So great is the demand to seen Bern-hardt at the Orpheum Theater, Wed-nesday evening, in this, possibly composite Bill in this, possibly her final appear-ance in America, that the great artist has chosen to pre-sent single acts from different plays from her enormous repertoire so that her admirers may claim to have seen her, not alone in one character, but in several. The program chosen for her engagement are scenes from 'The False Model,' English As It Is Spoken.' ''Cleopatra,' and, a piece called 'The Field of Honor.'' Camille' is one of the most popular pieces in her reper-toire. The Field of Honor'' has an es-pocial appeal in these militant times, and the increpid spirit, the idealistic tapperament of this heroine is peculi-arly suited to the Bernhardt tempera-ment.

Albert Spalding, the famous Ameri-can violinist, who delighted the music lovers of this city last sea-bours of this city last sea-son, will again be heard at whether and the son will again be heard at son, will again be heard at the commenting on Mr. Spalding's an commentation of the spale space of his concert as one of the mist cal delights of the entire season. He will again be assisted by Loretta Del Valle, the brilling young American grand opera prima donna, who, on her first visit to this city gcored a success second only to that of Mr. Spalding. Since her appearance here she has been a feature at many of the high class musicales at the Waldorf-Astoria, Hotel Plaza, Sherry's Salon, Lady Duff Gor-don's and many other notable musical functions. She has also scored a not-able triumph as soloist with the Civic Orchestra at Madison Square Garden during the past summer, where she ap-peared before over 5,000 people. Andre Benoist, the eminent French planist, will again be accompanist for both artists.

The exceptional cast, the catchy tunes of Irving Berlin the famous New York heauty chorus, and the "Stop: magnificent production, all Look: combine to make that new "Stop! Look! Listen!" which is the treat promised to Harrisburg thea-tergoers for one day, next Saturday, at the Orpheum. The hit of the season, "Stop! Look! Listen!" is a clean, quick-moving entertainment, admirably staged and mounted—it is good fun. good tunes, and above all, good duncing.

Continuing his personally-conducted visit to our neighbors in the North, Mr. Holmes in his audience, to-the Canadian Rockies night at the Or-pheum to enjoy with him the marvelous beauties and awe-inspiring grandeur of the Canadian Rockies.

with him the marvelous beauties and awe-nspiring grandeur of the Canadian Rockies. By his motion pictures and his su-peroly colored lantern views, he brings to the stay-at-homes all the beauties of scenery and all the incidents of inter-est which he and his feilow-travelors enjoyed in his recent wanderings. "Rubeville," described as a "melange of rural mirth and melody," is the head-line atternation at the Mat at Majestic Thrise to be week. This act is being pre-sented by B. A. Rolfe, and hig pre-alone attached to a vaudeville produc-tion is enough to assure the theater-going public that it is something worth while. Mr. Rolfe's "Rubeville" is rich in good comedy, and during the action of the piece some excellent singing is in-troduced. An added attraction on the bill is Archie Gilson and Eleanor De Mott' in a neat litle song and patter skit entitled, "Names Don't Count." Completing the bill are Archie and Ger-tie Falls, in a comedy bump act; June Mills and Company, in a comedy sur-prise offering, and Espe and Dutton, clever comedy entertainers.

Once upon a time a little girl ran away from an orphanage. She ran as far and as fast as she "The Ragged could, until she reached Princess" what she thought was at Colonial the end of the world. because it was the end, but because there was a man standing in her way. Charming love the man. This is the background to the exciting "Larged Princess," booked to appear at the Colo-nial Theater to-day and to-morrow. June Caprice, the preity little miss, who was liked so well in "Caprice of the Mountains," and Harry Hilliard will be seen in the leading roles.
