Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7.—The eighthour law recently enacted by Congress was attacked by William H. Taft last night when he addressed thousands of persons, at thee Coliseum, discussing the development of constitutional government of the state. Mr. Taft's speech was a part of the county day program in connection with Indiana's centennial celebration.

Mr. Taft declared that the law forobids the formation of combinations for oppression. But, he said, there has developed in this country a tendency in high fuarters to disregard constitutional limitations and to overlook certain classes of acts, provided a political*advantage could be gained. He regarded the eight-hour law as such and said:

and said:

"This is the most noteworthy instance of a group whose labor was necessary that society may live refusing to perform its function in the social machinery."

comparison of the policies of Republican and Democratic parties, He said:

"There is at the present time prosperity in spots, a kind of leopard prosperity in tin certain sections of the country you know and I know that there is adversity, and this has been caused by the adoption of the policies of the Democratic party. The Republican party spreads prosperity from

"Dreary Catalogue of Shortcomings" of Administration

Boston, Oct. 7. — Delegates representing the Republican party in Massachusetts met in State convention to-day to adopt a platform and choose presidential electors. The gathering also served as a ratification of the vote in the recent primaries when Senator Henry Cabott Lodge, Governor Samuel W. McCall, and other State officers were renominated. Senator Lodge had prepared a lengthy address in which he arraigned what he termed "the dreas of conduct of foreign relations. Shuffling Methods

"I have watched with bitter regret," he said, "the shuffling methods of dealing with other nations which have made us hang our heads in shame when the noisy boast of 'keéping us out of war' has filled the air. The whole course of this administration in dealing with the grave questions which Mexico on the one side and the President to lead, and this President to lead, and this President to lead, and this President to lead, and the President to lead, and the President to lead, and this President to lead, and the present and no concupied himself with confusing the American spirit. The committee on resolutions had prepared a platform when endorsed the Democratic national platform and declared that "nothing but the most extreme partisanship can bilind any intelligent and conscientious critic to the fact that in the last three years and a half the Democratic congress and administration have promoted the welfare of every man, woman and child in the United States.

Nash Works Hard Booming the Jeffery

CALLS ROOSEVELT "NOISOME PESTILENTIAL PARTY SCOLD"

J. A. Bentz is firmly convinced that there isn't a man among the thousands working in the big plant of the Nash Motors Company that labors harder than C. W. Nash himself, the concern's chief executive. He's really the marvel of the automobile industry.

Just now Mr. Nash is tolling like a Trojan in an effort to bring the production of Jeffery motorcars and trucks up to somewhere near the demand. Like the men working for him, the manufacturer reports every morning at whistle time. All day he spends out in the works amid the hum and whir of machinery, and then, is seemingly fresh despite his nine hours of effort, goes to his office and puts in several more hours caring for his administrative duties. It's a rare day that he doesn't work twelve hours.

Mr. Nash is a coatless worker, too. It has to be a pretty cool day to find him with a coat on. He's been that way all his life, and that's why, perhaps, he is 'so conversant with the problems entering into every single phase of the automobile business. He's a production expert, knows shop conditions from alpha to omega, and is thoroughly informed in the intricacies of accounting, service, advertising, merchandising, office management and what not.

And it is due altogether to his intimate knowledge of such things, coupeled with his long, fruitful experience in methods of factory organization, in that enables him to keep overhead expenses down to a minimum. He's a stickler for labor andstime-saving device, too. Thus he is able to turn out Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 7.—Necessity of dry law enforcement was urged upon Iowans yesterday by Ira E. Landrith. the Prohibition vice-presidential candidate, as the special dry train moved castward through the state.

"Long, long ago," Landrith said here, "when Theodore Roosevelt was yet in office and had not become a noisome pestilential party scold, he uttered the immortal truth, The worst evil in any community is unenforced laws. Law enforcement is not a political issue. He who opposes the enforcement of law is not a politician—he is an anarchist."

New York, Oct. 7.—Henry Ford announced yesterday that his contribution to the Wilson campaign would be a country-wide eight-hour-day propaganda. This will be spread from every point where there is a Ford agency, according to tentative plans discussed. Where there is none, there will be established a special agency for disseminating the Ford literature on the benefits of the eight-hour day, as he sees them. All this will be done in co-operation with the Democratic national campaign committee.

"Out of the shops in eight hours" will be the slogan. It sprang into being in a discussion of the subject at a Biltmore Hotel luncheon when Mr. Ford was reminded of his peace expedition and its slogan, "Out of the trenches by Christmas."

At the luncheon were Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy; Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic national committee; Thomas A. Edison and Mr. Ford.

He's a but the unbost in quality at the least in price.

Being a "doer." C. W. Nash has little time to talk about himself. In fact, he's about as communicative fact, he's about as a phonograph minus records and needle points. Which explains why, when asked the other day to define his secret of succounting the
