bearing of which are making their way into the minds of the people more or less rapidly after its long sleep of more than a century.

Hundreds of Volunteers

Quickest to realize the significance of the day are the academic youth of the country, students of the University of Warsaw, the polytechnic school and other higher institutions of learning who attended the ceremony in corporate units bearing banners and wearing the national ribbons. This afternoon they are leading parades and demonstrations through streets bright with red flags. There are volunteers by the hundreds from the Polish army which the manifesto announced will be called into existence.

The ceremony was short and simple. Precisely at noon General Von Beseler wearing the decorations granted for the reduction of Antwerp and the Polish fortresses, mounted the dais in the gala ballroom of the old Jagellonian castle and in the name of Germany's sovereign received the imperial manifesto in ringing soldierly tones. When he ceased, the Polish Count Hutten-Czapski, the palace commandant, read from a leather-bound pamphlet to the Polish notables a translation of the manifesto in their own language.

Then came cheers from the hitherto silent crowd; cheers for Poland, Emperor William, Emperor Francis Joseph, for Germany and the Germans, and for General Von Beseler. President Brudinski of the recently elected city council, who is rector of the University of Warsaw, advanced before the dais and in the Polish tongue gave thanks for the imperial decree.

General Von Beseler replied in crisp soldierly phrases that in the midst of the world war had come the moment of fulfillment of the long cherished Polish wish for re-establishment of the Polish kingdom. "We hope that soon a Polish army will be fighting on our side in token of the sentiment for development of the new kingdom. May all good fortune attend the kingdom of Poland," he said.

A band in an adjoining gallery struck up the strains of the ancient national anthem and after a few bars had been played the Poles in the hall burst spontaneously into the strains which recite the ancient glories, the fallen fortunes and the undying hopes of Poland.

Man Hit by Auto Dies at Harrisburg Hospital

While crossing Second and State streets late Saturday night George W. Sterling was struck by an auto driven by H. W. Black, a contractor, 119 Verbeke street. Sterling was rushed to the hospital, but died almost immediately after being admitted.

Black was taken to police headquarters by Detectives Speese and Shuler. He told the detectives the accident was not due to reckless driving. He said he saw the man walk toward the front of his machine, but the wet condition of the street rendered his brakes useless. Coroner Eckinger is still investigating.

The body was taken to the funeral parlors of C. H. Mark, where it was identified yesterday by his brothers, Edward and William. Sterling was 46 years old and is survived by his mother and two brothers.

NEWS OF STEELTON SPEED UP WORK ON STEEL MILLS

Schwab Says Bethlehem Steel Improvements Will Take Two Years

New York, Nov. 6.—The Bethlehem Steel Corporation is planning to spend $90,000,000 in new construction work and in additions to existing plants in the next two years. Some details of Bethlehem's expansion became known last summer after the Pennsylvania Steel Company was bought, but Charles M. Schwab emphasized the scope of the undertaking in a speech made Thursday at a luncheon given him in St. Louis by the Members' Conference of the Business Men's League. According to the Iron Age, Mr. Schwab said:

"In the face of a certain amount of opinion on the part of the directors of the corporation with whom I am affiliated I have insisted upon spending $90,000,000 within the next two years for improvements, beginning immediately."

"I could not be learned to-day what form the opposition of the directors took, but it was presumed in the financial district that certain of them thought Mr. Schwab should be content with moderate increases of facilities, which are already large. For ten years the Bethlehem man has been putting the bulk of earnings back into the property with the result that net assets applicable to the common stock are considered to be equal to more than $310 per share.

"Of the total expenditures planned approximately $50,000,000 will be devoted to the Pennsylvania and Maryland Steel Companies. The crying need for big plates for shipbuilding is going to bring about construction of several rolling mills at Steelton, Pa. When the new work was discussed several months ago, it was said in official quarters that the program called for three years' extension. Mr. Schwab told the guests at the St. Louis luncheon that two years would suffice, it is plain that the task is to be speeded up.

"The Iron Age said that in the course of his address the steel man predicted that a period of bad times would follow present unprecedented prosperity. Financial depression would come upon the United States in the next five or ten years, he was quoted as saying, which would bring an entire commercial and financial readjustment that would serve to teach the people of this country economy."

START WORK ON RECREATION HALL

Building Being Erected at Locust Grove For Benefit of Negroes

Work on erecting a recreation building for the entertainment of the colored laborers employed at the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company at Locust Grove near the borough, a laboring settlement was started by a large force of workmen this morning. The structure is to be forty by eighty feet and will be constructed of hollow tile and concrete. The building will be one story high and contain four rooms. Various devices of amusements will be installed here for the entertainment of the workmen. A row of dwellings containing ten houses which will accommodate 70 persons will also be erected shortly.

Increased amount of work in the pattern department of the Steel foundry has necessitated larger quarters and workmen have been working the past several days erecting a second story to the pattern storage. Work will be completed in the course of several months.

Steel Company Employees to Have Time to Vote

Every employe of the Bethlehem Steel Company in the local plant will be given an opportunity to cast a ballot at the election to-morrow, it was announced by steel officials this morning.

All the shops of the plant which close at 5:30 o'clock will be closed a half hour earlier to give the employes this opportunity. Turns in the mills will be changed. Workmen there go on duty at six o'clock will be relieved at five o'clock by other forces which come at 6 o'clock under ordinary circumstances.

N. C. Miller, supervisor of the engineering extension division of State College, will make a tour of the local shops of the Bethlehem Steel Company next Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday to determine whether or not the reopening of the State College Extension School at the Steelton plant would be profitable.

For the past two years the extension school has been held in the plant and has been well supported by the steel workers. Mr. Miller in his canvass will explain the various courses and methods of instruction. Plans are being made to organize classes during the week, and to provide quarters in the main office building, Front and Swatara streets.

Delayed Shipment of Blocks Holding Up Work

Work on repairing bad stretches of Front street, being done by the United States Wood Preserving Company of York, has been held up for several past few days on account of the supply of blocks. Several carloads are being shipped here but have been delayed by the railroad. Work has been completed in the westbound street car track as far as Swatara street.

Council May Open Bids on New Fire Apparatus

Council in monthly session to-night may open bids submitted for motorizing Steelton's fire department. The time for submitting bids was closed November 3, but the bids are not opened the committee will call a special meeting to open them.

There is a strong likelihood of council taking action on supplying the town with a new fire engine. Council may follow out the suggestion of Quincy Bent of the Bethlehem Steel Company made in a conference over the actions of Southern negroes in the borough. There is much need of more policemen and Burgess Wigfield has been advocating this measure for some time.

May Not Sell Liquor in Pints and Half Pints

Local liquor dealers are considering a plan of abolishing the sale of liquor in pints and half pint sizes. Quincy Bent has suggested to the local merchants that they unite in opposing the work of quelling much of the disorder among the colored class. Several dealers this morning expressed their willingness to join in the move of abolishing this method of selling liquor, but stated, however that unless all would work for the same purpose they would not consider it.

year high school course will be compelled to pay for the tuition of their high school graduates in the schools of Harrisburg. This is provided in the school code and is proving to be costly and burdensome both to the taxpayers, who must put up $71.25 a year for each pupil in the Harrisburg high schools, and to the parents who must pay the street car fares to Harrisburg with the new Harrisburg high schools in operation this tuition charge will probably be about $100.

Some of the West Shore towns are already facing the problem of erecting new buildings. In most cases this will not be necessary if the high school is passed, for then the rooms now occupied by the high school classes in the various towns and the township can be turned over to the grade schools. The price of three or four new buildings within the coming year or two will be saved in this way, it is estimated, and that will mean a saving in dollars and cents to the property owners.

Real estate men say nothing will do so much for the West Shore properties as a new central high school. Hundreds of people who would have built homes in one or another of the cross-river towns did not do so because they preferred to remain in Harrisburg on account of better school facilities. Educators who have given the matter attention say that the central high school will raise the standard of all the schools on the West Shore and make them uniform. Those of a large city without costing the taxpayers any more than they are paying for their present schools.

The people have come to understand that the high school loan is for the benefit of everybody and they will go to the polls in many places to-morrow to work for it. Republicans, Democrats, Progressives and Prohibitionists are all for the loan. There is no politics in it. The school will be under the direction of all the school boards and that guarantees a safe and sound management. It is believed that everyone of the districts in which the loan is put before the people will give it a majority but its advocates are not being fooled by self-confident and unscrupulous canvassers right up to the polls.

NEWSIES TO TIP PATRONS ABOUT LOAN to that effect at the Telegraph banquet to the newboys Friday evening.

To-day "King" Kopolvitz enthusiastically endorsed the Telegraph's suggestion for the "newsies' co-operation and heartily agreed to pass along the tip to the members of the association.

"That the boys of our association are heartily in favor of the high school loan comes without saying, sooth to be. In better high school facilities we see what we consider are better facilities for probably the only 'college' we can attend.

"Sure, that suggestion of the Telegraph is a mighty good one and we'll begin to carry out the tip to-day. Some of the readers will learn of it tonight. To-morrow evening will be the final chance for a whole lot of men to vote. Many of them stop at the polls on the way home and a little reminder won't hurt. The law prohibits citizens to vote on election day, but the law, so far as I can learn, doesn't prohibit any one from REMINDING a voter of his duty. So let us be on the job. And this will be the newboys' program.

"DON'T FORGET TO VOTE FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL LOAN, SIR!"

President Stamm Calls Upon Electors For Last Time to Vote For Loan

In a final appeal to-day to the voters of Harrisburg to pass the proposed loan for $1,250,000 for better high school facilities, President A. Carson Stamm, of the School Board, once more re-interated the plan for the relief of conditions if the loan is authorized. He cites the purpose to erect junior high schools, to build a new girls' high school and to enlarge Technical high school for the accommodation of all the boys. Continuing Stamm says:

"This plan is no one man's plan. It's a compromise in many ways, as any plan promoted by a number of men who are trying to interpret and meet the needs of an entire community is bound to be. And in the fusing of all the varying preferences and opinions and beliefs about one phase or another of the problem we believe we have a plan that will give the girls and boys educational privileges second to none, and that sacrifices no essential part of the plan, that no other adequate plan can possibly be so cheap in money.

"After all it is a question of whether the voters have confidence in their School Board and the citizens who are advising with them. We have threshed out the problem by day and by night, from every possible angle, with every possible assistance. If there's a better plan or a more economical plan we don't know what it is. We have done the best we could. Eventually somebody will have to be trusted. Everybody can't have his own plan. This fact remains, however, that unless our schools are not to go back to the irretrievable loss of our young men and women and the discredit of our community, a lot of money will have to be spent on school buildings right away."

TO WINK RETURNS TOMORROW NIGHT

C. M. Kaltwasser, general manager of the Harrisburg Light and Power company to-day arranged to convey the message to Harrisburg in this bright way following a conference with General Superintendent L. L. Ferree. The Telegraph will phone him when to wink. City Commissioner Harry P. Bowman, superintendent of Public Safety heartily endorsed the plan.

And They'll Wink Three!

The head of the light company said he was willing to carry out the scheme provided Mr. Bowman was willing and the latter in endorsing the suggestion, added smilingly:

"And I've no doubt that the lights will wink—three times!"

The winking plan will be carried out only in the ornamental lighting in the commercial district as this is considered preferable to darkening the arc-lights in the residential sections. At that the lucky residents whose homes are illuminated with electricity can get a tip on the electric results just the same. There will be fifteen second intervals between winks.

Mr. Kaltwasser has arranged to wink the lights in the homes and clubs, too. So, if you don't care to come into town to read the returns Mr. Citizen, but prefer to sit until midnight at your own fireside, you'll get the tip just the same if your electric lights are burning. Two winks for Wilson, three for Hughes, and one for Haines, if the issue is undecided, whose homes are illuminated with electricity just the same. There will be fifteen second intervals between winks.

General Manager Kaltwasser will be waiting at the Harrisburg club for the tip and as soon as he gets the word he will communicate to Mr. Ferree who in turn will notify the power house to "wink 'em!"

After a long interval the resumption of active operations in Dobruja is reported from Bucharest, which announces a Rumanian victory. Rumanian troops are declared to have taken the offensive north of Hirsova and driven Field Marshal Von Mackensen's troops from several villages which were set on fire as they were transferred to Mr. Ferree who in turn will notify the power house to "wink 'em!"

LANAO IS SUNK

London, Nov. 6.—Lloyd's announces that the steamship Lanao, described by the shipping agency as an American vessel, was sunk on October 28 by a submarine. (The Lanao recently was transferred from American to Norwegian registry). Thirty men from the Lanao were landed at Barry by the Norwegian steamship Tromp.

Further transfer to a Norwegian owner the Lanao was owned by Findlay, Miller and Company, of Manila. She was a small vessel of 632 tons gross, 195 feet long and 36 feet of beam. She was launched in 1912 at Bowling, Scotland. The last report on the movements of the Lanao was her arrival at Suez on October 9 on a voyage from Saigon, French Cochinchina whence she departed August 29 for Havre. The Norwegian steamship Tromp arrived in Barry Roads Saturday.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The steamer Lanao is not an American vessel according to records of the Bureau of Navigation of the Department of Commerce which show Hans Hanneveig of Christiania, Norway, as her owner and that she was sold by her American owners in the Philippines recently.

Records of the bureau show the Lanao was owned by the Findlay Miller Steamship Company of Manila. Her sale to Hans Hanneveig was reported by the American consul gen-

New London, Conn., Nov. 6.—Captain Paul Koenig, of the German submarine merchantman Deutschland, which arrived here last Wednesday, indicated to-day that he would make his homeward dash next Friday, probably late in the afternoon. Rossville, Ill., Nov. 6.—Ernest Musk, Democrat, proprietor of a cafe, and Charles Coningham, Republican, who owns a garage, have made an election bet that has stirred this section of the country. Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Catherine McArdle, 40 years old, and William J. Long, 42 years, were asphyxiated in a lodging house.
