Bell Telephone Book For Fall Out Today

The Fall issue of the Telephone Directory is being delivered to-day under the direction of S. B. Watts, local manager, the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. The new directory contains 120 pages, 50 of which are taken up with the listings of the Harrisburg subscribers. This directory has been printed by the Telegraph Printing Company in twelve days by 24 employees working eight hours a day. It required two linotype machines working eight hours a day for twelve days to produce the copy for this directory, and $2,400 sheets of paper were used in its preparation.

If these sheets were to be placed end to end in a direct line they would extend a distance of 54 miles or from Harrisburg to Reading, Harrisburg to Sunbury or Harrisburg to Chambersburg; if they were made into a blanket it would cover the city playgrounds and nursery on the island. The directories are being delivered by the Harrisburg Telegraph, using 56 newsboys who will complete Harrisburg in approximately one day.

NEW BUILDING FOR SUNDAY COURIER

Harry and Leon Lowengard Complete Purchase of North Third Street Site Today

NEW LOWENGARD BUILDING

Harry and Leon Lowengard to-day completed the purchase of the old Mumma property at 120 North Third street, from Dr. D. S. Funk, for a consideration not made public. They have had plans made by architect Frank G. Fainstock, Jr., of this city for the erection on the site of the present structure of a handsome four-story building, which will be the home of The Sunday Courier and of the Patriot Job Printing Company, of which the Lowengards are proprietors. It will be four stories with foundations for five. The front will be of white tile, light stone and brick and will be modeled along the modern office and business lines. The first floor will be given over largely to a large store room and entrance, the second to the offices of the Courier and several suites of offices for rent. The third and fourth floors will contain the mechanical plant, with offices at the front and the press room will be in the basement. Contract will be let for it in a few weeks. It will be known as the Lowengard Building.

The deal, which is another step toward the transformation of what was at one time an exclusively residential section of North Third street, was made through the Brinton-Packer Company. The Lowengards have owned The Courier business for a number of years. They are sons of the late Joseph Lowengard, who was in business in Market street for forty years and are well known.

Blocking of Locust Street Brings Sharp Rebuke

Notwithstanding the daily complaint of the conditions on Locust street in front of the Federal building, the contractor is permitted to continue in his own sweet way to occupy about two-thirds of the street and the whole of the sidewalk on the southern side. It would seem to be high time that there should be a building code for Harrisburg that will limit the obstruction. There is no busier section of any highway than that obstructed by the materials and machinery of the contractor on the Federal building. This street has been blocked for two or three years and a number of accidents have been narrowly averted by reason of unnecessary conditions. Local contractors have commented frequently upon the latitude given to the firm which is doing the remodeling of the Federal building. It was bad enough to close the sidewalk without obstructing most of the street.

TRANSFER DIOCESAN PROPERTY TO BISHOP McDEVITT RECORDED

Chief among the really transactions recorded to-day was the formal transfer of the diocesan properties of the Harrisburg Catholic Diocese at 114 and 110 State street and the new parochial school property in Hershey from the Rt. Rev. M. M. Hassett, diocesan administrator since the death of Bishop John W. Shanahan, to the Rt. Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, the new bishop of the diocese. The consideration mentioned was the nominal fee of $1. Other transfers in which $1 was the consideration were Mary E. Pennel to Fred G. Miller, 1536 North Sixth street, and Charles G. Gilmer to Lewis Foster. Other transfers recorded included:

Abraham F. Lantz to William and James Meckley, Jackson township, $140; Frank P. Goodman to Simon Cooper, Susquehanna township, $240; David Krepps administrator to Charles E. Keim, Lower Paxton, $226; Samuel Page to George Hoover, Lower Paxton, $310.

WORRY IS A DISEASE

The disorder which causes its victims to worry whether they have anything to worry about or not is neurasthenia. Neurasthenia is entirely distinct from hysteria although the patient may have both diseases at the same time.

Neurasthenia often results from some nervous shock, such as the loss of a near relative, business reverses, or some severe overstrain on the nervous system. The patient is usually pale, showing that the blood is thin, and the first thing to do is to build up the blood because anything that builds up the general health helps to correct the neurasthenic condition. Rest and a good tonic is the very best treatment in most cases.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for this condition because they are non-alcoholic and neurasthenic patients should avoid alcoholic stimulants. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., has published a little book on nervous disorders that contains a chapter on neurasthenia, in which the symptoms are fully described and the correct treatment given. The booklet is free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by your own druggist or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

SUCCESS CROWNS MUSICAL PROGRAM

Children's Festival Attracts Large and Appreciative Audience at Orpheum Theater

Success crowned last night's efforts of all interested in the children's patriotic and musical festival at the Orpheum Theater. Miss Ivy May Rahter Cook was in charge of the entertainment, the proceeds of which go to the relief fund of the Harrisburg Division of the Woman's National Preparedness Society. The theater was well filled and each number scored a distinct success. Those who occupied the boxes included:

Box Parties Mrs. William E. Bailey, Mrs. Robert Lambertson, Mayor Ezra S. Meals and Mrs. E. Z. Wallower held the lower boxes. In the second tier the boxes were taken by Mrs. Marlin E. Olmsted, Captain Henry M. Stine, Major Frederick Ott and Mrs. John Y. Boyd. Mrs. Boyd turned over the box to the visiting nurses, who have been indefatigable in meeting the numerous demands made upon them during the epidemic of typhoid.

Solos and Choruses "Your Flag and My Flag," which included recitations and singing, won much praise, and Jean Moses, leading the "Glow Worm" chorus, scored a big hit, as did those assisting her. Other interesting features included: "Dainty Dance," by six girls and six boys; song, "Cry Baby in the Moon," Madeline McKee and children's chorus; butterfly dance, Clara Pearl Snelldman; violin solo, Lillian Miller; duet, "Gardens of Roses," Dorothy Rankin, Vivian Showers and chorus; vocal solo, "Last Rose of Summer," Katharine Anna Dubay; recitation and song, "Christian Flags," Sara Hamer and twenty-four girls; song, "The Goose Girl," by double quartet and children's chorus; song, "Down to Asbury Park," Clara Pearl Snelldman; song, "Pennsylvania," double quartet and children's chorus; piano solo, Salut A Perth; closing chorus, "Banner of Liberty," followed by the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Miss Mary Nies, of 1926 Boas street, entertained a number of friends at a Halloween masque Monday evening.

Mrs. Paul Kunkel, of 1607 North Second street, spent yesterday in Middletown as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Arthur King.

How Do You Pay The Merchants With Whom You Deal?

The Business Men of Harrisburg Are Establishing a Bureau of Credit Information

The object of this bureau is to give the merchants information as to how every one in Harrisburg and vicinity pay their bills. This information is used as a basis for granting credit. A credit guide will be published containing the complete ledger experience the merchants have had with you. In the office a card index file will be maintained where your credit record will be changed daily according to whether you become more prompt or slower in your paying habits. A man will have charge of the central office to give the merchant any kind of information he desires instantly over the phone. So if you owe any past due accounts, pay up and arrange with the merchant to give you as good a rating as possible.
