Coal Schedule Behind Time This nation is simply behind schedule in the matter of getting in the winter's supply.

Whether it will succeed must depend upon how long the cold weather hangs off, and how much success the railroads have in regaining their efficiency.

Like the man who delayed Christmas shopping until the last moment, the people are now going about getting their coal in feverish haste.

The demand for coal in many sections has gotten beyond the healthy state; in fact it is bordering on a panicky state.

Most of those in the Anthracite Coal trade are at sea as to what prediction to make for the market throughout the remaining months of the present fall and winter.

IN OUR great-great-grandfathers' time many New England families had a cask of rum in the cellar. It was freely offered to guests (except children) and freely partaken of, even as coffee is today. This old-time custom gradually passed out of existence, for our forefathers recognized it was harmful. Another old-time custom—coffee drinking—is slowly passing in the same fashion and for the same reason. The abandonment of coffee drinking is made easy nowadays by the use of Instant Postum, the pure cereal beverage with the coffee-like taste. Unlike coffee, this purely American table drink contains no "caffeine" or other harmful substance. Postum is now used daily in tens of thousands of the best of American homes where reason rules and health is valued.
