CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm children and they love it.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

"HEAD OF THE HOUSE" MANIA

Dorothy Dix Advises Wives to Let Husbands Harbor Delusion

By Dorothy Dix

There is one supreme desire common to practically all men. It is to be the Head of his House.

This yearning to be the czar of the hearthstone is a mania that causes men to commit countless follies, and it offers the true explanation of why so many of them pick out feminine fools for wives.

A man sees a clear-eyed, educated, sensible, practical woman who knows as much as he does, and is really fitted to be a companion and helpmeet to him, but he does not ask her to be his wife because he is afraid that she would usurp the domestic throne.

Then he meets up with a little simpering idiot of a girl, without an idea in her head, who looks as if she would be wax in his hands, and he straightway marries her because he believes that she will never dispute his right to reign supreme in the household.

Of course things don't always work out according to this schedule. Indeed, they seldom do, for a reasonable woman can always be reasoned with, but a fool can never be turned from her folly, and there are no other such grinding domestic tyrannies as those established by weak, brainless wives.

It is, however, to men's fear that the clever woman will oust them from their jobs as heads of their houses that the smart girl so often owes the fact that she is a spinster.

Now, having obtained a husband, a woman's chief business in life is to keep him happy and pacified, and content with his lot. In doing this, nothing is more important than for her to recognize this masculine fetch of being it in the home, and her failure to do so is a potent source of domestic discord.

Let it never be forgotten that the United States is the only country in the world where the wife rules the roost—and that the United States leads the world in the number of divorces. The co-respondent who breaks up a home is the wife wearing the trousers.

The broad assumption that woman is the weaker vessel and that the husband is the more fitted by nature and training to be the head of the house and the arbiter of the family destiny is a lovely theory, but it does not always hold water. Neither does the contention that a woman should not marry a man whom she is not willing to obey and to whom she does not look up.

Many a man is eminently lovable, and livable, and marriageable, who is not qualified for the family pilot, and is not fitted to steer the domestic bark through a single whirlpool. Nevertheless it is a foolish wife who ostentatiously takes charge of the wheel and announces that she is running things.

Since man loves to believe that he is the head of the house, it is a wise ure possible from it. Moreover, the rewards are great, for the average man having had his authority recognized—his technical right to decide domestic questions conceded—doesn't really care a button what his wife does.

It is the principle that he stands for, and when you hear a man announce that he is the master of his own house and that his wife never does anything without asking his permission, you may be sure not only that he is happily married, but that his wife is working him to the queen's taste. For in these days of emancipated women a husband is so grateful to a wife who acknowledges his authority that she may do with him as she will.

Yet in spite of this, the land is crowded with women who not only boss their husbands, but have no shame in making the poor creatures jump through the hoop in public to make a holiday for derisive onlookers.

Is there any woman who has established this kind of censorship over her husband vain enough to believe that he still loves her, or that he sticks to her for any other reason than because he lacks the courage to run away? If there is she deludes herself.

The man who is subject to petticoat government despises himself, and he doubtly and treble hates and loathes the feminine tyrant before whom he trembles.

It is the part of a good wife to help her husband "save his face," as our diplomatic Chinese friends say, and to foster by her outward deference his faith that he is boss. It pleases him and it doesn't hurt her.

More than that, good taste demands it, for there are few more unattractive sights than that of the strenuous hen proclaiming that she is the cock of the walk. The husband has the right of the one who pays the freight to at least figure as the nominal head of the family, and it is a poor woman who begrudges him this empty honor.

Funeral Feast Cost $167; Chief Mourner Got $71

Lima, Nov. 3. — Stana Stocia died recently leaving a comfortable estate. She had requested a Rumanian funeral. Following these funerals it is customary to have a three-day feast. John Gotta, of Alliance, was in charge.

According to his statement, he spent money for ten cases of beer, several barrels of beer, several quarts of whisky and a number of quarts of wine for the feast. He says Floyd Whitley, administrator, for $167.24 to pay the bill, and Whitley refused to pay the amount.

"You must have had a three weeks' feast instead of three days," Judge Christian Morris said, in deciding the case to-day. "Judgment will be awarded for $71.55."

"Jack the Clipper" Cuts Tresses From Child

PRINCESS AIMEE AGAIN IN DIVORCE

Off-Married Lady Wants Only Seclusion Now; Yvonne in the Country

New York, Nov. 3. — A Supreme court referee recommended that a decree of absolute divorce be granted to Princess Aimee Crocker Gourard Misnikoff from the youthful Prince Alexander Misnikoff, of Russia, to whom she was wedded secretly in London in 1914. The Prince offered no opposition to his wife's plea of freedom.

The Princess will not marry again, it was declared that she wanted to draw the curtain between her life with the Prince and the future. All she seeks is solitude.

"And as to the Prince," the lawyer was asked.

"He will go his own way as he is young, good looking and of lively disposition, he will soon forget this little incident in his life and remarry," the lawyer replied.

"And little Yvonne, the adopted daughter of the Princess, what will become of her?" was asked.

"The dainty little Yvonne is not with her foster mother now," Mr. Oldmixon said. "She has been in the country ever since the separation suit, also resting, and I do not know whether she will return to the Princess."

It was Yvonne, seventeen and attractive, who brought about the separation suit last March when her foster mother declared that her noble-blooded husband paid more attention to her than to the Princess.

At the Princess' request, detectives trailed the Prince and found him in a room very much en dishabille and a young, dark-haired woman, reclining in baby blue silk pajamas on a divan.

After a free-for-all fist fight, which brought hotel employees to the room, the raiders disappeared.

The name of the co-respondent was not disclosed.

Cashier Robbed Bank of $92,000 Since 1911, Charge

New York, Nov. 3. — Henry J. Dorgelch, for years assistant cashier of the Coal and Iron National Bank, was arrested by the federal authorities, charged with having robbed the bank of $20,847. According to the United States District Attorney Dorgelch's total pecuniations amount to $92,000.

The specific complaint against Dorgelch charges him with having stolen a check drawn on the bank. The federal authorities say that the alleged thefts date back to 1911. The bank was fully protected from having stolen falsifications having been made good by Dorgelch's bonding company. Dorgelch, 37 years old, was married.

Chose Cemetery Barn as Place For Suicide

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 3. — Jacob Dockey, a well-known resident of this city, committed suicide by hanging himself from a rafter in a barn in a local cemetery.

Several months ago he made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life by slashing his throat after he made an attack upon his wife. Family troubles were responsible for his act.

700-Acre Bird Sanctuary to Save Utah's Wild Life

Salt Lake, Nov. 3. — In an effort to save the rapidly disappearing wild bird life of the State, arrangements have been completed for the establishment of Utah's first bird sanctuary, to cover an area of 700 acres. The use of the land is given free virtually to the owners of property within four miles east of Murray. State Fish and Game Commissioner Chambers will place his deputies to look after the birds when the heavy snows of winter make it difficult for the birds to find anything to eat.

SUGGESTION TO WOMEN

Who Are "Just Ready To Drop"

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help. You can get it just as Mrs. Maxwell did. She says:—

"I keep house for my little family of three and became completely run-down. I was weak, nervous and could not sleep; finally, I was unable to do my house-work. A friend asked me to try Vinol. I did so and improved rapidly. It toned up my system, I regained my strength, am no longer nervous, sleep well, and do all my housework." Mrs. J. C. Maxwell, Montgomery, Ala.

There is no secret about Vinol. It owes its success to beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the oldest and most famous body-building and strength-creating tonics.

So many letters like the above are continually coming to our attention, that we freely offer to return the money paid for Vinol in every case where it fails to give satisfaction.
