NEW LICENSE IS REQUIRED SOON

State Employment Agencies Must File Papers Under Employment Act Clause

Every private employment agency in Pennsylvania, must obtain from the Department of Labor and Industry, a new license before October 1, by the payment of a fee of $50 and the submission of a bond in the sum of $1,000. This regulation includes all theatrical booking agencies and commissary camp padrones, who supply foreign labor for construction work.

The Employment Agent's act, passed by the last Legislature, prohibits any employment agent from conducting business for profit unless a bond is posted and a license is obtained from the Commissioner of the Labor Department. Each license, issued by the Commissioner, expires on the 30th day of September following the day on which it was issued. Licenses are not transferable.

Jacob Lightner, director of the Bureau of Employment, has reported to Commissioner John Price Jackson that the Employment Bureau, established on the first of last October, has turned in to the State Treasury $12,500 in license fees collected from 352 private agents in Pennsylvania. Included in that number are 176 agencies in Philadelphia and 47 in Pittsburgh.

The supervision of the private employment agencies of the State has been conducted by the Employment Bureau in addition to the operation of five free employment offices in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Altoona and Harrisburg and through which thousands of workers have obtained employment.

Every private employment agency, after paying the $50 license fee must obtain, from the Department of Labor and Industry, type forms of receipts that must be issued to every person who pays money to the private employment agent for the purpose of obtaining employment.

CRIMINAL SUITS WILL BE SOUGHT

against rebates are being considered was admitted by one of the department's highest officials. It is the contention of the Government that not only have the rebates in "a manner and an amount unparalleled in the commercial history of the United States," been granted to the Reading Coal Company in the past, but are being granted at this time.

On this point the brief in the dissolution suit filed in the Supreme Court Tuesday contains this statement: "The record proves that the Reading Coal Company, through guarantees of its obligations, through advances which it never was required to repay, through its conduct in the collection of freight charges, and through other means, has received from the Reading Railroad Company and its successor, the Reading Holding Company, illegal preferences and rebates exceeding in value $100,000,000."

Cites Illegal Preferences The Government included in its brief a partial statement of these alleged illegal preferences and rebates granted between 1870 and 1913. The table follows:

Interest remitted, 1870-1896, on $40,000,000 open account owed by Reading Coal Company to Reading Railroad Company, figured at five per cent., $40,000,000.

Interest and sinking fund charges paid by Reading Railroad Company for Reading Coal Company, 1870-1896, on $12,000,000 bond issue, $1,000,400.

Interest remitted, 1896-1913, on $70,000,000 open account owed by Reading Coal Company to Reading Holding Company; at 5 per cent., $42,261,728.

Interest paid for Reading Coal Company by Reading Holding Company, 1896-1913, on $50,369,000 of $99,000,000 bond issue at 4 per cent., $17,125,460.

These sums, the Government's statement shows, makes a total of $100,337,138.

"And it must not be forgotten," the Government states, "moreover, that these rebates and discriminations are continuing at the present time."

It is contended by the Attorney General that these concessions to the coal company in interest charges amounted to 22.4 cents per ton on every ton of anthracite coal shipped and sold by the coal and iron company in 1910; 25.8 cents per ton in 1911; 20.4 cents per ton in 1913, and 6 cents per ton in 1913.

It was contended in the lower court by the Reading officials that these preferences were authorized by the laws of Pennsylvania, but it is the contention of the Government, that while denying that the laws of Pennsylvania ever authorized such preferential treatment, even if it were true, such laws would have ceased to be of effect as far as interstate commerce is concerned by the enactment of the act to regulate commerce.

Wonder Independents Survive The Government, in its brief, expresses wonder that any independent shippers of anthracite coal have survived the practices of the coal "barons."

It declares that for a railroad company to supply one shipper with current working capital while refusing that advantage to others is manifestly a discrimination in the interest of the one, even though the current rate of interest be charged. The Government, to show the advantages given the Reading Coal Company by the jointly owned railroad, recalls the former practice of the railroad of furnishing each morning to the general agent of the coal company a complete list of all the anthracite shipments transported over its lines and received by it at Philadelphia during the previous day. It recalls also that independent shippers have been required to "pay cash" to the Reading Railroad, whereas the Reading Coal Company, while the current account of the coal company had averaged rebates to favored shippers, were taken from the old Elkins rebating act, approved February 19, 1903. These drastic measures were framed by Senator Elkins when he was chairman of the Senate committee on Interstate Commerce, and in 1906, when the amending law was framed, they were incorporated.

The Government's attorneys believe that with such an array of facts to present no court would hold these illegal methods could be carried on without the full consent and knowledge of the company's directors, and under the commerce act would seek to hold them liable personally.

The provisions in the act to regulate commerce, providing for the fine or imprisonment, or both, of railroad officials found guilty of granting rebates to favored shippers, were taken from the old Elkins rebating act, approved February 19, 1903. These drastic measures were framed by Senator Elkins when he was chairman of the Senate committee on Interstate Commerce, and in 1906, when the amending law was framed, they were incorporated.

RAID OF VILLA COMPLETE SUCCESS

tion, Villa himself went to the governor's palace and made a speech from the balcony after his forces had captured the palace, the penitentiary and federal buildings.

"Coming to Shake Hands" The report recalls the fact that on September 14 Villa sent a letter to General Trevino, commander at Chihuahua, saying he would be in the city at 3 p. m. Saturday to "shake hands."

"Evidence" Bell expresses the opinion that the raid was completely successful and that Villa accomplished even more than he said he would. Trevino's personal guard deserted him, it appears, and in the confusion many government soldiers were killed by their own comrades.

General Bell's report follows: "Evidence increases to show that Villa was completely successful in his attack Saturday upon Chihuahua and accomplished all and more than he said he would do. There is diversity of opinion and statements as to the number of men with which he entered Chihuahua. Some reports state he only had about 500, while others give him 1,700, but all agree that he was able to secure possession of the penitentiary, the governor's palace and the federal buildings and hold them for several hours, and all this with a Carranza garrison at Chihuahua which some place at not less than 6,000. They liberated over 200 prisoners, secured and carried away more than sixteen automobile loads of arms and ammunition under an escort of deserting Carranza troops. He left Chihuahua with from 1,000 to 1,500 more men than he entered with.

It is reported that many of the Carranza troops who were killed were killed by other Carranza troops, probably as a result of artillery firing from Santa Rosa Hill.

Reports Sent to New London All reports received are being forwarded to New London for the information of the Mexican-American commission. It is regarded as probable that an official version will be forwarded there soon by General Carranza.

"It appears that there had been a banquet attended by most of Trevino's officers and that about 2 o'clock this banquet was finished and most of the officers of the Carranza garrison were asleep. As soon as Trevino heard of the trouble he started toward the governor's palace, but his personal escort deserted him and went over to Villa.

The party that attacked the federal building rode into it on horseback and the guard there deserted to them.

Retired Leisurely and practically without molestation. The firing by Trevino's artillery occurred after Villa troops had withdrawn.

On September 14 Trevino received a letter from Villa stating that he, Villa, would be in Chihuahua to shake hands with Trevino on the 16th and he hoped that he would have a suitable reception for him, that he might be hungry and would like to have something to eat.

On the 15th of September it was reported that Villa personally entered Chihuahua, was seen by many of his friends there and reconnoitered the city. Of course, he was in disguise. On the night of the 15th the Villistas approached Chihuahua from a camp which he had maintained for two days within twenty-two miles of that city. After Villa's columns had secured possession of the penitentiary, the governor's palace and federal buildings, descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any apothecary and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Notes: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent. in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in Harrisburg by H. C. Kennedy, Croll Keller and by druggists generally.
