

EAT BIG MEALS! NO INDIGESTION OR BAD STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes weak stomachs strong and healthy at once.

Instantly stops sourness, gases, heartburn, acidity, dyspepsia.

There would not be a case of indigestion or dyspepsia here if readers who are subject to stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Pape's Diapepsin.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living?

Deaths and Funerals

JOHN B. ATTICK Funeral services for John B. Attick, aged 65, who died Saturday night will be held to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law, William Zimmerman, Rutherford.

CLINTON S. FISHER Funeral services for Clinton S. Fisher, aged 34, who died at the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, Saturday night, will be held at the home of his mother, Mrs. Amanda Fisher, 619 Kelker street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 15.—Aged 47 years, a former Harrisburg, died suddenly last night in New York City.

CHEF AT LOCAL HOSTELRY BENEFITED BY TANLAC

Encu Teth, Chef at Harris Haus Hotel Says That Tanlac Relieved Long-Standing Ailments.

If the dishes at the Harris House have a new appetizingness these days it is because Chef Teth is back in form again and is once more taking an interest in his work.

"I could not sleep on my right side; I had terrible headaches and I would often be sick with so much gas that it would press against my heart causing great distress, and I had violent vomiting spells."

"I had tried all sorts of remedies without getting the slightest respite and I was in despair. But one day while I was in Gorgas' store I happened to talk with the Tanlac man and he advised me to try Tanlac."

"To my surprise and delight it has improved my condition almost beyond belief for I feel like a new man."

"My appetite and desire for food has come back to me, my stomach seems to have been restored to its natural vigor and all signs of my old trouble have left me. I sleep soundly and restfully and wake up feeling glad that I am alive. I am as happy all day long as if I had concocted a brand new chef d'oeuvre."

Tanlac, the famous reconstructive tonic and invigorant is now being specially introduced here at Gorgas' drug store and all who suffer from stomach trouble or run-down debilitated systems should talk with the Tanlac man and learn how they may be benefited by this master medicine.

DOVITAM for TYPHOID

DOVITAM is readily assimilable and undergoes practically complete conversion in the elementary tract, leaving little or nothing for decomposition.

Ask Your Doctor 25c Forney's Drug Store SECOND ST. NEAR WALNUT

McDEVITT TAKES CHARGE OF DIOCESE OF HBG.

(Continued From First Page)

cathedral entrance through which the procession passed. Brief religious exercises opened the services at the Cathedral in which Bishop McDevitt participated.

The opening address of welcome was made by the Rev. J. C. Thompson of Steelton, acting as Chancellor. Following a tribute to the late Bishop W. Shanahan, Father Thompson called attention to the activity of the clergy of the Harrisburg diocese and said in part:

"You need have no fear as to hearty co-operation. Your labors in the past have shown your efforts successful in the upbuilding of the church in the community from which you come, and I hope your stay in Harrisburg may be a long and happy one. What we lack in numbers, we make up in spirit. In behalf of the entire community I extend to you a most cordial welcome."

David E. Tracy, who welcomed the Bishop in behalf of the laity said: "Right Reverend and Dear Bishop: I consider it indeed a great privilege to be selected as the representative of the laity of your diocese to extend to you their most hearty welcome upon this occasion."

"Consequently we ask you to accept our sincere congratulations, a most hearty welcome and our wishes and prayers that your life among us will be a long and happy one."

Strong in Spirit "While our diocese is rather widely scattered and comparatively speaking not very populous, still we hope to show you that while lacking in numbers we are strong in spirit and that you will always have our most hearty co-operation in all of our undertakings."

Under the guidance of our late departed and dearly beloved Bishop Shanahan our diocese, considering its resources, has made wonderful strides during the past fifteen years. I have no doubt that you will find in this diocese one occasion, that the spirit of his flock, under the circumstances as they existed, was indeed a great encouragement to him in his episcopate."

"As a citizen of Harrisburg, I welcome you to our city. During the past fifteen years Harrisburg has made wonderful strides along the lines of civic improvement. We offer you as a home, a city clean, healthy and beautiful, a city whose plan of public works has been adopted as a model by many communities of larger size. A city, whose people as a whole, are broad-minded and free from petty prejudices."

"We trust and pray that the Heavenly Father will grant you health and strength, as these blessings added to the administrative and constructive work now being done by you in your former office guarantee for you and for the diocese of Harrisburg a future filled with great accomplishments. We fully realize your dependence upon the prayers of the laity and in their name I pledge you our loyal support. In conclusion I again extend to you a most hearty welcome and our assurance that our prayers for a long, happy and successful episcopate."

Bishop McDevitt responded briefly, referring to the late Bishop J. W. Shanahan as a close friend, who had helped him many times. He said in part:

"When I uttered a prayer for the repose of his soul, I did not expect that I would be his successor. God in His wisdom saw fit that I should take up the responsibility and I shall try with God's help to fulfill this responsibility. Man cannot change what God has established and I am glad to be able to work in Harrisburg, for God, Church and Country."

The members of the clergy with the Knights of Columbus escorted Bishop McDevitt and the visiting clergy to Cathedral Hall in North street, where the banquet and reception was held.

The Rev. Francis J. Welsh, of Carlisle, presided at the banquet. He was followed by Monsignor M. M. Hassett, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, who spoke of "Our Diocese." He said in part: "Right Rev. Bishop McDevitt."

Non-Catholic Friends "And now let me speak a word of our non-Catholic friends within the boundaries of this diocese. Long before I had an opportunity of judging for myself, I had heard things by word of mouth and by the attitude of those outside the church towards Catholics in Central Pennsylvania. In this respect the city of Harrisburg is distinguished. You can imagine that twenty years ago, the little less than conglomeration with which I received my appointment as rector of the cathedral; it was just the last parish in the diocese that I looked for or desired. But, there was no getting out of the matter, so I came. In a little while, to my agreeable surprise, I found our citizens as a whole just the reverse of what I supposed. I found, for instance, businessmen cordial, affable, courteous and always willing to accommodate."

"I found the press of Harrisburg perfectly fair, and not only willing but anxious to give Catholic events of moment the due share of notice, and we asked no more. In time also I found what a distinguished personage called 'our citizenry' in general open-minded, ready even, though brought up in an atmosphere none too friendly, to admit our claim to a square deal. Therefore for many happy, if somewhat strenuous years I have esteemed it a privilege to be a citizen of this charming city, of which we are all so proud; and so far were my original anticipations from being realized that I do not recall a single instance when public, and private, from all in Harrisburg with whom my duties have brought me in contact. My experience, too, I may here say, coincided exactly with that of the late Bishop Shanahan. Many of you will recall the fine tribute of silent, respectful attention with which multitudes of Harrisburg citizens viewed his funeral procession; that was the spontaneous tribute of an entire city to a man whom all held in the highest esteem."

"I trust I have been able thus, briefly, to show you, right reverend bishop, that you will find in the new sphere of duty opened to you by the decision of the Holy See, which we all respect, splendid opportunities for perfecting the various works begun by your predecessors, and that the conditions under which you will work for the salvation of souls will be found to be most favorable. That the Holy Ghost, the plenitude of whose Divine gifts you received at your consecration, may bless your labors in His service, and that you may find in the scene of your future career, is my most ardent wish on this day when I gladly transfer to your shoulders 'my little brief authority' over the diocese of Harrisburg."

Other toasts were by the Rev. A. S. Crist, who spoke on "Our Diocesan Clergy"; the Rev. A. S. Brennan, whose subject was "Our Regular Clergy"; and "Our Guests," by the Rev. A. Meuwese. Bishop McDevitt made the closing address, in introducing the final speaker Father Weis, said:

"The toastmaster, the Rev. Fr. Francis J. Welsh, of Carlisle, in calling on the Rev. Bishop McDevitt to respond, addressed him in part as follows: "On February 18, the electric spark flashed the sad news across the country that Bishop Shanahan had died. Thousands of sorrowing hearts and lips were raised in fervent supplication to the Father of Mercies that his life might be spared, but the answer came back, 'The Master is here and calleth for him.' The great man of God whose perpetual endeavor was to do the will of the Master said: 'I have fought the good fight, I have kept the faith,' and passed from the sorrows of this vale of tears to the realms of unending bliss. The beacon light was dimmed, the pastoral staff lowered, the bishop of our diocese, the chief shepherd perishes. To-day the weeping and the mourning, the grief and the mourning. We have new father in Christ. I will not leave you orphans. Christ fulfilled his pledge by the grace of God and the favor of the Holy Spirit, and he has left you a man whose reputation for piety and learning has preceded his coming. A reputation that has taken flight on the wings of angels and waited its way across the billowy deep to the throne of our great White Father in Christ. As a consequence, the gentle, zealous priest of God stands in our midst invested with the plenitude of sacerdotal dignity. He has received the apostolic unction."

"On the day of our ordination this question was asked, singly and severally. 'Promittis obedientiam ac reverentiam ordinato tui et successoribus. Promittis.' (Do you promise to obey and revere the bishop and his successors, therefore, of our solemn obligation before God and man, and prompted by motives of sincere filial affection, we welcome you, right reverend bishop, with all the cordial generosity of our being. Nor can we be unmindful of the heroic personal sacrifices which you, yourself, have made when in obedience to the mandate of superhead of the church, you left your beloved Philadelphia, the paradisaical spot of Catholic life, Catholic culture and Catholic loyalty in this country to come to reside over our destinies."

"We cannot give you what you have left. Like the Prince of the Apostles we must cry out and say, 'Gold and silver we have not, but that which we have we give to you,' in unstinted largeness—our love, our service, our obedience. Our joys are many. Our sorrows few. May your days be lengthened and when your sun of life sinks into the golden West, may the blessed angels be able to say to you, 'Well done, good and faithful servant.' I call upon you, the Rt. Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, Bishop of Harrisburg."

Visiting Priests In addition to Bishop McCort of Philadelphia, Bishop Jones, of Port Rico, and a special committee, from the Harrisburg diocese, the following priests accompanied Bishop McDevitt from Philadelphia and were guests at the banquet this afternoon.

Mr. James P. Sinnott, Mr. Nevine F. Fisher, Mr. M. J. Crane, Mr. Eugene J. Murphy, Mr. Peter F. Masson and Mr. Francis J. McGovern; the Very Rev. E. J. Fitzmaurice, D. D., chancellor of the archdiocese; the Rev. Francis J. Clark, rector of the Cathedral; the Rev. M. J. McCabe, the Rev. John J. Wheeler, the Rev. M. C. Donovan, the Rev. William J. Casey, the Rev. T. J. Hurton, the Rev. Michael A. Bennett, the Rev. Robert J. Thompson, the Rev. W. T. Brady, the Rev.

BISHOP McDEVITT ON WAY TO CATHEDRAL FOR INSTALLATION

Bishop McDevitt, center, is escorted by the clergy to the cathedral for his installation. The Rev. J. C. Thompson, acting as Chancellor, is on the left. The Rev. Francis J. Welsh, of Carlisle, is on the right. The Rev. J. W. Shanahan, former bishop, is also present.

John P. O'Neill, the Rev. J. P. Fahey, O. S. A.; the Rev. Francis L. Carr, the Rev. P. F. Pozary, the Rev. James F. Parker, the Rev. J. J. McCarthy, the Rev. John M. Crosson, the Rev. Francis J. Flood, the Rev. Charles A. McDonald, the Rev. John J. Walsh, the Rev. James J. Dalton, the Rev. J. A. McDonald, the Rev. W. J. McCaffrey, the Rev. F. J. Rafferty, the Rev. John W. Keogh, the Rev. M. J. Rafferty, the Rev. John M. Beierschmidt, C. S. S. R.; the Rev. John J. Moran, the Rev. John E. Flood, the Rev. Francis P. Coyle, the Rev. Francis X. West, the Rev. D. C. Mumford, the Rev. F. J. Sheehan, the Rev. William P. McNally and the Rev. James R. McCloskey, the Rev. P. J. Dalley, the Rev. James C. McLaughlin, the Rev. E. G. Dohan, O. S. A.; the Rev. Francis A. Quinn, the Rev. Lambert Travis, the Rev. W. J. Lalou, the Rev. Francis Auth, C. S. S. R.; the Rev. J. T. Higgins, the Rev. W. Gough, the Rev. James Nash, the Rev. E. J. Fitzpatrick, the Rev. John E. Cavanaugh, the Rev. B. F. Gallagher, the Rev. R. F. Hanagan, the Rev. George Michel, the Rev. James J. Duffy, the Rev. John J. Greenhill, the Rev. John A. Nugent, O. S. A.; the Rev. Joseph P. Hannigan, the Rev. Sylvester P. Manning, the Rev. John Hasson, O. S. A.; the Rev. John J. Graham and the Rev. Joseph M. O'Hara, of the Cathedral.

On Friday night at 8 o'clock the Knights of Columbus will hold a public reception in honor of the Bishop at Cathedral Hall. This will be the first opportunity for the public to meet the new Bishop. An interesting musical program is being prepared.

The question of a sewage disposal plant for Harrisburg was first put up to the city authorities in July, 1911, when State Health Commissioner Dixon's decree on the interceptor problem directed that the city sewage should be diverted from the river and disposed of at a suitable plant by January 1, 1915.

Construction of the interceptor and the connecting up of the outfalls to the interceptor solved the problem to a large extent and the city asked for an extension of time on the disposal plant question. City Engineer Cowden at that time stated that because of the prospective growth of the city and the condition of the sewer system, it was almost impossible to prepare suitable plans for a plant at the time. The city, incidentally, was not in financial shape to build a plant, it was pointed out, as the cost would be more than half a million.

In March, 1915, Mayor John K. Royal was notified by Dr. Dixon that the time limit for emptying sewage into the river had expired and that the city had made no application for an extension of time. The problem was again referred to City Engineer M. E. Cowden and to City Solicitor D. S. State health officials and upon suggestion City Solicitor Seitz endeavored to arrange a conference between Dr. Dixon, his engineers and the city officials.

The last request for a conference was sent to Dr. Dixon June 17, 1915. City Engineer Cowden, chief engineer, stated at the time that Dr. Dixon was about to leave the city on important business for the State and that the question would be taken up with him on his return.

Harrisburg never heard anything further on the subject until Council received the preliminary order Saturday. At the State Health Department it was said that unless the city acted definitely at once, the State Health Commissioner's attention would be called to the matter.

Wholesale Shoe Prices Rise; Shortage in Leather

Pittsburgh, Oct. 16.—Wholesale prices on men's and women's footwear were advanced 50 to 75 cents within the last seventy-two hours, and certain lines have been withdrawn entirely from the market, owing to a big shortage in leather, according to an announcement here by officers of the newly formed Pennsylvania Shoe Traders' Association.

Letters from firms manufacturing shoes announce an advance of 57 to 60 cents a pair on upper stock and 8 to 10 cents a pound on sole leather. Two lines of shoes were advanced 75 cents a pair in two days.

Extending Offensive The Teutonic offensive in the east being extended northward from Transylvania into the Carpathians has broken out with marked intensity south of Dorna Watra, where the Russians are operating. Petrograd to-day reports that the center power, has assumed the offensive there "with great force."

Further north in the Carpathian region the Rumanians have met the Teutonic attacks near Kormoze and Kirilbaba and report having taken nearly 1,200 prisoners. The Galician battle is still raging with intensity southeast and east of Lemberg, but without any parent notable advantage to either side.

Rumania's Hope of Halting Invasion Dies Out With Failure of Counter Drive

London, Oct. 16.—The widely-hailed Rumanian counter-offensive in Transylvania has died out, and many sectors where success seemed to be within the grasp of King Ferdinand's troops. Only along the southern frontier did the Rumanian counter-offensive stand holding Von Falkenhayn's forces at arm's length from Rumanian soil. Elsewhere the Rumanians' hope of preventing the eventual invasion of their country flickered only for a moment and then was snuffed out by the fury of the enemy's attack.

The day's fighting saw the abandonment of the Rumanian counter-offensive part of the territory in eastern and northern Transylvania which they had clung to in the face of terrific assaults. From the Kelenmen Mountain region near the Bukovina border they retreated to the frontier. In the East their lines were denuded in as far as the Glynnes Pass, on the frontier through which runs the Trotus River and a railroad to Kronstadt. On both sides of the Szurdok Pass, southeast of Kronstadt, Rumanian columns were rolled back and a dominating ridge seized. Friday's fighting was swiftness swallowed up in the Teuton wave.

Russians Stiffen Line Along the southern frontier and to the north of the Carpathians the Rumanians have been able to retain part of the territory conquered in the first great rush across the border, Russian reinforcements have stiffened the Rumanian lines and averted for the moment the peril of invasion. In the Polistoca Valley the momentum of yesterday's smashing drive carried King Ferdinand's troops forward until the enemy was cleared out of this sector.

Standing with their backs to the wall in the Vulcan, Red Tower and the Vulcano, the Rumanians have been able to retain part of the territory on the southern Transylvania front, the Rumanians fought with a desperation that beat back all the enemy's attempts.

In the Polistoca Valley, the scene of yesterday's most notable success for Rumanian arms—two important summits—Negri and Zancza—were wrested from the grasp of the Austrians. South of Hatzev the same region, Vienna reports that the Teutons have maintained the entire frontier ridge.

Central Powers Are Not Prepared For Peace on Entente's Terms, Vienna Says

Vienna, Oct. 15.—With a keen longings, there has come persistent speculation in the Central States as to the manner in which this blessing may be obtained. But all thought on the subject remains what it has been for nearly two years—the substance of the individual's own wishes. Political and military circles to-day are as far from seeing a definite plan for the cessation of the conflict as they were when the war first overwhelmed Europe.

In Berlin and Vienna they continue setting their teeth when the word peace is mentioned, but the substance is wanted, but because up to this moment the entente governments have shown no inclination to entertain a meeting on this ground.

In the Central States that a peace with honor, and possibly with profit, could not be procured, owing to military and economic weakness, then and before the war, the entente has shown that it can ultimately realize its own hopes in the universal view held in Austria-Hungary, Germany and their allied countries.

Russians Leap From Their Trenches and Fight Bayonets Along Stokhod

London, Oct. 16.—The battle on the Stokhod River, in Volhynia, has broken out anew. The Russians leaped from the trenches to the attack yesterday morning and before darkness came the fighting had assumed the ferocity that characterized the days of early summer.

Brussels had prepared for his moment in his usual methodical manner. For nearly forty-eight hours preceding the infantry charge the heaviest guns that could be mustered were used to bombard the German and enemy's entrenchments. Along the five-mile front from Kerytznia north along the winding marsh-flanked Stokhod, hardly a foot of the German and Austrian trenches escaped immersion in the flood of metal hurled from the Russian artillery.

Terrific Bombardment The night saw no let up in the terrific bombardment. The guns had obtained the range and the shells burst in great flares from sunset to dawn, the vivid flashes momentarily lighting up the whole countryside and conveying the gunners some idea of the devastation they were causing the enemy's works.

It was not until dawn that the Russian troops waiting in long, deep rows behind their breastworks ready to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of man. Towering heaps of earth and rock thrown up by exploding shells at irregular intervals over the stretch of ground between the hostile lines give the appearance of peaceful fields. The Russian troops were waiting for the word to spring forward at the word of command, were able to obtain any accurate idea of the destructive effects of the all-night bombardment. The gunners had done their part well—almost too well. Dead Man's Land spread out before their eyes furrowed its length and breadth with yawning ditches and craters, a few of them so regular as to suggest the handiwork of