COLLEGE TEAMS START FOOTBALL

Few Big Institutions Ready; Scholastic Battles Open One Week Later

College football in the East starts to-day. Scholastic sport is on the opening program for next Saturday.

Central High will meet Lancaster

High on Island Field. Tech goes to Lebanon, and Steelton High will meet Stevens Trade School of Lancaster. Regular teams will not be picked for two weeks.

Local coaches are waiting for the development of stars. Many of the regulars are working and have had some difficulty in getting to practice. As schools open next week, they will quit their vacation jobs to-day and put in a full week at practice. The October schedule is expected to show some classy line-ups.

College Games

The first games of the eastern football season of 1916 were played on college gridirons this afternoon from Maine to Maryland.

The first games of the eastern football season of 1915 were played on college griddrons this afternoon from Maine and Maryland.
Only two of the leading teams of last year will make their debut to-day. Harvard opens against Colby, which scored a touchdown on the Crimson last autumn, and Dartmouth plays New Hampshire State, a newcomer on the Hanover team's schedule.
The other big teams of the section, including Yale, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Princeton, have selected later dates for their opening skirmishes, altho Penn will play a practice game with income on Franklin Field this afternoon.

Probable Winners

Harvard, Dartmouth, Georgetown, Washington and Jefferson, Pennsylvania State and Bucknell are expected to emerge with substantial scores in their favor. What is likely to be one of the closest games of the day is that between Holy Cross and Connecticut Agricultural College.

The principal contests scheduled for to-day, with the 1915 scores where the same institutions met, are as follows: Colby and Harvard, 1915 score, 6 to 39.

Eddystone Sold to Allies

Philadelphia, Sept. 23. — One of the biggest deals in America in connection with the war in Europe was completed yesterday when the stock of the Eddystone Ammunition Company was acquired by the Anglo-Russian Commission, and the plant will be operated in the future under the supervision of representatives of the Entente Allies.

Contracts for munitions aggregating many millions of dollars have been assumed by the new owners.

The corporate existence of the Eddystone Company will be retained, but a new directorate will take over the business of the company, including leases for buildings and munition contracts.

The Eddystone Ammunition Company was organized less than a year and a half ago for manufacturing shells for the Russian Government. Several million dollars were placed in the concern, which now employs about 5,060 persons.

Some Ball Player, Keystone's Louise

When Louise Fazenda, Triangle-Key stone comedienne, was a kiddle of eight or nine years she lived in a neigborhood number of small boys and very few girls. The boys seemed to Louise to have the most fun, playing ball and duck on the rock and other manly sports adapted to their years. So Louise left the little girls and their dolls and learned to swat the horsehide sphere: also to grab it on the fly. She has remained a ball player ever since and recently took part in a match game at Los Angeles, amazing the beholders with her skill and speed. She is shown here, snapshotted as she leaped and speared a sizzling line drive in her

Boston Loses Chance For National Lead

Yesterday's results in the National League just about sounded the death knell of whatever slim hopes Boston had of winning the pennant. The Hub's representatives lost, while Brooklyn and Philadelphia won, and Boston now is five and one-half games behind the leaders—a margin virtually impossible to overcome in the seventeen games Stallings has yet to play. Brooklyn is two and a half games ahead of Philadelphia. The standing:

W. L. P.C.

Brooklyn 86 55 60999
Philadelphia 83 57 59286
Boston 78 58 57353

All three leaders won in the American League and their relative standing remained the same—Boston in first place, two and a half games ahead of Chicago, with Detroit in third place, three games behind the champions. The standing:

Interest, it is said, runs high in the forthcoming production of "Common Clay," the famous New York success, which A. H. Woods will present at the Orpheumfor an engagement of one day, next Saturday, matines and night, after its success at the Republic Theater, New York, where it ran for a solid year. The fame of the piece has already preceded it, and playgoers from coast to coast are already familiar with the success of this latest A. H. Woods triumph in the field of managerial activity.

The latest Marbury-Comstock Company musical comedy offering, "Very Good Eddle," which ran at the "Princess Theater, New York, an entire year, is announced Eddle" for presentation at the Orpheum Theater, for one performance, on Tuesday evening, October 3. This now famous musical farce was written by Philip Bartholomae, author of "Over Night," "When Dreams Come True," etc., and Jerome Kern, who is responsible for the bright and tuneful score. The play is in two acts and three scenes are required in the telling of the story, the first on the deck of a Hudson river boat, and the second at the Rip Van Winkle Inn, representing evening and morning.

A FEW OF THE GIGGLING GOSLINGS WITH "MOTHER GOOSE" AT ORPHEUM TUESDAY

"Glorious girlhood, gorgeously gowned," might aptly be use to describe the chorus of the big musical comedy success, "Mother Goose," which comes to the Orheum, Tuesday matinee and evening. The girls are all young and pretty, and the gowning is said to be the most elaborate and costly that ever graced a musical comedy. There are fifty people in the company, including the girls, and headed by J. C. Mack, the originator of the character of Mother Goose.

Perhaps you will never realize how beautiful some of the songs of long ago are, such as "The Fine Singing Old Oaken Bucket." at Majestic "Annie Laurie," and sevatet sing them. This group of male singers receives enthusiastic applause at each performance and they deserve it, for their singing is excellent. Four other keith acts are grouped around this offering. For the first half of next week a miniature operetta, presented by William Fruette and company, and entitled "A Holland Romance," is the half of the setting and the costuming depict the setting and the costuming depict the setting and the costuming depict in a sketch called "The Coral Cameo;" Cooper and Ricardo, in a singing, talking and danning skit, and the Four Vanders, sensational gymnasts.

"The Little Liar," the newest Triangle play, featuring Mae Marsh, that appeared at the Colonial yesterday, and which Liar" at will be seen for the last the Colonial times to-day, is said to be one of the most interesting and enjoyable pictures that entitled "The Floating Trap." This chapter shows the regeneration of the little waif adopted by Gioria. Gloria orders her father to see that the child's father is given a position, and when she learns that the mother is ill, she she learns that the mother is ill, she far it so happens that Trask is livener. It is on the leaves the house, he is seen by Gloria, who again sets out after him. pears as a little girl with a wonderful imagination, and who is considered by her parents to be an incorrigible liar, who should have her bad habits whipped out of her. Too late, the spark of genius in this little girl is discovered. Before it can be fanned into flame by those who recognize in her dreamings and scribblings a supreme gift, it has filekered out. On the same gift it has filekered out. On the same greamings and scribblings a supreme gift, it has flickered out. On the same bill will be shown a new two-reel Keystone comedy, called "The Winning Punch." Monday and Tuesday "Gretchen, the Greenhorn," will be the feature attraction.
