and that many Chicago blackmail victims heretofore unknown, had been found.

"Chicago is blackmailed out of $200,000 a year," said J. H. Schumacher, of the Pinkerton Agency. "Blackmail has become the most frequent of crimes as well as the most profitable, and is the least dangerous to the criminal."

The operations of the so-called blackmail in Chicago include some of the most profitable episodes in the secret criminal history of the city.

William C. Woodward, wanted by the government in connection with the alleged swindles, surrendered last night and was released on $2,500 bond.

ROTARY CLUB QUICK TO ENTER CAMPAIGN

continue to grow and develop as it has in the past.

The Rotary committee rolled its big guns into position and is to-day bringing up every man at its command to make the drive. It is expected to capture thousands of dollars for the good enterprise. The club has had many successes and not one failure. It is preparing to make the most determined effort of its history to meet the appeal of the hotel committee of the Chamber of Commerce for co-operation in putting over the greatest public enterprise since the city's first improvement loan by the people.

The committee met at the offices of John S. Musser, the chairman, in the rear of the Dauphin. Electrical Supplies Company's store at 34 Market street about four hours after the announcement of its appointment. Present, Howard C. Fry was among those present. Mr. Musser presented the members briefly on the necessity of prompt and vigorous action. "We have been assigned to a very important work," said he, "and it is desirable that we go about it quickly and effectively. The Rotary Club stands for action and it is up to us to show our mettle. It is true that enough money has been subscribed to insure the operation of the hotel, but it would be a great thing for the town and highly beneficial to the stockholders if it could be said that the people of the city went down into their pockets for a round million dollars and built the hotel without one cent of indebtedness standing out against it."

The committee decided that it would make each member chairman of a subcommittee and selected two members of the club to be subcommittee chairmen in making a round-up of the club membership and to report progress at a meeting of the committee at Mr. Musser's offices next Tuesday evening.

After each member of the club has been visited by the committeemen a report will be made to the Chamber of Commerce committee and the Rotary committee will co-operate with that body in making a general round-up of the city.

President Fry promised whatever assistance he could give the committee and expressed his thanks for the prompt response of the members to the call for a meeting. The following letter was delivered by special messenger this afternoon to each of the members of the committee of twelve: Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 20, 1916.

Fellow-Committeemen: The new hotel committee of the Rotary Club met last evening at the offices of John S. Musser, chairman, at 34 Market street, and decided to make each meet with health officials and another committee will probably be appointed. These two committees, with the health officials, will prepare a proposed ordinance which will insure the purity of milk and cream shipped to the city. Favor Farm Inspection Yesterday in the discussion of the situation many of the manufacturers declared themselves in favor of farm inspection by city authorities and the Department of Health, promised to carry out this plan, if adopted, will be to require any person supplying milk to make an application to the City Health Department for permission to send the milk here. Blanks will then be furnished for the farmer or dairyman to fill out, after which city food inspectors will be sent to go over the place and grade it. Compulsory pasteurization of all cream used in the manufacture of ice cream was also discussed favorably by the men present.

Big Improvement Seen During the conference tests of ice cream made during September were shown to the manufacturers. Although the majority of them showed the presence of disease germs, there was a big improvement noticeable in comparison with earlier tests.

Dr. Raupick, at the request of a number of manufacturers, promised to give the public notification in the near future that the ice cream supply was safe. Several of the men present declared their willingness to aid the Health Department in a clean-up of milk and cream, but stated that they are positive the only method which will bring results is farm and dairy inspection by city officials.

Milk dealers will be given an opportunity to express their views next week following the meeting of health directors and the ice cream manufacturers' committee. Later other conferences will be held by the committees, who will then take the proposed regulations before all of the dealers for their approval, with any amendments which they may desire. They will be submitted to the Health Department after approval and then taken before City Council for final passage.
