to-day. He will visit the governor at Raleigh.
Want Reports on Coal. — The Auditor General's department to-day complied with a request of the State Anthracite Coal Price probing commission for the reports of production of all coal operators in the State which have been filed at the Capitol. There were about 180 operators who reported, covering part of 1913, all of 1914 and part of 1915 under the act of 3913 and for some production since that time under the act of 1915.
Expense Accounts. — Charles E. Rice, Republican State committee. Certificates that they spent less than $50 were filed by Alfred Guerero, Single Tax candidate for Congress-at-large, and by R. E. Weaver, Alvin Rohrbach and Frank Krotek, Industrialist electors.

 Capitol Visitors. — Among the visi-tors to the Capitol to-day were Rep-resentative W. J. McCaig, of Pitts-burgh, and Chester W. Hill, former collector of the port of Philadelphia.
 O'Neil Ready. — Insurance Com-missioner J. Denny O'Neil, who came here from Pittsburgh this morning to take up departmental matters, will leave for Philadelphia this afternoon.
 'I expect to see Mr, Whitely at 4 o'clock in Philadelphia,' said the com-missioner. Further than that he would not discuss the cases which are set for hearings in the week of the eighteenth.
 No Action on Rates. — Members of the Public Service Commission will be so occupied in hearing applica-tions for approval of various matters and in hearings that they will not be likely to hold an executive session to consider the Philadelphia commuta-tion rates to-day. The executive ses-sion is scheduled for to-morrow.
 Five to Hear From. — Five coun-ties filed their official returns to-day. They were Bradford, Westmoreland, Crawford, Warren and Wayne. Five counties have not filed their returns and the Secretary of the Common-wealth sent inquiries as to the reason for the delay. The official count will be started soon as the missing coun-ties file.
 For Insurance Reform. — As a re-sult of a meeting in Philadelphia Sat-urday of the executive committee of the Philadelphia Life Underwriters' Assoclation, that committee will meet State Insurance Cammissioner J. Den-ny O'Neil during the present week to have the take the initiative to have the next session of the Legislature en-act insurance Laws for Pennsylvania as stringent as those now in force in New York, Massachusetts and Connec-ticut.
