Killing the Calves

-All sorts of excuses are offered for the high price of beef, the most plausible being the alleged demand for veal—"the killing of calves which should be allowed to growinto regular beef." You cannot have beef if you eat it as "veal", but you can have Shredded Wheat Biscuit which contains more real nutriment than beef and costs much less. Shredded wheat biscuit is the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Make it your "meat" for ten days and see how much better you feel. Following Dr. Halleck's address Miss Annie B. Nye, of Hummelstown, spoke on "The Problematic Method in Geography." At the sectional meeting of rural teachers in the House of Representatives speakers were Dr. Ernest Burnham, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Dr. S. A. Courtis, supervisor of Educational Research. Detroit, Mich.

Addition Contest
Dr. Courtis gave the teachers a list of 24 questions in addition to finish in eight minutes. Pupils in the eighth grade where these questions are used are required to add 12 correctly in eight minutes. The standard for the majority of county teachers is 14 in 8 minutes. Only two of the teachers present succeeded in completing the 24 problems, while only a few fell below the standard required.
Dr. Burnham spoke on "Economizing Time and Effort. He advised the teachers to pay particular attention to pupils who are below normal in their work, as these boys and girls prove a hindrance to consistent work later in the school year.

Mrs. H. C. Fetterolf spoke at the primary department section meeting. A feature of this session was the work of a class of twelve youngsters who have only been in school six weeks Miss Anna M. any loafers refuse to move on the officers are ordered to place them under arrest.

"It has been the custom for five or six Southern colored men to walk down Front street in a row, making it unpleasant for white women to pass," Burgess Wigfield, said. "I have been told," he continued, "that in some instances women have stepped into the street until these crowds pass by. This will not be tolerated longer and arrests will be made at once."

The Burgess is determined to put an end to the use of firearms. Four young men, whose names were not made public last night were given a hearing before the Burgess and reprimanded for carring weapons.

The first arrests in the Burgess' campaign against disorderly conduct were made yesterday. David Smith and Bird King of Ridge street, both colored, were fined $5 by the Burgess on the disorderly conduct charge. It is alleged the pair refused to stop singing on a street corner. Patrolmen Durnbaugh and Wynn made the arrests.

of Traffic Regulations

Manard Gardner, an employe of the National Brewery Company, will be given a hearing before Burgess Wigfield Monday evening for violating the traffic regulations on information made by Fire Chief Malehorn. F. E. Gotshall and J. T. Theal, employes of the Harrisburg Rallways Company, will be given hearings at the same time on the same charge. The fire chief states that all three violated the regulations during recent fire alarms, and hindered apparatus in answering the calls.

With the battle between the British and the Germans is easing around the Ancre brook the Germans have struck the French lines a hard blow at the other extremity of the Somme gighting front, attacking early to-day between Ablaincourt and the Chaulnes woods, south of the river.

Paris declared that this attack, which was desperately pressed with the assistance of liquid fire, resulted in again of ground only east of Pressione, half way between Chaulnes and Ablaincourt. Herethe Germans reached a group of ruined dwellings.

The latest news from the British offensive in the Ancre region reported General Haig's troops pressing on between the village of Beaucourt-Sur-Ancre, the ground about which has been well consolidated. The taking of more than 5,000 German prisoners has been officially announced.

With the British Army in France, via London, Nov. 15, 4.30 A. M.—The British advance along both sides of the Ancre, which continued yesterday with the capture of the village of Beaucourt, is considered by the British commanders as one of the most important successes in the four months of the offensive. They insist especially on the relatively insignificant character of the German resistance in a position which they consider of great strategic importance and one of the most highly fortified on the entire western front.

Electric Lights in Dugouts

More than 5.000 prisoners have been collected in the extensive subterranean galleries and chambers which were sunk on both sides of the valley and were miles in extent. Five hundred Germans surrendered in a tunnel near St. Plerre Divion, which was a mile and a half long. This tunnel gave access to scores of electric lighted chambers in which companies of infantry were housed and which contained quantities of machine guns and bombs Another 700 prisoners were caught in a ravine south of Beaumont-Hamel, where they were cut off by the first attack on Monday afternoon. The British success south of Beaumont-Hamel, where they were cut off by the first attack on Monday afternoon. The British success south of the Ancre was increased owing for the fact that the Germans in this section were on the point of being relieved by fresh troops when the attack was launched. The result was that twice the normal strength of the garrison was trapped by the barrage fire. Among the prisoners taken here were many men of the Ninety-third Infantry, of which the Duke of Albany is honorary colonel in chief. The regiment lost heavily. According to the prisoners, the duke was waiting in the rear to inspect the regiment when it left the fighting line. CORPORAL JOSEPH ENNEY

BRYAN TO DRIVE DEMOCRATS DRY

moral side of a moral issue.

"My work during the next four years will be to do all that I can to make democracy dry. That is the plain, unequivocal statement of my attitude."

The prohibition issue is the most momentus confronting all parties, said Mr. Bryan, and he strongly advised his Democratic colleagues to grab it while it is hot.

"It is worth nothing," he said that the Republican party, now standing defeated on old issues, will be looking for some new ones on which to base their fight in 1920 — it may champion prohibition in the hope of winning the west, which already has declared its position on the wet and dry question.

"It is not at all impossible that the two parties will in 1920 enter into active rivalry in the prohibition issue."

The election returns, Mr. Bryan declared, make it very easy for the Democratic party to take the lead on the two big issues of the next four years—prohibition and equal suffrage.

"The party does not owe anything to the political bosses who control the politics of wet cities," he said. "And a considerable majority of President Wilson's electoral vote came from dry territory.

"Of the 22 dry States, 17 went for Swilson, two more were close, and in 5 four other States which he carried prohibition has practically been decided upon.

"Again, the President carried nearly all the States in which women vote. These two issues are paramount to the party. They should not and will not be side tracked."

Liable to Split Democrats Worse Than Silver-Gold

Campaign For Prohibition

Washington, Nov. 15.—Announcement by William Jennings Bryan that he was going to try to force the Democratic party to declare for national prohibition was not unexpected here. His campaign along this line will, however, meet with serious opposition within his party which will be liable to split the Democrats even worse than did the silver-gold issue of years ago.
