Public Library Work to Be Branched Out
In spite of the fact that the quarantine for infantile paralysis kept children away from the Harrisburg Public Library last month the September circulation was 7,890, solely among adults and forming the largest September circulation of that class known. The October circulation started off with a considerable number of children and much demand for books by students.

The reports made to the board of trustees last night indicated that the work among the school children would be started next month and that in addition there would be the usual reports to the board for the month when the health conditions permit.

The board arranged for the annual meeting of the contributors next Monday at which six trustees will be elected. The October circulation was 7,890, solely among adults and forming the largest September circulation of that class known.

Fire-Encircled Village Is Saved by Heavy Rain
Ridgeway, Pa., Oct. 10.—A heavy rainfall, the first in many days, came to-day in the fire-ridden area of Ridgeway. The rain arrived at the spread of the forest fires, which threatened to wipe the village off the map. When the rain arrived the flames were within striking distance of the town and hope of checking the fires had been abandoned.

MAGAZINE GIVES KIPONA A BOOST

Jovian Publication Has Interesting Word to Say of Celebration Labor Day

Plans for the big "rejuvenation" or initiation ceremonies of the Jovian League of Harrisburg which is scheduled for Thursday evening in the old Board of Trade building, will be completed at a luncheon of the members of the order at noon. Following the rejuvenation ceremonies the Jovians Thursday evening will banquet at the Senate. Many of the leading electrical engineers and others professionally interested in electrical development will be invited and among those who will be invited will be George B. Tripp, vice-president of the United Gas and Electric corporation, New York city, and a former general manager of the Harrisburg Light and Power company.

Jovian activities incident to the coming rejuvenation ceremonies were given a boost in an interesting way in recent issue of the Jovian, a monthly publication of national circulation, incidentally Harrisburg and the Labor Day "Kipona" got a nation-wide bit of advertising.

The Jovian reprinted a picture of the Susquehanna basin with its floats and the queer figure of "Jove" on the local league's "booster" float. Under the heading "All Alive, and the Proof," the Jovian Magazine said:

"In corresponding with First Tribune, P. H. Bailey, of Harrisburg, relative to holding a rejuvenation party at the convention, Mercury E. C. Bennett, in some way alluded to getting a 'live bunch of members' together for the purpose. Immediately First Tribune Bailey came back with the assertion that there were no other kind of Jovians in Harrisburg but live ones. Furthermore he produced bona fide evidence to prove it. The picture herewith produced has all the earmarks of activity, and the clippings from the local press accompanying it shows that the Jovians were 'there' on the water 'like ducks,' carrying off a big end of the honors. The only physical director announced the gymnasium schedule and basketball program."

Frank Gipple a member of the Tech football team will be president for the year and the commencement exercises next Spring. Gipple was the only candidate nominated for the position.

Resist Dissolution Remedy
The suit against the Reading company, a holding corporation, the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company and others, including George F. Baer and other Reading directors was begun at Philadelphia in 1913 in the Federal District Court. Its decision was favorable in part only to the government, in deciding that the holding company's union of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company and the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company, two of the largest anthracite producers, was a combination in restraint of trade. The lower court rejected the government's charges that the Reading company itself, with its constituents, was an unlawful combination or that its carriage and production of coal constituted a violation of the "commodities clause."

On appeal the government is seeking separation of the Reading and Central of New Jersey railroad and coal interests to divorce transportation and production, restore competition between the Reading and Central New Jersey roads and redistribution of stock of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company. That the Reading interests control 194,000 acres of coal land, with two billion available tons, or 63 per cent. of the known supply, is contended by the government. In replies filed, the defendants insist on control of more than 20 per cent. and declare their profits have averaged only 13 1/2 cents a ton. They also assert that the Reading and Central New Jersey railroads are noncompetitive and resist the dissolution remedies sought by the government.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF
Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or oily sebum, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.—Advertisement.
