MONKEY MARVEL ON TYPE MACHINE

Union Printers Face Stiff Competition From This Open Shop Chimpanzee

Linotype operators employed in printing establishments will have to face competition that will work fourteen hours a day, know no union rules and live on coconuts, seaweed and chocolate candy. Authority for this statement is the Honolulu correspondent of the Typographical Journal, the official magazine of the International Typographical Union of North America. In the August number of that magazine is published an article and a picture of a chimpanzee linotype operator at work on the Star-Bulletin, of Honolulu.

"Biz Fox, one of the few chimpanzee linotype operators in the world, is an expert operator of a Mergenthaler, having set 101,000 ems solid breviter in eight hours and forty-five minutes, mostly reprint from typewritten copy," the article says. "Biz has been at work for nineteen months and shows signs of becoming swift in time."

"Biz was born in Ashama, Africa, nineteen years ago. He possesses great strength and changes the magazines of a No. 1 linotype unassisted. Another feat of his was carrying eight cases of job type balanced on his head. He also carried a Gordon jobber three blocks and a half. He climbs up the front of the distributor, placing one foot on the sort tray and locking the shifter with his hand. He then ascends over the magazine and starts the distributing mechanism in record time."

"Biz is a bicycle rider, having won a race around the Island of Oahu (ninety odd miles) in seven and a half hours, finishing on flat tires. He has had several runs with traffic policemen, who testified that he made as high as twenty miles an hour, which is some speed on Honolulu's streets."

"There is a company being formed to raise chimpanzees on the Island of Kahoolawe. The object of the company is to supply chimpanzee operators to the mainland. One of the drawbacks to be overcome is that the chimpanzees have taken to the drink habit. However, it is proposed to cross the chimpanzees with the white-faced monkeys of China and make them temperance advocates."

BULL FIGHTING IS WIPED OUT

Carranza Decrees Halt on Custom as Cruel and Opposed to Culture

Mexico City, Oct. 27. — General Carranza has signed a decree prohibiting bull fighting throughout Mexico. The decree is the outcome of a campaign waged by the newspaper El Universal, which attracted wide attention throughout the republic.

In the decree General Carranza says that the Government is under obligations to stamp out customs which are opposed to culture and to aid civilization by elevating the moral level of the citizen.

Bull fighting is denounced as needlessly endangering the lives of men, torturing beasts, provoking sanguinary sentiments and disgracing the country. The First Chief adds that bull fighting causes misery to the poor who, for a moment's enjoyment, go without the necessities of life.

The penalty for infringement of the decree is a fine of $1,000 to $5,000, imprisonment of two to six months, or both.

Another decree provides the death penalty for train robbery, highway robbery, cutting telephone or telegraph wires or any robbery by violence. Failure to report robberies; failure of the authorities to use their efforts to arrest, failure to prosecute or failure to give testimony will be punished by imprisonment for from one to five years.

The penalty for robbery without violence is set at five to ten years. Persons aiding the escape of robbers will be subject to the same penalty.

SEATTLE GARAGE RUN ON SELF-SERVICE PLAN

The self-service idea has invaded the realm of the garage. Just as one can enter certain restaurants or groceries and help himself and be charged for what he gets, so now a car owner can take his automobile into one of the separate compartments provided in a Seattle garage, procure tools at the garage office, and do his own repairing. When he has finished, he returns the tools to the office and is charged according to the time he has occupied the room and for the tools he has used. These private repair spaces can be locked so that one can safely leave his work and return and finish it later. If a helper is desired, one can be procured at a specified rate.—From the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Fed His Stepchildren; Balked at Their Wives

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27.—Fredrick R. Andrews, an engineer for the American Steel & Wire Company, testified that it was the seven children

Andrews said he did not mind supporting the seven children, but when one of them married and brought his wife to live at his home he drew the line. He admitted an occasional drink and game of shuffleboard.

MOTORCYCLE AMBULANCE CARRIES TWO STRETCHERS

Two wounded soldiers can be carried at high speed by a new motorcycle ambulance that has recently been developed by an eastern manufacturer. The apparatus is of the double-decked type with regulation stretchers held one above the other in a steel frame on the sidcar chassis.

The tread of the machine is adjustable and thus may be regulated to suit different road conditions. Attached to the chassis below the lower stretcher is a small cabinet in which first-aid supplies are stored. The stretchers can be fitted in place or removed quickly without disturbing their occupants.—From the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

CROUP

Simple Home Remedy That is Now Being Used With Excellent Results

Mrs. Peter Brown, of Troy, N. Y., thinks that her little girl's life was saved by an old-fashioned home remedy which was made over 50 years ago from a famous physician's prescription which has been handed down through several generations from mother to daughter.

The child had membranous croup and this old-fashioned remedy, which is known by the name of WONDEROL, broke the membrane. She wants other mothers to know about it, and adds, "for it is true."

Hundreds of other reports have come in from grateful parents in different parts of the country telling how WONDEROL, quickly and permanently banished croup and similar complaints. WONDEROL can now be had in Harrisburg at George A. Gorgas, or any other good druggist, and is most highly recommended for croup, coughs, colds, catarrh and similar complaints. It doesn't cost much and should be on every family medicine shelf.—Advertisement.
