AN OBJECT LESSON IN PHONETIC
The Arabic which boasts three separate sounds, resembling the English letter h, lacks the equivalent of the letter p. In consequence p and b are often confused. A student who was taking an examination in medieval history once appealed to me in great distress. "Sir, do you spell 'poppe' b-o-p, p-o-b-e, or b-o-b-e?"
The late venerable Dr. Bliss of the

WHAT IS AN INTERNAL BATH

If you were to ask a dozen people this question probably not one would answer correctly, although half a million Americans are now using it with a marked improvement in health and strength.
The Internal Bath of to-day is no more like the old-fashioned Enema than a Vacuum Cleaner is like a whisk-broom.
Now, by means of the "J. E. L. Cascade," simply warm water cleanses the Lower Intestine the entire length, removes all the poisonous waste matter therein and keeps it clean and pure as Nature demands it shall be for perfect health.
You will be astonished at your feelings the morning after taking an Internal Bath by means of the "J. E. L. Cascade." You will feel bright, brisk, confident and as though everything is "working right"—and it is.
It absolutely removes Constipation and prevents Apito-intoxication.
Croll Keller, 405 Market street, and Geo. C. Potts's drug store, in Harrisburg, will explain it fully to you, and on request will give you a free book on the subject by an eminent specialist. Ask or send for this free book to-day, called "Why Man of To-day is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient," while you think of it.—Advertisement.

Syrian Protestant College once entered a class room where a native teacher was trying in vain to teach a student the difference between p and b. Dr. Bliss undertook the case. Gathering up some chalk-dust in his hand and holding his hand to his lips he spoke to the student.
"Do you see this dust in my hand? When I say b I do not expel my breath, and the chalk-dust stays where it is. But when I say p I blow the dust all away." He did. He blew it all over the enlightened youth.—The Christian Herald.

FIGHT FIRES IN TREE TOPS HIGH ABOVE THE GROUND

"Rangers patrolling a valuable tract of timber in Washington State," says the November Popular Mechanics Magazine, "were recently called upon to combat a rather peculiar forest fire that had gained considerable headway before being discovered. The tops of a large number of trees were afire when the alarm was sounded. During May a slash burning had been made of his property by a settler, and although it was thought to have been entirely extinguished, it came to life a long time later in the midst of a dry spell. Wind blew sparks into inflammable moss covering the crowns of many of the trees and the fire started. When the rangers reached the scene before daybreak one morning, they formed a bucket brigade. A man would climb 80 or 90 feet up one of the burning trunks and by means of a rope lift buckets of water as rapidly as they were filled by helpers on the ground below. In this way, with but a bucket of water at a time, work continued for three days."

WILSON EAGERLY SCANS RETURNS

Inquires First For News of Cal., Minnesota, New Mexico and North Dakota

Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 9. — President Wilson got up shortly before 8 o'clock this morning to hear again that the outcome of Tuesday's election was not yet certain. He read the morning newspapers before breakfast and planned to take an automobile ride later.
Mr. Wilson's first questions had to do with California, Minnesota, New Mexico and North Dakota, the States on which he was told before going to bed last night the result largely hinged. When informed that definite word had been received from none of those States he realized that he would have to wait longer for the final outcome.
It was taken for granted among officials here that there would be recounts in several of the very close States and it was believed that weeks might pass before questions involved are settled. Officials said that the results would be watched very closely in order to insure a fair verdict.
The President remained in a cheerful mood to-day and believed the result would eventually favor him. As the returns began coming in this morning at the executive offices they were promptly telephoned to him at Shadow Lawn. Local Democrats who have been waiting around since the election planning to go to Shadow Lawn to celebrate in case Mr. Wilson wins, were at the executive offices early.

The President will leave for Atlantic Highlands, N. J., on the naval yacht Mayflower late this afternoon or tonight for Rhinecliff, N. Y., on the Hudson, where he takes a train at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning for Williamstown, Mass. There he will act as godfather for the child of Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, his daughter, to-morrow.
The President was hopeful that conclusive returns would be received before his departure.
Miss Margaret Wilson, who is stopping at Shadow Lawn with her father, showed particular interest in the returns. Before the President was up, Miss Wilson called the executive offices to receive returns.

A MISSOURI DIVERSION CANAL

Great catch basins, covering hundreds of acres, have been made at the northern end of the district, and a great diversion canal thirty-one miles long, reaching from the foothills of the Ozarks to the Mississippi river at a point a few miles south of Cape Girardeau, diverts the waters from those mountain streams into the great river. This diversion canal, thirty-one miles in length, will require the excavation of 10,821,500 cubic feet, at a cost of $1,371,585.
About six hundred miles of other ditches, running north and south, about a mile apart, to carry off the water from the submerged lands, will necessitate the excavation of more than $9,000,000 cubic yards at a cost of more than $3,000,000.—"The Making of an Empire in Missouri," Allan Hinchey, in National Magazine.

CALIFORNIA DEALER EQUIPS MULES WITH TAIL LIGHTS

Ludicrous as it may seem, necessity has demanded that a Los Angeles drover equip his mules with tail lights. Without being facetious, it may not be amiss to point out that the devices he employs are literally the first real tail lights ever used. Some time ago when a number of the man's mules were being driven along a highway at night, a motor car plunged into the drove with disastrous results. This caused the dealer to resort to the warning lights so as to avoid similar accidents in the future. The devices, which are identical to those used on many bicycles, are strapped to the mules' tails. When the glare from the lamps of a motor car strikes them, beams of ruby light are reflected. Incidentally if a mule swings his tail, the warning signal becomes all the more noticeable.—From the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

FLOOD LEAVES WELL HIGH ABOVE GROUND

Motorists and others on the Asheville-Charlotte highway in North Carolina have been astonished during recent weeks to see the walls of an old well, surmounted by an old chain pump, projecting high into the air. This is one of the freaks of the flood which occurred in this region following very heavy rains. In the immediate vicinity of this pump which stood in front of a store, soil to a depth of several feet was washed away from a tract of between six and eight acres. The well stands 15 feet above ground and evidently was carefully built, for the stones rest one on the other just as they were laid in the wall hole. A picture of the well above ground is in the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

WATER FOR FARMS IS EASY PROBLEM

Gravity Systems Are Easy to Establish and Very Cheap

"The number of farms in Pennsylvania that could put in a good gravity water system is almost without number," says Charles G. McLain, water supply and drainage engineer of the Department of Agriculture. "There are about 220,000 farms and many thousands of them could have a good water system without any very great cost. If one only stops to consider the amount of labor saved the farm woman, the cost of a water system would not seem at all exorbitant. The farmer does not usually hesitate very long when it comes to buying some labor saving machinery for use in the fields, so why should not the good housewife have some conveniences for her use. Think of the energy required to pump and carry the amount of water used in the house during the day, and also the number of extra steps required if the water must be carried from a spring at some distance from the house.
"The water system will not only be for the house, but for all the farm buildings as well: the barn, pigeon, chicken coop and any other buildings in which you may want water.
"If this system is put in, think of the many conveniences that can be put in

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.
