MAKE COMPLAINTS ABOUT SPEEDING

Residents Ask Burgess to Stop Autoists Using Street as "Speedway"

Burgess Willfield will make an urgent appeal to council in regular session Monday night to pass an ordinance regulating the speed for automobiles and all vehicles, following many complaints by businessmen and pedestrians of autoists speeding through the borough.

There have been many complaints against operators of street cars for not sounding their bells at intersections. Many businessmen also complain that in several instances the operators of cars have not had their cars under control while passing street intersections and declare that they exceed the speed limit in many instances.

Complete Plans For Malta Reunion to Be Held Monday

CENSORS DELETE MANY FILM REELS

State Board Will Not Stand For Productions of Various Sorts Nowadays

Films showing safe crackers at work, tramps stealing watches from unsuspecting men, and other scenes of crime and lawlessness are being eliminated from the movies in Pennsylvania, according to a bulletin issued to-day by the State Board of Censors for the guidance of people in the moving-picture business. In a long list of films presented by name, some of them thrillers with heroines tied to tracks, the productions are forbidden.

Scores of films in series are enumerated as condemned, including some sixty on the subject of white slavery, and twenty-five Mexican films whose manufacturers the censors have been unable to locate. Prize fighting films have also been put under the ban. In the bulletin the board cautions exhibitors against showing films unless they bear the stamp of the censor.

More than 1,000 films have been granted letters patent by the State of Pennsylvania since June 1, according to the records of the Department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. This is the largest number ever granted in a similar period in years and the aggregate of the capital stock authorized is estimated at $1,000,000. Some of the associations have $2,000,000 or $5,000,000 stock authorized and only have a dozen been chartered with less than $1,000,000. In addition over a dozen increases, each carrying over $1,000,000, have been certified by associations. Nine-tenths of the new associations were chartered for Philadelphia.

Our Alfalfa.—Pennsylvania has come to the front as one of the chief raisers of alfalfa in the East, although the production is only a small portion of the hay crop. This year it is estimated that the alfalfa crop was 136,500 tons, the highest yet produced.

Buller Hard Put.—Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller is having his own troubles with the inspection of the streams to check up on stream pollution. Mr. Buller has had nine wardens on his active list. The Legislature authorized thirty, but when the lawmakers and the Governor got through with his appropriation bills he had only money to pay about one-third of what the law allowed him.

Since last December these men have been spotting stream pollution and have reported some of the biggest tanneries and other establishments in the state, the act against stream pollution, the law makers and the Governor got through with his appropriation bills he had only money to pay about one-third of what the law allowed him.

Commissioner J. Denny O'Neil is in Pittsburgh looking up the Allegheny county ends of the Pension Mutual Life Insurance Company which will return here early on Monday morning, going to Philadelphia at noon to meet people at his office and to attend a dinner. He will return to Harrisburg either Tuesday or Wednesday and go over details for the insurance hearings with deputy attorneys general.

State insurance officials in commenting upon the opinion given yesterday by the Attorney General Kun to State Treasurer Young regarding withdrawal of securities filed by insurance companies said that it has been asked by the Treasurer for his opinion on the matter while they thought it was probably inspired by recent developments, they had no information on the subject.

Mr. Young, who is under contract to always been very cautious in regard to matters in his care and it is not unusual for him to ask advice of the legal department. As custodian of the securities he is under contract to insurance Department and seems to have asked the opinion on his own hook.

Buller's Birthday.—Commissioner of Fisheries Buller was remembered with flowers yesterday in honor of his birthday. A number of friends sent him messages.

Board to Meet.—The State Board of Education will meet here on December 11, when something will likely be done about the Kutztown school purchase.

To Embolden Magee Idea.—Chairman Robert S. Gawthrop, of the State antitrust price commission, plans to begin work at once upon the preparation of the report to the governor, and unless the present scheme is changed there will be no further hearings. Mr. Gawthrop and the members and officers of the commission spent some time in consultation with Attorney General Brown at the conclusion of the hearing yesterday and it is understood that it was decided that the recommendation of Colesworth Magee for surveys of the Schuylkill and Lehigh waterways as a preliminary to getting lower prices for consumers of anthracite could be incorporated in the report.

That as far as he could see, transportation was the thing which was keeping up the price of coal for Philadelphia. The report will be ready before January 1, but whether it will discuss the return of tax to consumers to any extent is doubtful.

Ten to Hear From.—Eight counties filed their official returns to-day only ten remain to file before the official count of the Pennsylvania vote on November 7 can be started at the Capitol. The counties filing to-day were Allegheny, Berks, York, Mifflin, Clearfield, Beaver and Lebanon.

Pardon Board Date.—The December meeting of the State Board of Pardon was to-day announced for December 20. A respite staying the execution of Julius Alston, Chester, from the week of December 11 to the week of January 15 to permit his case to be considered by the board was issued by the Governor.

State Will Modify.—State Livestock Sanitary Board officials were in communication with the Pennsylvania to-day regarding the outbreak of sickness among western cattle and it is probable that a new order modifying the quarantine will be issued next week.

Lieutenant Named Again.—Adjutant General Stewart to-day announced the reappointment of First Lieutenant Fred S. Swever, Phoenixville, Battery C, First Artillery.

Complaints Filed.—Complaints against the station facilities of the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Harlestown Railroad, operated by the Pennsylvania, at Fredericktown, and against the platform of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad at Westfield, were entered before the Public Service Commission to-day. The Fayette county poor directors entered complaint against the rates of the Uniontown Water Company, charged against the county almshouse.

Local Increase Filed.—The Temperance Development and Agency Commission filed its report to-day of increase of its stock from $5,000 to $50,000.

Complaints of Service.—Crawford Sheaffer has entered complaint before the Public Service Commission against the service of the Chambersburg and Gettysburg Railway Company.

Gives Up Offices.—The Capitol Park Extension Commission has given up its downtown offices in the Kunkel building, which were maintained for convenience of property owners. Yesterday all furniture was turned over to the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings and all business will now be conducted at the main office of the commission, Room No. 302, Capitol Building.

Powell's Band Out.—Auditor General Powell and his band of deer slayers are camped near Carlisle. They opened camp yesterday and are planning to bring some of the best in the forest.

Promises Good Water.—In a statement issued at Philadelphia Commissioner of Health Dixon gives assurance that the city can look for his co-operation in securing an improved water supply.

Premier Six Among the New Models Received Here

The first Premier Aluminum Six was received by L. W. Dill of the Penn Mar Auto Company, but delivery was made immediately and the demonstrator will be here within a week or two. A feature of the Premier is the automatic gear shift as regular equipment.

It has been recognized that, after the perfection of the electric starter, the next advance would be in the direction of having gear shift elimination but just who would first make the change remained to be seen.

The fact that the Premier Motor Corporation was in position to pioneer the magnetic gear shift, will, in the opinion of sales experts, be a deciding factor in the success of the new organization.

The Premier Gear Shift is the product of the Cutler-Hammer Company of Milwaukee, and is said to be absolutely dependable and to perform its work without fail and under all road conditions. The Premier back the device with an iron clad positive guarantee, and this guarantee is augmented by an equally positive guarantee on the part of the Cutler-Hammer Company.

The device does away completely with the hand gear shift lever. On the steering column a neat row of push buttons gives the driver command of any gear he may desire at an instant's notice. From the standpoint of eye appeal the Premier gear shift is a great improvement, to say nothing of its utility advantage. The Premier factory will build ten thousand cars in 1917 it is said.
