CUT OUT MEATS IF KIDNEYS ARE TROUBLING YOU

Uric Acid in meat excites Kidneys and Irritates the Bladder.

Noted Authority says we must flush Kidneys with Salts if Back hurts.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble. The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

JITNEURS SHOW FOR CITY HAULS

Association Submits Its Ideas For Regulation; Consideration Tuesday

What the jitneurs, present and future, consider suitable regulations to govern the operation of the cars were submitted for Council's consideration at last evening's session and the City Commissioners will likely pass upon them at Tuesday's meeting.

Certification of the official vote on the jitney amendment last evening placed the initiative measure into effect, although it will not become actually operative until the new regulations are approved by the Police Department. The rules were submitted by a committee of the Harrisburg Jitneurs' Indemnity Association, consisting of E. C. Patterson, T. S. Troy and E. C. Hicks.

Drivers and cars must bear identification mark; operators must be sober, of good character, competent drivers and able to repair cars; appearance must be pre-arranged by Police Department.

Finally, jitneys should have a public parking place, preferably in Market Square, if possible, and parking in front of stores may be permitted for ten minutes if the cars do not park within 100 feet of each other.

REAL ESTATE RIVERSIDE UP TO COUNCIL TUESDAY

Council Wants Information as to Assessments, Taxes For Annexation

Before City Council considers further the question of the annexation of Riverside, the commissioners will want to examine the assessments, look into valuations and weigh the possible returns in the way of taxation that the city can expect.

The information, it is expected will be submitted by Charles L. Smith and Thomas F. Burns, two of the biggest annexation boosters at Council's meeting next Tuesday.

Following the meeting the commissioners generally were a trifle dubious as to how the funds can be provided for the purchase of the $10,000 worth of sewer piping which the city will have to buy. Incidentally the question of electric lighting is a problem as the suburbanites want street lights by January 1 and there is no money available for that purpose now.

Following the meeting the commissioners met as a board of tax revision and appeals and examined a few accounts which City Assessor James C. Thompson submitted. The commissioners also selected Fox and Geyer, attorneys, to submit the city's request December 18 to the Public Service Commission for permission to build the new Walnut street bridge across the Pennsy tracks at Walnut street.

HOW TO CUT DOWN HIGH LIVING COSTS

tomato. Be sure to add a small pinch soda to prevent the milk curdling. These cream soups can be made from a small quantity of any vegetable. They are also delicious with a little cold cooked fish, such as halibut or cod from the basin.

Meat Pot Pie Cut the remains of the roast into small pieces and mix with a little onion and potatoes and the left-over gravy and bones for seasoning. Boil until the meat loosens from the bones. Thicken slightly and pour into a deep baking dish in the center of which stands an inverted egg cup. This is to prevent the crust from sagging. Cover with a good plain pie crust and set in the oven until firm and crisp.

Monday Stew Break in half the cold tea biscuit left from the night before. Boil in meat, onions, potatoes and gravy prepared as for meat pot pie.

Baked Rice Wash, boil and drain one cup of rice. Add half a dish of left-over tomatoes or any other nonstarchy vegetable you may have on hand. Moisten with milk, season with pepper, salt and grated cheese. Bake until firm.

Macedone of Vegetables Certain vegetables combine well enough to serve on the same dish. For example, a small portion each of boiled carrots and peas heated together and dressed with a cream sauce is a delightful luncheon dish. Also lima beans and corn. Stewed tomatoes, chopped onions and bits of stale bread broken up, well moistened with water and baked in another. Stewed corn and creamed cauliflower work in together.

Vegetable Salad Too many cook books call for vegetable salads for me to make special mention of them here except to say that a saucer of cold peas sprinkled over lettuce, string beans chopped fine, raw onions sliced, the shredded end of a cabbage head, the minced ends of asparagus or celery each unit with French dressing to change the plate of plain lettuce into an odd and tasty bit.

The Meat Chopper But what can be done with one chop or an end of steak too small to serve you ask? Why, it can form the basis of the relish dish for luncheon. Put the meat through the chopper. Add onion and cold boiled rice or onion and cold stewed tomatoes thickened with stale bread. Fill green peppers with the combination and bake. If peppers are hard to find, put into individual ramakins, sprinkle with cheese and bake. Meat gravy should never be thrown away. It makes what chefs call stock and adds flavor to any combination of left-over meat and vegetables. In the absence of gravy, a bouillon cube will help out.

Egg Combinations Their name is legion. Two eggs scrambled with a little milk and a cupful of left-over vegetables make a breakfast dish for four. Several hard-boiled eggs chopped and added to a little meat stew makes it go further and adds a delicious flavor. One-quarter of a pound of grated cheese added to a quart of milk and two beaten eggs results in the cheese soufflee served in cafes.

Left-Over Cereals One-quarter cold boiled breakfast food to three-quarters hamburger steak will make meat balls that will stick together so they may be fried. Also with milk and a beaten egg added it will make splendid batter for pancakes used in place of half or more of the flour needed.

Crusts from Sandwiches Seem an almost hopeless waste except as crumbs until I discovered that they could be cut into short strips, dipped in batter and fried and served with a cream gravy.

Miss Teiper Gives Her Testimony in Trial of Brother For Murder

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 2.—The testimony of Miss Grace J. Teiper, sister of John Edward Teiper, accused of the murder of his mother and brother, was taken at her home to-day. The proceedings were equivalent to the appearance of Miss Teiper on the witness stand. The prisoner, in charge of Sheriff Stengel, lawyers for the defense and District Attorney Moore were present. Her answers to questions were taken by a court stenographer and will be read to the jury in Justice Charles B. Wheeler's court Monday.

Justice Wheeler announced at the close of proceedings on Friday that both sides had agreed that Miss Teiper's mind is a blank in regard to the Orchard Park road tragedy. Her testimony to-day, it is understood, related to the friendly relations that existed between the accused brother and the dead mother and brother, Frederick.

Miss Teiper also had an intimate knowledge of the financial affairs of the family and was said to be prepared to testify that no friction existed over money matters.
