ANSWER MINE OWNERS

Mexico City, Sept. 22. — The treasury department to-night issued a circular in answer to the appeals of individual mine owners for the remission of taxes on mining property. The circular declares that the titles given are in the nature of a lease of subsoil from the government, which is the sole owner of the land. The leases, according to the circular, do not give absolute ownership, but the right to exploitation of the subsoil during the payment of taxes, which is an indispensable condition to preserve the title of mining property.

He talked of Americanism, the Adamson law, appropriations for rivers which had no water to recommend them to commerce and the alleged extravagance of the Democratic administration. In the latter he made this charge:

"The recent session which constituted only one half of the Sixtyfourth Congress, appropriated in cash
$1,626,638,209 and specifically authorized the additional expenditure of $231,945,275, making a grand total of $1,858,384,484. The Sixty-third Congress, Democratic both branches, appropriated $2,231,055,150. This was record Republican session of 1910 of $232,932,762."

Some of this money, Mr. Hughes said, had been wasted in rivers and harbors appropriations, on: "rivers that had little water" to recommend them to commerce.

"We desire peace and prosperity. We desire peace with honor. We desire peace consistently with the maintenance of American rights. I am for the maintenance of the American war scale; I am for the extension of social justice in giving strict consideration to every honorable undertaking in the United States.

I am for the maintenance of American rights throughout the world, without fear and unflinchingly with regard to American lives, in regard to American property and American commerce.

"I am for the dignity of American in the total commerce."

off, to meet Mr. Hughes and shake his hand.

Raymond Robins, the former Progressive and labor leader, was on the South Bend platform and his address attracted much attention as he has many friends among the union men.

"I am for Charles E. Hughes," he told the audience, "first because he was the unbossed and free Governor of the Empire State of the Republic As Governor he showed that he felt for the public service and his obligations for the whole State of New York more than he cared for any group of special interests of that State. I am for him because I know when he is in the White House there will be no possibility for the individual government to have any command over the government of the people of the United States."

Hughes to Speak in Philadelphia Oct. 9

Philadelphia, Sept. 23. — Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for President, will open—his final campaign tour with an address at the Metropolitan Opera House, in this city, on the evening of October 9. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Union League, and the nominee will probably be the only speaker.

Between September 27, when Hughes will speak in Pittsburgh, and the opening of the final campaign here, he will make no speeches, but devote his time to rest. In discussing the Hughes campaign, Senator Penrose said yesterday the Democratic claim that the Adamson eight-hour law had put Pennsylvania in the doubtful class "is too trivial to merit any consideration."

Voice Is Husky

After delivering thirteen speeches yesterday in the most strenuous political tour ever conducted in this State, Charles E. Hughes ended here the second day of his campaign to win Indiana, pretty thoroughly worn out. Hiss voice was husky and uncertain and gave his physicians much concern. Mr. Hughes refused to let up and went through the schedule to the end, although admittedly finding it difficult to hold the pace.

A great crowd, estimated at from 20,000 to 30,000, greeted Mr. Hughes here last night when he appeared on the balcony overlooking the City Hall Square, but because of his faltering voice he was able to say but a few words of greeting which were heard by a small fraction of the mob. It was a keen disappointment to Mr. Hughes. He showed plainly the signs of wear and tear, but the reception accorded him, easily the greatest demonstration since his nomination, had been medicince to jaded nerves and tired body.

Later, he talked at an indoor meeting in the high school and appeared before an overflow meeting. He tried to express his appreciation, and by careful use of his voice got through with his speech.

The appropriations as approved last year gave $275,000 in round numbers for erection of armories and $121,000 for examination over three-quarters of a million for the maintenance of the Guard. There is general belief at the Capitol that this sum will be increased and in addition Governor Brumbaugh has voiced an intention to recommend appropriations for roads and permanent improvements at the camp site at Mt. Gretna.

No Meetings Here.—The Public Service Commission will hold no hearings in Harrisburg during the coming week, but will have sittings in Pittsburgh, but will have sittings in Pittsburgh, philadelphia, Smethport, Coaldale and possibly other places. The Philadelphia harrings will be held on Tuesday and will be on complaints against trolley and water service in the vicinity of that city, while the Pittsburgh hearings will include objections to railroad rates for hauling beer in Allegheny county and the complaint of the borough of Brackenridge against service of a water company. The borough of Pursutawney will apply for a certificate to establish its own water plant.

Attendance Good.—Reports received at the State Department of Agriculture indicate that in spite of the quarantine against children on account of infantile paralysis attendance at the fairs held throughout the State thus far in September has been almost equal to that last year. The State Highway and Agricultural Departments have had exhibits at several of the larger fairs.

More State Banks. — Charters have been granted to four new State banks the last three weeks and half a dozen more applications are on the way. Most of the banks are located in boroughs about the State and they generally have a capital stock of $25,000 to $50,000.

The banks are intended for needs of local communities and without exception the stock is held in the home towns.
