Deaths and Funerals

EDMUND J. MILLER, UNDERTAKER, IS DEAD A cold contracted about a week ago resulted in the death of Edmund J. Miller, a well-known local undertaker, 560 Race street about 1 o'clock this morning. Mr. Miller was born in Milton, Pa., and came to this city about thirty years ago, being first employed in the planing mill of Hancock and Brother. Twenty-two years ago he entered the undertaking business in which he was engaged until the time of his death. He is survived by his wife, and one son, Paul. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

JOHN J. THORPE BURIED

Funeral services for John J. Thorpe, former international vice-president of the street carmen's union, and organizer of the local street car employees in July, were held this afternoon at Pittsburgh. Burial was made at 3:30 o'clock when every workman and conductor on the cars there stood bareheaded for half a minute. Organizer Thorpe although only in this city a short time became widely known during the trolley men's strike and made many addresses championing their cause. Other officials of the national street carmen's organization attended the funeral.

CHARLES BENTZEL

Funeral services for Charles Bentzel, a retired U. S. A. man, will be held from the residence of his niece, Mrs. H. B. Wilson, 934 North Second street, this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. E. N. Kremer, assisted by Dr. Lewis S. Mudge will have charge of the service. Undertaker Neely will take the body to Newport Saturday morning where burial will be made. Mr. Bentzel is survived by his wife, one daughter, Estelle, of Baltimore, a brother, Dr. E. E. Bentzel of Philadelphia, and five nieces of this city, Mrs. H. B. Wilson, Mrs. Joseph Armento, Misses Hatfield, Flora and Edith Bentzel.

DAVID YOST

David Yost, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yost, died yesterday afternoon at his home after a few hours' illness. Funeral services will be held from the home, 147 Sylvan Terrace, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. H. W. A. Hanson, pastor of the Messiah Lutheran Church will have charge of the services. The body will be taken to the home of Mr. Yost's parents at Stewartstown tomorrow morning where further services will be held and burial will be made.

FUNERAL OF LITTLE GIRL

The funeral of Gertrude Elizabeth McLanachan, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McLanachan, 409 South Seventh street, who died Wednesday morning of diphtheria, was held this morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. D. J. Carey, rector of the St. Francis' Roman Catholic Church, officiated. Burial was made in the Mt. Calvary cemetery. Dozens of floral tributes were received from the playmates of the little girl.

LEG BROKEN

While at work at the Pipe Bending Works, John McCracken, 1230 North Seventh street, had his leg broken above the knee. The injured man was removed to the Harrisburg Hospital.

The New Store of Wm. Strouse

Thanksgiving and the New Store

Your Thanksgiving will be just a little more joyous if you are wearing a New Store Overcoat

Every single day The New Store of Wm. Strouse receives a fresh shipment of overcoats—and still can't procure enough—for as fast as they come into the store—out they go on the back of a well satisfied customer. We honestly believe that Wm. Strouse has sold more overcoats during November than any other store—and isn't that the kind of store at which you want to purchase your clothes.

"The New Store has the finest selection of overcoats in the city", is the expression heard often by our customers—Every style too—from the ultra stylish Biltmore sown in the illustration to the conservative coat for men of more mature years—and each style is to be had in many different fabrics.

And those beautiful Pinch-Back Suits of Cheviot, Unfinished Worsted or Flannel—they're just as handsome as it's possible to make clothing—perfectly-fitting garment that will give you just the effect you've wanted so long to have.

They're chic Mackinaws, too, that make you want to get out and enjoy the out o' doors—comfortable House Coats or Bath Robes that are just the thing for the finest kind of a Christmas present.

ASKS $5,000 FOR UNKIND WORDS SAID ABOUT HER

Twelve of Dauphin's good men and true to-day had to determine whether or not there was any slanderous stuff in the words that Mrs. Lizzie Baer and Mrs. Cora M. Atticks exchanged over the fence in a neighborly altercation more than a year ago. According to Mrs. Atticks, Mrs. Baer slurringly referred to the former as a "woman who painted and powdered and then went down town to catch a man as soon as her husband's back was turned, and that he (the husband), poor fool, was soft enough to stand for it. As soon as he left the house other men came in the front door and left by the back door." All of which was made not directly to Mrs. Atticks, but to her husband. And now Mrs. Atticks wants $5,000 damages.

On the witness stand in her own defense Mrs. Baer said she was "angrier than she had ever been in her life before" when she made the slanderous statements. Mrs. Atticks, she said, had reported her son to the police for playing ball.

The biggest single verdict that has been won in a common pleas court in several years was awarded by the jury to-day to G. H. and Anna B. Albright against the Harrisburg Railways Company for injuries Mrs. Albright received when she stepped from a moving trolley car. Albright was awarded $563 and his wife $6,000.
