makes plain its attitude regarding ap sponsibility under compensation law by entering a defense that the claim-ant at the time of his injury was en-saged in interstate commerce and that statie legislation has no jurisdiction, then these suggestions become matters of defense and must be substantiated by positive testimony. The defendant under such circumstances must meet the same burden of proof as is de-manded of a claimant in the presenta-tion of his claim. In this case it is admitted that the injury was sustained by the deceased while engaged in the course of his employment for the de-fendant within the State of Pennsyl-vania. It is also perfectly evident that there would be no question about the claimant's right to compensation were it not for the suggestion that both he and the defendant at the time of the injury were engaged in interstate com-nearce. The defendant having made this suggestion as a defense and not having established the same, it must fall." Denounce Baker's Attack on Continental Army

 On Continental Army
"Washington's continental soldiers were like the Mexican revolutionists of to-day. They stole everything they could lay their hands on and drove ministers from their churches on their march to Valley Forge. They were just as bad characters as the Mexi-cans."—Abstract from speech Newton D. Baker. Secretary of War, is reported to have made in Jersey City on Mon-day night.
"Secretary Baker's statement is not based on fact. Such claptrap is not worth the dignity of a detailed reply from anyone in Philadelphia."—Dr. John Bach McMaster, head of depart-ment of history, University of Pennsyl-vania.

Pullman Company it is not only possible to secure in advance accommodations in a car never crowded beyond its normal capacity, but it is possible to enjoy, while traveling, comforts and conveniences usually associated only with the most modern hotels in larger cities.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

By building its own cars the Pullman Company has been able to test every innovation which might add to the convenience of its passengers. Constant ventilation, comfortable temperature, electric lights, electric fans, modern plumbing and other distinctive features of the Pullman car have been provided in spite of the difficulties arising from the natural limitations of car construction, and the fact that these conveniences must at all times be available while the car is moving from place to place.

A brief comparison of the early Pullman car, with its oil lamps, coal stove and almost entire lack of conveniences, with the modern steel-armored sleeping or parlor car, sanitary, electrically lighted, automatically ventilated, steamheated and supplied with every comfort and convenience that ingenuity can devise, testifies to the progress which has been made by the Pullman Company in fifty years of continuous service to the traveling public.

Reported Arming of All British Merchantmen Liable to Endanger U. S. Relations to Lndanger U. S. Kelations Berlin, Oct. 17, via London, Oct. 19. —(Delayed)—The Kriegs Zeitung, the evening edition of the Lokal Anzeiger, publishes a report that the British have ordered the arming of all mer-chantmen and says that as a result Germany may be forced to take up a sharper submarine campaign with consequent endangerment of German-American relations. It continues: "If it is true that England actually intends to arm all its merchantmen with heavy and therefore far-carrying guns and thus label them plainly as warships intended for attacks, it can-not be avoided that whether we wish to or not, we must give a sharper ten-dency to our submarine campaign."
