STATE'S POTATO CROP IS SHORT

Weather Conditions Blamed For Big Falling Off of Production For Year

Pennsylvania's potato crop this year will be 19,715,460 bushels, according to the statisticians of the State Department of Agriculture, who have been getting in reports from districts. Last year it was 20,502,000 bushels and the year before 24,880,000. The weather conditions are blamed for the decline in production. In some districts the crop was only about equal to the seed potatoes, while the average yield per acre is estimated at 70 bushels, compared to 75 last year.

Lehigh county takes first honor as a potato grower, showing 1,142,470 bushels, with Philadelphia producing the most per acre, an average of 125 bushels per acre being reported in the districts of that county, where intensive farming is the rule. Pike is second with 112 bushels to the acre. Northampton third with 108. Franklin fourth with 100, Lehigh, York and Susquehanna next with 95. Some counties show an average of only 38 to 40.

Next to Lehigh the best potato county is given as Lancaster with 1,100,891 bushels reported; York next with 1,029,085, followed by Berks with 939,409, Chester 805,775, Bucks 877,000, Schuylkill 623,214, Bradford 608,888, Northampton 568,312, Erie 560,490 and Luzerne 524,970.

Many Lehigh Capitol.—Capitol Hill was almost deserted by officials and many of the attaches to-day, as they had gone to Philadelphia to attend the State Society dinner. There will be little business transacted to-morrow.

State Revenue Booms.—The State's revenue has gone ahead of the total for the last fiscal year with the official year of 1916 having still a week to go. The revenue last year was $2,890,727.85 and thus far the amount paid is $3,000,000. Auditor General Powell expects still more money to come in and would like to see the $3,000,000 mark reached. The prospects are that the revenue for the two years will be $66,000,000, which will be better than figured out last summer. The usual rush to make payments is on, and mense sums are being turned in at the Treasury.

Paying the Schools.—State Treasurer Young to-day paid over a quarter of a million dollars to school districts. Those in this part of the state have been well taken care of and the Treasury, which now has plenty of money, is making up for the time lost last summer.

To Meet Commuters.—The Public Service Commissioners will meet the Philadelphia commuters in Philadelphia to-morrow. A settlement may be effected.

Big Increase Filed.—The Union Coal and Coke Company, of Philadelphia, filed notice of increase of debt to $3,500,000.

Bruce Campbell Dead.—Bruce H. Campbell, Johnstown attorney, who was secretary to Lieutenant-Governor Murphy, died at his home Tuesday.

Discussing Coal Suits.—W. N. Trinkle, former Deputy Attorney General, was here yesterday discussing the Philadelphia coal tax rate appeals.

Mr. Wright Visits.—Montgomery H. Wright, a member of the branch Capitol commission, was here yesterday.

O'Neil is Ready.—"If they have any charges they want to bring let them go ahead and bring them. I'll fix a hearing and it will be public, too," said Insurance Commissioner J. Denny O'Neil this morning when asked about the attacks made against him and against Chief Examiner W. J. Roney at Philadelphia. "I have said I have confidence in Roney and I do not propose to allow any attacks against my people or myself to swerve me from this insurance matter." Mr. O'Neil said that he was investigating a number of companies, most of them in purely reformed ways, and did not contemplate taking any into court. He is preparing for the hearing here on Monday.

Big Day in Cash.—The State Treasury to-day received almost three-quarters of a million dollars before it had been open an hour. The Pennsylvania railroad paid $465,000 as tax on loans and the Northern Central $120,000. Yesterday almost $800,000 was received in taxes. The fiscal year ends in a week.

300-Yard Haul.—The David Berg Distilling Company, of Philadelphia, to-day brought a complaint before the Public Service Commission against the Pennsylvania railroad involving a 300-yard haul of molasses from Reed street wharf to its plant. A rate of 53 cents per net ton is declared unreasonable.

To Meet To-morrow.—The State Armory Board will meet here to-morrow for its first session since June.

LAWYERS BLAMED FOR RAILROAD ILLS

tions in which "the railroad business is largely controlled by political instead of business considerations," he added, "railroad credit is so poor and returns so small that adequate extensions of lines into developed territory and enlargement of facilities are impossible. He said increased transportation facilities would tend to reduce the high cost of living and open up new country thereby causing increased production.

Contrasts Banks

Mr. Thom pointed out that the present system of railroad regulation had its beginning in the abuses of the past and was based on the principles. He contrasted this with the plan of government regulation of banks. "The system of bank regulation," he said, "was born of the spirit of helpfulness and encouragement intended to build up and make adequate for the American people its system of national banks. Railroad regulation, on the other hand, is the result of a spirit of anger that grew out of real or fancied abuses in the past.

Cost Second Consideration

"The railroads accept the view that regulation is a permanent and enduring part of government in America and that the first duty of the carriers is to the public. The duty to the railroad owners and to the shareholders is a secondary and reasonable rates and this must be done before any private interests can be considered."

In support of this contention that "the first consideration of the public is to obtain transportation facilities, and that the cost is in reality a second consideration," Mr. Thom declared that when a nation-wide strike recently threatened to tie up the railroads "businessmen would have been willing to pay almost anything to get their goods to market. He cited the present car shortage, the embargoes last spring caused by inadequate terminal facilities, and added:

"The present systems of regulation are entirely adequate to protect the public against exorbitant rates, but are not adequate to insure to the public sufficient facilities for its present and future requirements."

POSTPONE SANTA FE CASE

Kansas City, Nov. 23.—Council in conference over the Adamson law cases to-day agreed to request that the Santa Fe case scheduled to come up in the United States District Court in Kansas City, Kansas, be postponed until to-morrow.

The conference, it was stated authoritatively was as to whether the record of the case of Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf, appealed to the Supreme Court yesterday could be made to cover the problems of all railroads and whether one or two additional test cases should be brought.

Judge Pollock agreed to the postponement.

SEEK AGREEMENT

Washington, Nov. 23.—Railroad lawyers and Attorney General Gregory continued to-day their conferences in an attempt to agree on one suit, involving test of the Adamson act, to press for early consideration by the Supreme Court. The delay in reaching an agreement arose mainly, it is believed, from the desire of the railroad representatives to pick from the many cases pending in federal courts one covering typical conditions faced by all roads.

CONFER WITH EXECUTIVES

New York, Nov. 23.—The Adamson Law Commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate the operations of the act, held its first meeting here to-day and conferred with more than a dozen railroad executives for the announced purpose of discussing with them informally the methods to be used in the investigation. The commission will hold a similar conference with the heads of the railroad brotherhoods at a later date.

was operating in the Orsova region yet remains in doubt as does the extent to which the Russo-Rumanian forces in the Jul Valley were able to withstand the swift southward thrust of Von Falkenhayn's troops.

Destroying Supplies

Indications of the abandonment by the Rumanians of a large section of Western Wallachia may be found in to-day's announcement by the Bulgarian war office. It reports the destruction by Rumanian forces of the bridge over the Danube near Corabia, 50 miles southeast of Craiova; the firing of stores of ammunition there and the sinking by the Rumanians of their barges in the Danube, presumably in the region indicated.

So far it appears that the entente forces which captured Monastir have not been able to press their advance beyond the new line taken up by the Bulgarians and Germans a short distance north of the city. Sofia records the repulse of entente attacks in the bend of the Cerna and further eastward and the stopping of advanced guards which were pushing forward in the regions of lakes Presba and Ocrida, to the west.
Only artillery and aviation operations along the Somme in Northern France and elsewhere on the Franco-Belgian front are reported in to-day's bulletins from London and Paris.
The British Admiralty to-day confirmed press advices that there were no wounded on board the British hospital ship Britannic when she sunk in the Aegean. Those on the vessel were her crew and the hospital staff.
Rumania Admits Defeat
A Bucharest official statement to-day, the first received since Sunday last, reports the withdrawal of the Rumanians from the Jul valley, but throws little further light on the situation around Craiova. The Rumanians are reported to have maintained their positions in the Alt valley.
Berlin's statement to-day announces the situation in Wallachia unchanged.
The arrival of Russian reinforcements on the eastern Transylvanian front is reported.
The appearance of the words "front of Archduke Joseph" in the German headquarters statement indicates that command of the Austro-German forces on the Transylvanian front has been changed on the assumption of the throne of Austria-Hungary by Archduke Charles Francis, who has been commander on that front. The Archduke Joseph, highest in army rank is Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, who has been commander of the fourth army.
