PERSONAL SOCIAL YALE "DRAMAT." MUCH OF INTEREST COMING TO HBG. FOR CLUB WOMEN

Dec. 29 Is Date Set For Portrayal of Robertson's Military Comedy, "Ours"

The Yale University Dramatic Association, one of the ablest undergraduate "theatrical troupes" among the colleges and universities to-day, will appear in Harrisburg at the Orpheum Theater on Friday evening, December 29. The vehicle selected by the association this year for expressing undergraduate talent is Tom Robertson's military comedy, "Ours." The story of "Ours" has to do with a regiment in the Crimean war. It does away with the morbid details of battle, dealing rather with the humor of army life. It shows the complete transformation of an English dandy into a hardened soldier. Much of the play's charm lies in its freedom from any stilted cleverness. Its whole tone is wholesome and direct. Its situations are obvious, not shrouded in a mass of intellectual dialogue. "Ours" is guaranteed to prove a most refreshing tonic, which is neither bitter nor sweet, but which is just "seasoned to taste." Tom Robertson, the author, is rather famous in dramatic history for the introduction of realistic effects on the stage by the use of mechanical devices. He represented snowstorms, rain, thunder, the whistle of the wind, etc. in his plays. He is known as the originator of the modern "box scene." Friends of the university will undoubtedly be glad of the opportunity to see this play. There are eighteen members of the cast.

Central High School Notes Are of Much Interest

Attention is called to the fact that all Central students who wish to enter the McCormick short-story contest must submit their manuscripts at the office of the contest, 27 West 12th street, on or before the 20th, and the awards are made shortly after. Each student submitting a story must put his "non-de-plume" on the copy and with this enclose an envelope with that name on the outside and the real name inside.

Through the kindness of Samuel Kunkle of this city, the boys of the Junior class at Central high, each year get a chance to compete in oratory for prizes of twenty-five, fifteen, and ten dollars. This is the first, strictly oratorical contest held during the year, and regularly occurs on the day before Thanksgiving. A lot of interest is being shown this year among the students, and all are anxious to hear these speakers.

The contest will be held in chapel at Central and a large crowd is expected. There are eight speakers, they being determined through a preliminary contest. There are ten candidates, they being Thomas Lantz, Benjamin Wolfe, William Kay, Willard Smith, Charles R. Robertson, Caldwell, Thomas Nevitt, Otter Lippman, Alex. Shampam and Simon Brenner. Some of the orations being prepared by the respective candidates are: "A Plea For Cuba," by Robert A. Cunningham, "by Lodge; "A Message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard, and "The Venezuelan Question." All the candidates are confident of winning one of the prizes to be given at the turkey for their Thanksgiving dinner.

The next meeting of the Centralians will be held Friday evening, November 17, at the home of Thomas Caldwell, 222 Broad street.

The strawdole planned by members of the H. A. society has been postponed to a date which will be announced later.

Peggy Alerts Christmas Chat

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS The messages of good will that we send to our friends at Christmas may be in the form of a gift or just a Christmas greeting card, but the important thing is the Christmas spirit, and never have I seen cards which more truly express the hearty good cheer of Yuletide, than in the charming assortment shown at Cotter's, 9 N. Market Square. The clever designs and appropriate messages on these cards make them especially interesting, and a very large number of these are priced at just 5c and 10c apiece, including envelopes. Anyone who owns a visiting card plate may have fifty or a hundred of them engraved at a very nominal cost, making a very complete Christmas greeting.

EVERYONE KNOWS HOW TO GET really good coffee at a moderate price, and the Studebaker Grocery Store, Second street at State has solved the problem of many of us by offering the Studebaker Special Blend at just 32c a lb. It is delightful in flavor and aroma, rich and satisfying even to people who are used to paying much more for their coffee, and this is just a sample of the many things of superior quality which may always be found at this interesting store. Anyone who has ever tasted Ferndell canned goods, for example, knows how different these are from any other canned products, superior in every particular, and the Studebaker store is a good place to get these. Among the novel offerings in Ferndell goods, are the salad cherries, the preserved figs, the unusually delicious asparagus tips, the sliced peaches and candied apples.

NOVELTIES IN FOOTWEAR The vagaries of fashion have never brought us more delightful styles than are shown in the new footwear, and no where can be seen, more satisfactory examples of the newest and best in shoes, than at the Walk-Over Boot Shop, 226 Market Street. Here such novelties as the high boot with the Rosemary Bal, and the stunning Skyline Boot may be seen, and the small new styles of the cowboy, spalia, fawn and bisque, for they make a specialty of matching shoes and evening slippers to frocks. Very fashionable just now is the use of high-cut uppers, or spats, of Walk-Over Shop, shows a complete assortment in pearl gray, battleship, amolous and white, cut high enough to cover a ten-inch boot. They sell for just $2.00 a pair.

THE GIFT THAT ALWAYS BRINGS genuine pleasure to any girl or woman is a bit of feminine finery, and very gift-like are the blouses of silk and lace, the high-cut uppers, or spats, of Walk-Over Shop, shows a complete assortment in pearl gray, battleship, amolous and white, cut high enough to cover a ten-inch boot. They sell for just $2.00 a pair.

AN OVERCOAT FAIR The romance of business is more absorbing than any romance of history, and there are times when certain otherwise prosaic business events loom large as epoch-making history. It is interesting in the new Overcoat Fair, which the Douchtrich store, with its usual progressive spirit has arranged to sell overcoats at this time of the year. It is an ordinary business, but the buying and selling of overcoats in a single week, the arrangement of an exhibit comprising every possible style, design and fabric, the foresightedness which made possible the remarkably low prices, the customer to every customer, the broad-minded spirit and policy which gives the customer the advantage of the store's fortunate purchases and the leadership which has staged this Overcoat Fair combine to make this one of the great events in the business history of Harrisburg.

GIFTS OF HANDWORK It is easy enough to shop for Christmas, but it is not so easy to find what to buy, but the problem for most of us is to find out just what we want for each gift. The Woman's Exchange, Third street at Herr, is full of gift suggestions, including many, many clever novelties for home use. In fact I have found here the best assortment in the city of things to embroider and the stamped underwear is especially dainty and appropriate for holiday gifts. The week of Nov. 20, this shop will have a demonstration, during which free instructions will be given to those who buy materials, and beautiful and novel things may be bought or crocheted. Towels, card table covers, luncheon sets and clever little novelties for embroidery may be purchased from 19c up.

CHRISTMAS IN THE HOME Very few of us allow the Christmas season to pass without adding something to the home in the way of furniture, and so much of interest and of exceptional value is shown at the Chas. F. Hoover Store, 1415 North Second street that it is hard to refrain from refurbishing the whole house. Correctly designed period furniture is offered at prices as low or lower than is often paid for the inferior kinds, and who can be indifferent to the beauty of an Adam mahogany dining room table, the dignity of a William and Mary living room, or the exquisite daintiness of a Louis XVI bedroom in ivory? Many charming and inexpensive suggestions in boudoir lamps, floor lamps, and odd pieces of wicker are also offered for the holiday season.

THE GIFT OF ALL GIFTS There is one gift which cannot be compared with any other. Its quality is something apart from material worth, — and that is the gift of one's own photograph. The very fact that it so often stands as a token of friendship and affection, makes it imperative that the photograph should be well executed, by a photographer who can bring out the best points of his subject, expressing the beauty of good pose, and an instantaneous expression. The Roshon Studio, 8 N. Market Square, gives service of this superior kind and the finished photograph, with its delicate staining, and softened lines is invariably a real work of art. Prices are most moderate, excellent photographs being offered for $2.00 a dozen, while satisfactory work may be had for even $3.00 a dozen.

THE SHOPPER'S RENDEZVOUS The rendezvous for shoppers—in fact, for anyone who likes a cozy little place to spend an interesting half hour, or to get a dainty and satisfying bit of luncheon is the comfortable little room in the Golden Seal Drug Store, 11 S. Market Street. Here one may get not only the most delicious sodas and sundaes, but tempting hot dishes, sandwiches, salads, etc. The pleasant company of patrons, adds the touch of good cheer and informality which helps to make this store so popular, and especially so at this time of year, when many holiday specialties are offered. The splendid Ansco cameras, selling from $2.00 to $55.00 are sold here, while beautifully boxed perfumes, canisters of soaps, are specially arranged for Christmas selling.

KRIS KINGLE'S SHOP Just like peeping into Kris Kingle's own shop at the corner of 10th and a visit to the Marriann-King store, 220 Locust street, where every day looks like the day before Christmas. Here one may find everything for the children, with its little rattles for the infants, to nature books for the older children. There are toys and dolls and animals, tin soldiers and big tubular balls, bean bags, doll furniture, and most marvelous puzzles and games, — dozens and dozens of things that no one has ever seen before, but just the thing to delight the children. The little Mary Jane or Buster Brown, and all the wonderful low prices. For instance, there are scores of clever little gifts to slip into the Xmas stockings, costing from 1c to 10c apiece.

Meade W.C.T.U. Specializes in Work in the Schools

A most interesting meeting of the Meade W. C. T. U. was held in Park Street Evangelical Church with the president, Mrs. John Bolan in the chair. By the reports of various committees and superintendents it is seen that this union is doing excellent work.

Along anti-narcotic lines, of which Mrs. Arms is superintendent, the Allison, Lincoln and Woodward schools have been chosen as a field of labor. The 517 boys of these schools will each be given an anti-narcotic pledge and urged to sign it, receiving a pin of that special order as a reward.

Along lines of anti-narcotic temperance in the public schools, Mrs. Perry, superintendent of that work announces that a subscription has been taken to "The Young Crusader" for the teachers of these three buildings, in order that the girls and boys may have access to a first-class temperance paper.

ALLEN-BELL WEDDING Miss Clara Bell, of Second and Chestnut streets, a daughter of the late George Bell, was married Saturday evening to William H. Allen, of New York. The Rev. Dr. Ellis N. Kremer, of Reformed Salem Church, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a traveling suit of black broadcloth and a hat to harmonize. Mrs. Lucy A. Thompson acted as matron of honor. On their return from the honeymoon South Mr. and Mrs. Allen will reside in New York.

Blind Organist Playing at Benefit Tomorrow Music lovers of this vicinity will have a real treat to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when Professor Wallace, N. A. O., the popular blind organist, will play a recital in the Grand Hotel theater, 1422 Derry street. Professor Wallace is a gifted artist in whom the members of the Wednesday club and other musical organizations of this city are especially interested, and his program will include classic and popular favorites. Quite a number of parties are being made up for the event.

LADIES' AUXILIARY ELECTS The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. H. A. has elected the following officers: Mrs. Sol. Cohn, president; Miss Edna Garzonik, corresponding secretary; Miss Goldie Roth, recording secretary; Miss Anne Garzonik, financial secretary; Mrs. David Garzonik, treasurer.

Dr. J. P. Bill, instructor in the Harvard Medical School, Massachusetts, is the city visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. George E. Bill, at 819 North Third street.

TRIP TO MOVIES FOLLOWS DINNER Mrs. Meyers Is Hostess This Evening to Miss Marian Kline Steiner There are so many brides this Fall and so much entertaining at prenuptial events that it is difficult to keep track of all the pleasures. Just now, Miss Marian Kline Steiner, who is to wed J. Stewart Montgomery this month, is in the limelight. The first party for her was that of Miss Mary Koons of Camp Hill, Saturday afternoon, when a shower of gifts followed a bridge luncheon. This evening at 6 o'clock, Mrs. Katharine Ringland Meyers, of 1623 North Third street, is giving a dinner to Miss Steiner, followed by a motion picture party. The table appointments will be of lavender with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums in a unique basket. OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA! Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.
