

IN the 8-cylinder Cadillac cam-shaft system, each cam does double duty. It serves two valves, first on one side then on the other. On the entire Cadillac cam-shaft are only eight cams, supported by five large bearings. Between any two bearings there are only two cams, which assures absence of vibration and perfect alignment. Any six-cylinder car has at least 12 cams, and there are 12-cylinder cars with as many as 24 cams, and yet for these 24 cams they have only 3 bearings, 3 cams between bearings. The absolute simplicity of the Cadillac 8-cam 5-bearing system guarantees absolute reliability.

SHOW UNDERWOOD TARIFF IS FAILURE

Analysis Proves That It Has Given Neither Protection Nor Sufficient Revenue

Washington, D. C.—An analysis of the reasons for the failure of the Underwood tariff law, made by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, prior to the close of Congress, has just appeared in the Congressional Record. Included in the analysis are tables showing the trade of the United States before the European war and during the European war, monthly statements of the treasury and the revenue and expenditures of the Federal Government under Democratic and Republican administrations.

Senator Penrose shows the failure of the Underwood law, not merely from the standpoint of protection, but as a revenue producer. The most important part of his analysis deals with the first thirty months of the operation of the Underwood law, from July, 1914, to April, 1915, imports amounted to $1,205,000,000.

"During the first nine months of the Underwood tariff under peace conditions October, 1913 to July, 1914, imports for consumption amounted to $1,466,000,000, as compared with $1,277,000,000 of imports during the last nine months of the Payne-Aldrich tariff."

"For the second nine months period under European war conditions, April, 1915, to January 1, 1916, imports for consumption amounted to $1,277,000,000."

"For the third nine months period of European war conditions the official figures are available only for the seventh war quarter (from January to March, 1916) when imports for consumption amounted to $586,000,000. This quarter (January to March, 1916) establishes a record for the highest number of imports in any one quarter volume of imports coming into the United States, as compared with any previous quarter, in the history of the United States. And under European war conditions at that."

"For the first thirty months of the Underwood tariff (from October 4, 1913, to March, 1916) imports for consumption amounted to $4,935,542,428, as compared with $4,209,711,297 of imports for the last thirty months of the Payne-Aldrich tariff (from April 1, 1911, to October 3, 1914)."

"The monthly average of imports during the first thirty months of the Underwood tariff was $154,540,000, as compared with a monthly average of $140,324,000 of imports during the last thirty months of the Payne-Aldrich tariff. In other words there has been an average monthly increase of $14,226,000 of imports since the passage of the Underwood tariff, thirty months ago."

Decrease of Revenues

"Revenue collected from imports during the first thirty months of the Underwood tariff amounted to $553,244,785, as compared with $777,981,365 of revenue collected during the last thirty months of the Payne-Aldrich tariff."

"Figures of imports, revenues and rates of duty are given showing that the trouble with the Democratic tariff from a revenue standpoint is on account of the low rates of duty, as at no time during the high records of imports under that tariff has the revenue collected been anywhere near equal to the revenue collected by the protective rates of the Payne-Aldrich tariff during the low record of imports under that tariff."

MIDVALE STEEL INVESTS $4,000,000 IN COAL LANDS

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—At an outlay of $4,000,000 the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company yesterday took over the entire holdings of the Union Coal and Coke Company, whose mines, located near Marianna, Pa., cover an area of 5,200 acres of the finest coking coal.

The purpose of the deal is to provide full fuel requirements in the future and the output of the coal company will be used strictly by the Midvale company.

$150,000 IN WEDDING GIFTS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 2.—While four detectives guarded more than $100,000 worth of presents, Miss Clara A. Busch, daughter of A. A. Busch, millionaire brewer, became the bride of Percy James O'Connell, of the O'Connell Farm, the Busch country estate, on Nov. 1, at a wedding which cost more than $150,000 and the wedding gifts aggregated a total of about $150,000. A $75,000 home was the present of Miss Busch's father. Her wedding gown cost $3,700.

CAR SHORTAGE CUTS SHIPMENTS

Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 2.—Slightly improved labor conditions during the week brought about an increase in coke production of 32,000 tons to a total of 430,000 tons. Car shortage cut down shipments to 418,000 tons, with demand far in excess of that amount. Coal shipments dropped 7,000 tons to 292,000 tons.

APPARATUS DAMAGED

While responding to a false alarm, last night the steering gear of the police ambulance and the brake rigging of the Camp Curtin chemical apparatus were both damaged. The alarm was sent in from box 31, located at Third and Reilly streets.

DANDRUFFY HEADS BECOME HAIRLESS

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

The Only Girl Who Commanded a Nation's Armies

A simple little girl of sixteen played one day in a little lost village. The next year, in supreme command of all the troops of France, she led them in triumph to victory.

Great dukes bowed before this girl who could not read. Sinful men, men who had cursed and drunk and murdered all their days, followed her meekly.

It is the most dramatic, the most amazing story in the whole story of human life. In the dim far-off past, Joan of Arc went, her shining way in France—and her story was never told as it should have been till it was told by an American—

MARK TWAIN

25 Volumes

Novels, Stories, Humor, Essays, Travel, History

To us whose chuckles had turned to tears of pathos at "Huckleberry Finn"—to us who felt the cutting edge of a "Connecticut Yankee"—to us who saw the keen vision in "Innocents Abroad"—the coming of "Joan of Arc" from the pen of Mark Twain was no surprise. Read "Joan of Arc" if you would read the most sublime thing that has come from the pen of any American. Read "Joan of Arc" if you would know Mark Twain in all his greatness. It is not a history, in the true sense, and yet it is as accurate as any history. It is a story told by one of Joan of Arc's followers. You will feel all through as though it were your grandfather talking to you in a kindly, simple way.

"Joan of Arc" came out first as an anonymous romance in Harper's Magazine. But the secret was soon out. The great men of the world said: "Who could have written it but Mark Twain?" Who else could have written this—one of the most spiritual, one of the most lofty books that ever came from the pen of man? It has almost the simplicity, the loftiness of the Bible—it has a whimsical touch which makes it human. So that Mark Twain's Joan of Arc is no cold statue in a church—no bronze on a pedestal, but a warm, human, loving girl. Our hearts break for her awful fate.

Why This Half-Price Sale Must Stop

Mark Twain wanted everyone in America to own a set of his books. So one of the last things he asked us was that we make a set at so low a price that everyone might own it. He said: "Don't make editions to sell for $200 or $300 or $1,000. Make good books, books good to look at and easy to read, and make their price low." So we have made this set. And until now we were able to sell it at this low price. But a thing has happened that Mark Twain could not foresee. Before the war we had a contract price for paper, so we could sell the set of Mark Twain at this present price. But now, the cost of paper has gone up. It has almost doubled in price. Even the cost of ink has gone up. So it is impossible to make any more sets and to sell them at this low price.

Send Coupon—No Money

The last of the edition is in sight. There will never again be a set of Mark Twain at the present price. This is the first announcement of the close of this sale. Take advantage of it while you can. Remember that it is because Mark Twain sacrificed some of his royalties that you can have a set at this price at all. Take advantage of that kindness that was so characteristic of him. Get your set before these go. Remember, never again will a set of Mark Twain be offered at such a price as this. When the edition is gone there will be no more. Send the coupon at once. Send it today.

The Great American

Born poor—growing up in a shabby little town on the Mississippi—a pilot—a seeker for gold—Mark Twain—Mark Twain was molded on the frontier of America. The vastness of the West—the fearlessness of the pioneer—the clear philosophy of the country boy were his—and they stayed with him in all simplicity to the last day of those glorious later days—when German Emperor and English King—Chinese Mandarin and plain American, all alike, wept for him.

Federal Agents Find High Price of Wheat Due to Manipulation

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—The present high price of wheat and the consequent high price of wheat flour is not due entirely to the usual laws of supply and demand, government officials say. On the contrary, they assert, there is every reason to believe that the wheat market has been manipulated and that brokers are reaping a golden harvest.

The administration now has three separate agencies at work investigating the cause of abnormal wheat prices, all of which have been sending in reports tending to bear out the statement that the wheat market is being manipulated.

Official statistics in possession of the Department of Agriculture show that the average wheat crop for the seven-year period from 1909 to 1916, inclusive, was 682,000,000 bushels. The government's estimate for this year, which is conservative as usual, is 607,000,000 bushels. This shows that while the wheat crop for 1916 is lower than the average, it is not so low it could be classed as abnormal or give excuse for the present sky-high prices of wheat.

REPUBLICANS AT DAUPHIN Dauphin, Pa., Nov. 2.—A rousing Republican rally was held last evening on Porter's corner. The meeting was called to order by County Committeeman William H. Ege and Dr. William P. Clark, acting as chairman of the meeting, introduced the speakers of the evening, who were George Hull, of Harrisburg, and Frank B. Wickersham, of Steelton, assistant district attorney.

YOUNG HUNTER KILLED

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 2.—The rabbit season opened in Adams county with a fatality and another accident not so serious. The fatality occurred near New Oxford when Cyril Weaver, a lad of thirteen, was almost instantly killed by a brother several years older. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver, of New Oxford. The other accident was at Littlestown, where John McSherry, a young man of nineteen, was struck in the face with some shot fired by a man named Staley, from York. McSherry may lose the sight of one eye.

MUMMERS ELECT

Members of the Harrisburg Mummies' Association met last night in the Majestic Theater offices and elected the following officers: Clarence O. Buckenstoss, vice-president; R. Rosa Seaman, secretary; William Orr, treasurer. C. Floyd Hopkins, who was elected president last week, called another meeting to be held next Wednesday evening. He has been authorized to appoint a finance, parade and a publicity committee. These will probably be announced to-morrow. A report will be given next week on preliminary plans for the New Year's parade.

Dr. J. W. Ellenberger, 924 North Third street, is attending his son Robert, who is seriously ill at Dickinson Seminary, where he is a student.

MAKING FRANTIC EFFORTS TO GET COAL SUPPLIES

Pittsburgh, Nov. 2.—Frantic efforts are being made by a number of manufacturing interests in the district to secure emergency coal supplies before navigation closes on the Monongahela river by buying the production of independent mines that are connected with their plants by the water transportation. This situation is further complicated by the determination of natural gas companies to cut off all factories should the fuel be needed to supply domestic consumers. Railroads also are endeavoring to increase their reserves.

Does Your Husband Drink? Druggist Tells How to Cure the Liquor Habit at Home. Free Prescription Can Be Filled At Any Drug Store and Given Secretly. H. J. Brown, 409 West Superior Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, was for many years a confirmed drunkard. His friends and relatives despaired of ever redeeming him. His sister sought the best medical men in Europe in the hope that she might find something which would cure him. Finally she was recommended to an eminent chemist who gave her a private formula (the same as appears below) and told her how to use it. She read it filled at the drug store and gave it to him secretly. The results were startling. In a few weeks he was completely cured. He has not touched a drop since. He now occupies a position of trust and is enthusiastic in his efforts to help others overcome the liquor habit. He feels that he can best do this by making public the same formula which cured him. Here is the prescription: Go to any first class drug store and get 14 Rescum powders. Drop the powder twice a day, in coffee, tea
