REVIEW OF MAJESTIC BILL

Varied Bill of Novelty, Song and Acrobatics That Is Clean and Clever

Vaudeville lovers should have no

Vaudeville lovers should have no complaint this last half week with the bill offered at the Majestic, for it most favorably compares with the best that has been seen there for a long time. All told the bill is clever, clean, well-balanced and entertaining.

Walsh and Bentley do some really good balancing and gymnastic work; Holden and Harron in "Hello Fred." keep laughter running at a high pitch. And by the way, Holden has a tenor voice a day, and see if it does not quickly recided water to close the pores. Do this regularly, cole water to close the pores. Do this regularly, cole water to close the pores. Do this regularly, cole and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvery. Resinol Soap and Resinol Chintenty and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvery. Resinol Soap and Resinol Chintenty and the pores, leasn the tendency and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvery. Resinol Soap and Resinol Chintenty and the pores, leasn the tendency and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvery. Resinol Soap and Resinol Chintenty and the pores, leasn the tendency and the previous times. Will Ward and Girls do some excellent plano work, and there's on Miss who sings a charming soprano, and another who ranks high in the contraito voice. A little nonsense (apparently that's the object) is injected into an encore which doesn't fit the act at all. Fenton and Green in "Magic Pills," use sleight-oft-hand for a background of an act that brims over the edges with that ridiculous good humor—that side-splitting "silly stuff" that but one person in dozens has the ability to and there's one Miss who sings a clever bit of eccentric dancing. The Elmira Trio does wire-walking of high order with several good noveltles. And, by the way, there's a distinctive manner of dress given to the girls of the act which is a step in the right direction.

Men's $16.50 $13.75 Suits at . . .

This Is the Livest Kind of Men's Clothing News Anyway You Look at It!

Looked at from any angle---the best clothing, great saving, immense quantity---this promises to be a record-breaking sale of suits and overcoats---even among Bowman achievements.

And this is the time and Bowman's the place to buy Clothing.

It's wonderful to see such low prices at this period of the season--right at the proper time -- just when the colder weather is about to commence.

The First Thing You Men Will Say--or Think---Is, "HOW CAN THEY DO IT?"

It would'nt happen under ordinary conditions; we are simply unloading a part of our heavy stocks.

> It's a real clothing sale, with a choice from rich materials, distinctive styles---Suits and overcoats of the highest character---presenting a sensational saving-opportunity.

THE OVERCOATS come in fancy mixtures and plain colors--all the snappy models as well as the conservative styles--any weight you wish--medium and heavy--all sizes.

THE SUITS come in fancy cassimeres, worsteds and silk mixtures--a great variety of patterns and models--a good fit for men of all proportions--all sizes.

Now Then--Come and Buy!!

ANOTHER HOSPITAL SHIP IS SENT TO THE BOTTOM

[Continued From First Page] 24 (delayed).—All of the nurses on the Britannic were saved as far as is known. Those who were drowned were stokers and engineers.

MINE SUNK BRITANNIC

MINE SUNK BRITANNIC

New York, Nov. 24. — The offices of the White Star Line have been advised by the British Admiraty that the Britannic was sunk by a mine. Officials stated that the following massage had been received from London: "Regret exceedingly to Inform you Britannic sunk by mine Aegean sea. Loss of life not exceeding iffty."

Athens, Nov. 22. (delayed).—All inquiries lead to the belief two German submarines were lying in wait for the Britannic in the narrow seas by the island of Kea. The Britannic was attacked from both sides at once, each of submarines launching a torpedo. One of them missed its mark, but the other inflicted a fatal blow on the ship.

The submarine commanders must have known that the vessel was going north, and this fact would tell them that she carried only the usual crew and a complement of doctors, nurses and R. A. M. C. men, about 1,200 in all. The Britannic was going to Mudros, the port of Memnos in the center of the Aegean, to take aboard sick and wounded.

One survivor tells me that the order aboard when she struck was perfect. Thirty to forty of the crew were wounded by the explosion. The nurses, with officers and men of R. A. M. C., lined up on the deck.

It was impossible to launch all the boats, although many got away. Several survivors dropped into the sea with lifebelts on. Women, of course, were saved first. They all behaved quite coolly. Wireless messages were sent in all directions for help and a number of allied vessels, destroyers and mine sweepers, quickly arrived. Thank Survivor Again Saved One of the stewardesses was aboard the Titanic when that other huge liner went to her doom. She told me the terrible story of the launching of the first two of the Britannic's boats near the screw out of water whirring round in the air. Two leaded boats were sucked toward the sinking vessels and smashed like matchwood by the propeller. Many were killed outright and others received terrible more day left in the ten day campaign the Young Men's Christian Association, which is trying to get 30, 600 new members for the railroad department of the organization, has now a total of 29,102 enrolled, according to announcement to-day. Yesterday's registrations were 2,819.

TAPPED WINE CELLAR
Charged with making a regular pracemore day left in the ten day campaign the wine cellar of Lewis Baturin, wholesale liquor dealer at 600 state street, Charles Smith, colored, was held under $500 bail for the January term of court. Baturin claimed that Smith had a key to the cellar and a total of 29,102 enrolled, according to announcement to-day. Yesterday's registrations were 2,819.
