

EAT IT! ENJOY IT! NO INDIGESTION OR BAD STOMACH

Never any sour, gassy or acid stomach, heartburn or dyspepsia.

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes weak stomachs strong and healthy at once.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion, acidity or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea, indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), biliousness, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

PENN STATE SWEEPS COUNTRY IN BUTTER JUDGING CONTEST

State College, Pa., Oct. 30.—Highest honors in the butter judging contest at the National Dairy Show have been won by students of the Pennsylvania State College. The three-man team which represented Penn State returned to-day from Springfield, Mass., bringing more than $300 in prize money. In addition to winning the team prize from eight of the foremost agricultural schools in the country, the State College students were rated first, second and third in individual scores. State led the field by more than 200 points over South Dakota, its nearest competitor. The team was composed of Silas Page, of Pottsville; Elmer Saylor, of Spring City, and Birch Ober, of Enterprise, Pa. I. J. Bibby, instructor in dairy husbandry at State College, coached the winning team.

PAIN, PAIN, PAIN, STOP NEURALGIA

Rub nerve torture, pain and misery right out with "St. Jacobs Oil."

You are to be pitted—but remember that neuralgia torture and pain is the easiest thing in the world to stop. Please don't continue to suffer; it's so needless. Get from your druggist the small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil;" pour a little in your hand and gently rub the "tender nerve" or sore spot, and instantly—yes, immediately—all pain, ache and soreness is gone. "St. Jacobs Oil" conquers pain—it is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin. Nothing else gives relief so quickly. It never fails to stop neuralgia pain instantly, whether in the face, head or any part of the body. Don't suffer!

URGE PASSAGE OF LOAN FROM PULPIT

said he. "This is what a city owes its citizens. This is what the city of Harrisburg is trying to do. This is the real interpretation of the $1,250,000 loan which the citizens of this municipality will be asked to sanction Tuesday, November 7. Will they do it? May the Good God help. How dare they do less than vote 'yes.' While the sermon dealt particularly with the high school loan issue, it was particularly applicable at this time in view of the other grave problems that the citizens of the city, State and nation, will be called upon to solve at the polls on election day. His reference to the high school question, however, was especially interesting.

Dr. Smucker said in part: "What are the city's duties to its citizens? A city is not loath to tell its citizens what their duties are to it, but here is this other pressing question, what ought a city to be, and how ought a city to do, so as to make people born in it glad of their birthplace? To-day I call the growing municipality of Harrisburg to draw its breath deep and say, 'I am fit to have people live in me.'

"What has a citizen the right to expect of his city? Well, he has the right to expect of his city that it shall be clean; that its streets shall be wide enough to give room for the earth and sky; that there shall be city cleaners enough to keep the streets decent; that taxes enough shall be raised and applied to make highways, highways, not lowways. The cleaning of city streets is really a great philanthropy.

"Every city owes it to its citizens that it have plenty of lung room. I have been in many cities and Harrisburg, I believe to be one of the best equipped cities, for its size, in the matter of parks, large and small, there is in this great country. Now, I don't know who is responsible for that statesmanlike procedure, but whoever he is, blessings on him forever. "Now, the city owes to its citizens to give them intelligence. To make things, in my humble opinion, that is not the thing. The falling over ourselves to teach every child some craft is losing the essence of citizenship. We are not trying to breed carpenters in America, though carpenters are very good; we are not trying to make preachers nor shippers nor iron-mongers in America, though those are very good; but the public schools of America and the public schools of the world are to give intelligence. That is it, intelligence. Not how to make a living but how to be a man. A man has no need and is not bound to teach a child a trade, but it is bound to teach intelligence so that when they are at the trade they can be men. Intelligence, a city owes that to its citizens. Now, the city must look to that if it is good.

"This city has a great school industry and I assume it will grow better year by year. Its business is to do so. A city which doesn't furnish the very best possible educational opportunities ought to be ashamed that children are ever born in it.

"Does a city feel it is obligated to furnish clean streets, and does a city feel it is obligated to give fine privileges? And is a city's business done at this juncture? Not by any means. We are not yet got into the roots of the soul. We are not yet come into the highways of life. The city owes larger matter than any of these. Why? Because if a man were an animal and you gave him a playground and gave him a clean place and plenty of food, if he were an animal and you gave him such privileges as those, he would have enough. But man chances to be an animal, plus. Therefore, a city ought to feel it is obligated to give the very best possible educational opportunities to its citizens. This is what a city owes its citizens. This is what the city of Harrisburg is trying to do. This is the real interpretation of the $1,250,000 loan the citizens of this municipality will be asked to sanction Tuesday, November 7. Will they do it? May the Good God help. How dare they do less than vote 'yes.' "What I long for for the city of Harrisburg, what I long for for every city of my beloved land, is that it should learn that the responsibility of a city to its citizens cannot be stated in terms graphic enough, but that a city that fails to give moral might and give moral atmosphere for breathing and moral bread for food, and moral drink for the parched lip and throat, has failed absolutely in its obligations. And, therefore, city people may well hazard themselves in the matter of making for municipal cleanliness and strictness of sobriety, and high educational opportunities, clearing away of all harmfulness as by the besom of destruction."

Distribution of the 20,000 or more pamphlets explaining the city's needs on the high school question, was begun to-day. Each voter will get a copy. In the booklet the whole question is fully threshed out the letter of the citizens' committee to the school board, the recommendations of President A. C. Starn, the school board city superintendent and Dr. James H. Van Syckle's report who made a survey of the situation at the direction of the school authorities. The necessity for building improved structures on a much larger scale is also discussed. It is pointed out that the sanitary and fire needs nowadays require a building costing at least $350 per pupil.

STATE COLLEGE POLITICS CONTROLLED BY ONE BOSS State College, Pa., Oct. 30.—Two political parties working tooth and nail to elect their candidates, and one boss dominating both factions, is the unusual situation at the Pennsylvania State College. Students in the course of political science have divided into Hughes and Wilson supporters and both organizations are combing the college community for votes. Dr. George F. Zook, associate professor of history, holds the election result in the hollow of his hand, for he is the instructor of the class. Equal suffrage has been extended to the women students for the first time, and they will exercise their ballot privilege at the
