Seismograph Saves Eggs; Locates Shocks on Tracks. Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 12.—At the annual convention of the National Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association yesterday, Dr. C. L. Alsberg, chief chemist of the Federal Bureau of Chemistry, successor to Doctor Wiley, told the delegates that the bureau was interested in aiding the manufacturers in increasing the purity of their product. Eggs were broken wholesale in transportation to New York, he said, and a seismograph, an instrument used to record earthquake shocks, was placed in the egg car and it faithfully told where the "shocks" were sustained, and the railroads and express companies joined in eliminating the "shocks," and thus saved millions of eggs from destruction annually.

QUICK ACTION BY COUNCIL PUBLIC DUTY. [Continued From First Page] into more extensively than before. The health bureau at its meeting this afternoon considered drastic action in connection with violation of orders from the department. Every effort is being made to control the typhoid situation, it is said, but prosecutions may be necessary because of flagrant violations of orders to close places to which some of the infection has been traced.

Barber Feared Typhoid Germs Had Tackled Him. Says He Was Afraid That His Run-Down Condition Presaged Attack of Dreaded Fever—Tanlac Dispelled His Worry. "I was all run-down," says Al Morritt, the popular barber, who lives at 157 Paxton street, Harrisburg, Pa. "And it had me worried, for I was afraid that I was in for a spell of sickness and I feared that the typhoid germs had tackled me."

"I had heard about Tanlac and I wondered if it would fix me up, so I went down and had a talk with the Tanlac man, with the result that I started taking this remarkable medicine. 'It certainly did fix me up in great shape. I hadn't taken more than a few doses when I began to feel a whole lot better in every way and even dose seemed to do me more and more good."

"To-day I'm feeling tip-top. I eat more than any two men should. I sleep like a top and I can do a big day's work without getting tired out. I am no longer afraid that I am on the list for typhoid and I feel so strong now that I could give it a good fight."

Tanlac, the famous reconstructive tonic, is now being specially introduced here at Gorgas' Drug Store, where the Tanlac man is always ready to explain the merits of this master medicine.
