

LINCOLN

HUGHES

MCKINLEY

Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

GRANT

HAYES

HARRISON

GARFIELD

ARTHUR

ROOSEVELT

Tariff for Protection, Not for Revenue Only

To recount the advantages of the Protective Tariff—as brought into being, and fostered by the Republican Party—would require pages and pages of space.

It changed us from a nation of dreamers into a nation of DOERS, from sometime producers of raw materials into INDUSTRIAL LEADERS OF THE WORLD.

Before the coming of the Republican Party, our most valuable assets lay dormant—in many cases unknown. Others were sent abroad, to be returned, done into finished products by the poorly paid labor of other lands—

America Paid the Freight

Under Republican Tariff, the nation became INDUSTRIALLY INDEPENDENT. Its thousands of factories and mills gave work to hundreds of thousands, and profits—both for labor and capital—remained here. America was no longer simply paying the freight.

But the pendulum is swinging back and the seeming prosperity of today, while actual, for the moment, is DELUSIVE.

The party of low tariff or no tariff—at the best, tariff, not for protection of home industries, but for revenue only—is in power and already its malevolent work is evident.

War munition orders are flooding the country, and under the impetus of large profits production rivalry is paying unheard-of wages to thousands of workers.

But with the close of the world-war will come an end to this transient El Dorado, and then—

The Aftermath?

Already with the manufacturing facilities of Europe shrunken and its shipping ports idle, importations of foreign-made wares into this country have greatly exceeded the totals under the Republican tariff.

When the war ends and the floodgates are opened for long-held-back shipments—what?

European labor will compete without any tariff wall with the better-paid labor of America, and there can be but one result—American labor will be reduced to the low level of foreign labor, losing its opportunity for the enjoyment of necessities in abundance, some of the comforts and luxuries of life, time for self-culture, ownership of the family cottage and a responsible, contented, happy American home, or the tariff wall will be rebuilt, to hold back the ruinous competition of cheap foreign labor. WHY SUFFER CALAMITY BEFORE BUILDING THE WALL?

Is the Democratic low-tariff or no-tariff evil to be allowed free sway? There is but one way to check its sure coming.

Already the surging sea is finding its way through our broken dyke. When the full tide comes the dyke will be a memory.

Rebuild the Dyke

SEND TO CONGRESS REPRESENTATIVES who will again make secure that measure of protection to American labor and American capital that the Republican party has always given; the protection that made and held American industries foremost in the world.

And, with such a Congress, SEND TO THE WHITE HOUSE

Charles Evans Hughes

who stands for "America first and America efficient."

"Proper Protection Provides PERMANENT Prosperity"

Rebuild the Tariff Dyke —Only Republicans will do it

TAFT

A Protective Tariff: The security of American Labor and Industries

Photo Copyright by Cinema

Photo Copyright by Pich