Governor COMES OUT FOR COX

Brumbaugh For Philadelphia Man For Speaker, He Announces

Governor Brumbaugh who has declared for Representative Edwin R. Cox of Philadelphia, for Speaker, says he is for him because he stands for what he has fought.

In his statement the Governor says: "My chief concern is to see a Speaker elected who will expedite the necessary business of the Legislature, thus securing a short session, and who will promote and protect advanced humane legislation, conserve our great natural resources, encourage our great industries, and, in particular, stand squarely for legislation that is manifestly in the interest of the whole people of Pennsylvania."

In conference with many good citizens and with a large group of members-elect to the House from rural communities, from Allegheny and from Philadelphia, it is clearly manifest that there should be no factional struggle allowed to enter into the serious business of the approaching session. It is also manifest that the Speaker to be chosen must have had a record of uprightness in legislation and of consistent advocacy of all measures that have won the sympathy and support of the people who love the Commonwealth and who want only such legislation as will advance its prestige and add to the peace, safety and happiness of its people.

"Mr. Cox has such a record. He is a man of integrity, courage and initiative, whose record in four sessions of the Legislature will bear the closest scrutiny. Moreover, he is perfectly fair and will conduct the business of this office with capacity and impartial justice. He took in hand the Child Labor law in the session of 1915 and, opposing the Legislature to amend and destroy it, he carried it successfully to its enactment. This is the most humane piece of legislation in the interest of children ever enacted.

"He resolutely supported the seven separate acts that gave us the Workmen's Compensation Law, admittedly the finest act of industrial justice ever enacted by any State. He championed the Anti-Loan Shark Bill which has been upheld by the courts and which prevents money lenders from exacting exorbitant rates from needy borrowers. He was active and earnest in his support of the Wilson Cold Storage Act, which guarantees pure food to our millions of people. He was right on all legislation affecting women who toil and on the Housing Code for Philadelphia. He unhesitatingly gave his vote and support to the Local Option Act introduced by Representative Williams, and was at all times the consistent advocate and supporter of right things in legislation.

"He was chairman of the Committee on Manufactures, a member of the Appropriation Committee. His record in both committees is wholly to his credit. He is also a member of the Senate's Commission on the Commonwealth. I can see no flaw in his record and believe that it will be in the interests of harmony, justice and humanity to have him chosen Speaker."

To Tell of Poland's Needs at Lecture December 5

In the Technical High School Auditorium December 5 at 8 o'clock Miss Henrietta Ely of Philadelphia, will describe her experiences along the battle front, and will also tell of the sights witnessed as she accompanied the party through Austria and Germany on the Polish front.

One hundred Polish dolls, made by maimed Polish soldiers, who will never regain their normal state of health, will be sold by the committee in charge of the lecture, the proceeds being divided, one-third to the soldiers and the remainder to buy milk for the starving Polish children and babies.

IF YOU WANT TO MAKE MONEY READ THIS

The Woman's Home Companion has many helpful hints for women who wish to make some spare change. In the December issue, this passage is printed:

"If only had the money, how many times have you said just that when looking over your own Christmas list of the gifts you want to give your 'dear folks.' But why worry and spoil your Christmas this year because you haven't enough money, when our big helpful Pin-Money Club, the Companion's money-making department for girls and women is ready and willing to help you make the money you need, whether it be $10 or $100? Christmas is but a few weeks off, yet there is still time for you to make more than enough money in our wonderful Club to carry out your plans.

"Do you know very much about this Club of ours here in the Companion? Each month in our page in the magazine we tell a little something of our doings; how there are more than ten thousand of us who are earning not merely pin-money, but sometimes as much as living money in the Club, not only at Christmas, but every month in the year; how married members and single, old and young, business girls and teachers, stay-at-homes, who never before made a penny in all their lives, succeed equally well at earning crisp checks and bright silver dollars."

SOLDIER'S VOTE DELAYS RETURN

Lone Representative of Adams County Now on Border Duty With Governor's Troop

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—Return of the vote of Adams county was held up by the State Department at Harrisburg because the ballot of the county's lone soldier voter had not been tabulated. The soldier is Luther R. Sandoe, of Biglerville, a private in the Governor's Troop, of Harrisburg, now Troop C, First Pennsylvania Cavalry, United States National Guard, with which he is serving in the Seventh (Pennsylvania) Division at Samp Stewart, El Paso, Texas.

RECOMMENDS POTATO BREAD TO AMERICAN HOUSEWIVES

Potato bread is not alone a ration for the war-stricken peoples but also a very pleasing and nourishing food which any American housewife can prepare by using a receipt made up by the Department of Agriculture. It calls for 3 lbs. of boiled and mashed potatoes and 2 1/2 lb. of wheat flour. Bread made with these materials has a rich brown crust, an appetizing odor, a very agreeable taste, and will keep fresh several days longer than ordinary bread. From the December Popular Mechanics Magazine.

GOOD ADVICE

"A minister was questioning his Sunday school concerning the story of Eutychus, the young man who, listening to the preaching of the Apostle Paul, fell asleep, and falling out of a window, was taken up dead.

"What," he asked, "do we learn from this solemn thought?"

The reply from a little girl came: "Please, sir, ministers should learn not to preach too long sermons."—Tit-Bits.

LOVE, FRIENDSHIP PLUS FLOWERS

Most of Tragedies of Marriage Due to Weak Foundations

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"Love is friendship plus flowers and well."

Several weeks ago I wrote an article on this subject. One of my readers, a member of the medical profession, has written me so safely and sincerely in reply to my article that I want to quote from his letter and again to point out some of the qualities which make for love, which shall be lasting and worth while.

All of us remember the beautiful lines from the Psalms, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

Nothing that is built on foundations of sand can last when the storms of life beat upon it. A love that is not based on strong foundations cannot weather time and stress.

Most of the tragedies of marriage are due to weak foundations. When the builders of life hurry too fast and do not test the foundation on which they build, they practically invite failure.

My correspondent, J. J. W., says in part: "The love that lasts is the love of the minds and souls of men and women whose thoughts run on parallel lines, whose aims and objects in life are co-operative and whose characters are compatible. A love that fades is a love based on jealousy, on appreciation of things that are only of a temporary nature and on a combination of two objects whose very atoms lack the property of union."

Sure and Sensible

Doesn't this sound sane and sensible? A wild flare of feeling—a temporary infatuation, an attraction that can be analyzed into the fact that some little trick of personality appeals to you, which to base a life partnership, is it?

Youth plunges headlong into infatuations which it imagines are going to be permanent—and youth lets impulse and instinct and a desire for companionship and sympathy mortgage its whole future.

If friendship has to be based on congeniality—and all of us know that it has—how much more must a lifelong friendship have congeniality on which to build? Marriage cannot be a success unless in addition to love (in its generally accepted meaning) it has a foundation of honest liking, wholesome respect, mutual interest and broad toleration of points of difference.

As a matter of fact love in its generally accepted sense isn't love at all! Real love ought to include these qualities of liking and understanding and respect.

When a man and woman are not congenial, when they do not enjoy discussing such impersonal things as politics and current events, when they do not respect each other's dork and ambitions, they have no right to marry. Marriage is a life partnership.

Love is a wonderful big thing—not a series of selfish demands on the beloved's personality and time, but a series of unselfish adjustments to the beloved's personality and time. Real love gives, while infatuation asks. Real love seeks understanding, while the love of the moment demands that it be understood.

The Real Love

Not on shifting uncertainties, not on petty trivialities and not on turbulent emotion can you build a real love. Instead, it has to be based on Life's big realities, which are honest and stable and for all time.

Marriage must be a mating of souls which are in tune and of minds which understand. The physical can be sacred and beautiful only when the mental and the spiritual give it life and color and poetry. The love that lasts thinks and aspires and understands in addition to feeling.
