morning program was taken up with a general discussion of the road maintenance work.

Bosch Discusses Problems

In his address President Bosch commended the supervisors for their work especially in view of the comparatively little money that was allowed them. He referred particularly to the importance of keeping posted and in good repair, the cross-roads signs, the cleaning out of ditches, the opening of culverts, and the necessity of removing big stones from the highways.

"In conclusion," said President Bosch, "I just want to thank you men on behalf of the motorists for what you have done, are doing and will do to solve the good road problem. For you who have been so faithful in doing these things I've enumerated I want to express my heartiest thanks to you who have been unable to do them. I want to urge you to give these questions all the attention you can."

Dr. Stine had a word of commendation for the work that has been done by the supervisors on their limited allowances. He cited one instance where one man kept his thirty miles of roads in good shape on about $2,-400 a year.

"You men," said the commissioner "have done admirable work and I want to say on behalf of the commissioners that we are entirely in sympathy with you and want to do, and intend to do all we can with the money that is at disposal. I do want to urge upon you the importance of keeping the country roads in good shape because these in time will be the smaller arteries that will lead into Pennnsylvania's great cross-State road—the William Penn High-way."

BONUS FOR "WATER WAGON"

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 16. — Five cents an hour for "staying on the wagon" is being paid in Johnstown. To give old John Barleycorn a knockout blow, an employer has made an agreement with several skilled workers to pay them at the end of the job on which they are engaged, five cents for every hour they have worked if they stay sober. And the plan, according to reports, is working.

Cabrera's Stand May Delay Border Agreement

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 16.—
Interest in the session of the MexicanAmerican joint commission to-dap was in learning what would be the attitude of Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican Commission. During his absence at Philadelphia, Ignacio Bonillas and Alberto J. Pani, the other Mexican representatives virtually agreed with the American Commission on the essential points of a plan of border control. They expressed confidence in the support of Mr. Cabrera, notwithstanding the opposition offered by him on Tuesday, the last time he appeared in the conference. The optimism displayed by the two Mexican commissioners was not sharted by all those in touch with the conferes carly to-day. By a few of them it was regarded as not improbable that Mr. Cabrera might again stand in the way although all preparations have been made for reducing to writing the agreement, and Mr. Bonillas and Mr. Pani appeared confident that another hitch would be avoided. Mr. Cabrera remained noncommittal. of the week.

He faced a desk piled high with pardons and other executive papers demanding his attention. Officials said he would see only the most im-portant callers during the remainder of the week.

Oak Leaf and Bars Instead of Bars and Stripes

When, some months ago, the newspapers told stories about them marching away to Mexico, they called them "Top" Sergeant Charles W. Thomas, Second Lieutenant Robert D. Jenkins and Captain Frank E. Ziegler, officers of Company I, one of Harrisburg's crack Guard companies which enlisted with Uncle Sam.

Gone are "Top" Sergeant Thomas, Lieutenant Jenkins and Captain Ziegler. They'll never come back again. Instead First Lieutenant Charles W. Thomas, Captain Robert D. Jenkins Major Frank E. Ziegler, one of the battalion commanders of the Eighth—will come marching home.

The answer is simple. During the tour of Texas duty occurred the changes that could be expected in a big army under the circumstances and during the last week or two, "Captain" Ziegler succeeded Major Vale who resigned. Ordinarily that vacancy would have been filled by First Lieutenant Charles H. Chambers, but he had long since been appointed to the machine gun company and Lieutenant Jenkins filled his shoes. Sergeant Thomas was chosen to succeed Jenkins.
