Topeka, Kas., Nov. 7.-The first available election returns in Kansas were reported from 25 out of 32 precincts in Topeka, compiled at noon to-day with the following results:

Hughes 1389; Wilson 974. In 23 precincts the incomplete vote for governor gives Capper 1331; Londson 501. The city is normally Republican. A double election board system used made it possible for the returns to be given out before noon. The count for governor in the sixteen incomplete precincts reported give Governor Capper, Republican, 606, and W. C. Lansdon, Democrat, 206.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 7.-Incomplete returns given out here at noon by election judges for nine of the 109 precincts of Wyandotte county, Kansas, including Kansas City, Kans., gives Hughes 378;

Wichita, Kans., Nov. 7.—Incomplete returns from 16 out of 26 precincts of this city as given out by election judges, show 880 votes for Wilson, and 416 for Hughes. For governor Capper 680; Lansdon 512. The congressional race in the Eighth district shows Wilson, Republican, 336 and Ayres, Democrat incumbent, 896.

New York, Nov. 7.—Fair weather, general through the country Skies Smiles on Sweeping Vic- G. O. P. #### Telegraph Will Flash Returns

ELECTION returns will be flashed on the side of the Bell Square, to-night by the Telegraph. In former years the returns were flashed on the Federal Building, but because of construction operations at the Post Office, Locust street is obstructed with building materials and it would be unsafe to crowd the thousands who watch the screen into this thoroughfare. Wainut and Court streets facing the screen on the Telephone building will accommodate a big crowd. Returns will be flashed on the screen as fast as Associated Press, Western Union and Postal Telegraph wires can send them. Special telephones have been installed to take care of the thousands of calls from folks who want to know the results.

Early Vote Unusually Large

Early Vote Unusually Large
All of the New England States in their early reports of the voting dwelt on the heavy early balloting. Providence, R. I., reported throughout the State it was the heaviest ever known.

New York State and other Middle Atlantic States all reported an unusually large vote and similar reports came from the West and South, indicating keen and even eager interest everywhere.

President Wilson motored from Shadow Lawn to Princeton in the early morning and voted ballot No. 13 a few minutes of the returns at Shadow Lawn.

Both Sides Gratified
Charles E. Hughes in New York voted ballot No. 13 a few minutes at voting place near his hotel where he will receive the returns to night. Expect Late Returns

Political observers are in doubt as to just when the election results will become known. They incline to the opinion that it will be later than in recent years because of the complex situation resulting from the number of women who will vote and other causes.

VOTING STRAIGHT

VOTING STRAIGHT
Indianapolis, Nov. 7. — Early reports from all parts of the State indicated that a heavy vote will be polled to-day. The rapidity of the balloting in many sections of the State indicated that "straight" tickets were being voted. In other places there were indications of "scratching."

BIG VOTE DESPITE RAIN

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 7. — Cold, rainy weather greeted lowa voters today. A large vote was predicted because of the bitter fight over the State

RUSH IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Nov. 7. — Two and one-half hours after the polls opened in Chicago it was estimated that one-third of the city's registered vote was cast. Women were noted among the early voters,but they were notexpected out in force until after the early rush of men voting before going to work. The weather was cloudy.

MAMMOTH CONDUIT SPANS HERR STREET SUBWAY

Placing a twelve-ton concrete conduit in position across the Herr street subway, with but twenty minutes delay to passenger service was a feat performed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Sunday.

The conduit, which is reinforced with steel and includes terra cotta tubing, is 60 feet in length. It is three feet high and three feet wide. It required four weeks to mold the conduit and put it in condition to handle. On Sunday a large steam derrick lifted the big slab in position. Only one train was delayed, as it was necessary to run the derrick on the passenger track. The above, picture shows the process of lifting the conduit into place.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Weather conditions were favorable and the largest vote in the history of the state was expected to be polled throughout Pennsylvania to-day. The Republican leaders declared that Hughes will have not less than 200,000 majority, while the Democrats were sanguine that President Wilson will receive a recordibreaking vote.

Particular interest was evinced in the contests for congressmen in a number of the districts in which close contests were expected. In addition to presidential electors, a United States senator, State treasurer, auditor gengel [Continued on Page 12]

'Bobbie" Ulsh Was Big Feature of Millersburg Rally

Millersburg, Pa., Nov. 7. — Millers ourg. Republicans held a jollification last night, bringing the campaign to a close with a rally that crowded the Lyric theater to the doors, with 700 people trying to get in who could not, and which lasted until 11 o'clock. It was the largest and most enthusiastic rally in the political history of the town.

was the largest and most enthusiastic tally in the political history of the town.

Harry M. Fairchilds, one of the best known Republicans in Dauphin county and a general favorite here, was the presiding officer and the Milersburg band played. Addresses were made by Charles E. Pass, Philip S. Moyer, formerly a resident of this place; Ira E. Ulsh, and David J. Bechtold, candidates for the Legislature; Senator E. E. Beidleman and Congressman Aaron S. Kreider.

The meeting was full of ginger from the very start and scarcely a person left during the three and one-half hours which the speakers occupied with a discussion of the campaign. Mr. Ulsh is a well-known resident of this town and when he was called upon to speak he received an ovation that spoke well for his vote in Millersburg to-day. In the audience were many indies and some children, among them Mrs. Ulsh with little "Bobbie" Ulsh, the four-year-old son of the candidate. As Mr. Ulsh stepped forward on the platform "Bobbie" spoke right out in the meeting. "Why, there's Dad," he cried to his mother and then "Hello, Dad." The big audience cheered for "Bobbie" and the irrepressible insisted upon climbing up on the stage, where he sat on Senator Beidleman's knee and waved a flag for the remainder of the evening.

After the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild entertained Senator Beidleman, Congressman Kreider and the others of the campaign party at lunch at their home. PA. INDICATED

Stocks Soar as Market

Looks For Hughes Victory
United States Steel, with other leaders dependent on tariff conditions, rose to unparalleled prices in the stock market yesterday, the sensational advance reflecting Wall Street's confidence in a Hughes victory at the polls to-day. Steel common mounted to 123 ¼, exactly a point above its previous maximum. Utah Copper and Central Leather rivaled Steel in ascending to new records, Utah gaining 2 ½ at 114 ½ and Leather 5 points at 103 ¼.

Gains in other diversified groups ranged from 1 and 4 points, the greater part of which was maintained. Altogether it was one of the best days Wall Street has experienced in weeks, the market's remarkable strength and breadth being attributed to confidence in a Republican sweep and the return of the country to Republican principles. Murdering Lover Fighting for breath with lungs and Fighting for breath with lungs and throat bilstered by the flames he had inhaled, Henry Robinson, on his death bed at the Harrisburg Hospital, gasped his story to County Detective James T. Walters. If at the coroner's inquest Thursday evening Mame Gates is held accountable for Robinson's death, then the dying man's statement will likely be used against her to support the State's charge of murder.

Detective Walters obtained Robinson's statement shortly after he had been brought in from a South Harrisburg house where he had been so severely burned that the hospital authorities didn't expect him to live. He had mentioned Mame, or "Toots," Gates, a one-time sweetheart, in his ravings and the county officer thought it wisest to get a statement.

Robinson gasped his story in a voice so low that the detective had to bend far over the cot; again and again the prons and before the cot; again and again the prons and brought for breat to complete a sentence.

"— started to leave—when—Mame—called me back," panted the man on the cot; 'she said—she said—she was a-goin—to—kill me—if I went. I—I—said 'Go 'way woman' "—Robinson paused to gasp painfully and the breath wheezed noisily in his throat." I said 'I want to go home. Then she—she—set me—on fire. She—throwed—a match and lit some paper—and—throw—that—on me. And then she—screamed—'Oh, Boudy'—that's the name she called—Boudy, I—didn't mean to set you—on fire"—

"Yes, sir—I think—think—I'm a-goin'—to die!"

Robinson fought desperately again for his breath and then wearily closed his eyes. And some time Saturday morning a nurse gently drew a sheet over the quiet face.
