TO PRESENT FLAG TO CAMP CURTIN

Civil War Veterans and Soldiers of Other Wars to Attend Service

Civil War veterans, Sons of Veterans and veterans of the Spanish and foreign wars will be guests of the Camp Curtin Memorial Methodist Church tonight at patriotic services to be held in connection with the dedication of the new $60,000 edifice erected as a monument to Camp Curtin of Civil War days where 300,000 men were mustered into the service of the Union. The veterans will march to the church at Sixth and Wharton streets in a body.

The G. A. R. posts will present an American flag to the church, the presentation speech to be made by Colonel H. C. Denning. David Cutler will accept the flag on behalf of the congregation.

Professor Leon C. Prince, who holds the chair of history at Dickinson College, Carlisle, will make the address of the evening, reviewing the stirring scenes of fifty years ago when the great tented city stood where now stands the Camp Curtin Church. Miss Estelle Butler will sing "We are Camping To-night."

Following the exercises the Civil War veterans will be given a "hearty soup" mess in the social rooms of the church.

Ministers from the western end of the city extended the congratulations of their congregations to the Camp Curtin folk in a "community night" service.

News at a Glance

St. Johns, N. F.—The Colonial government permitted the German submarine in the Atlantic had resulted in the canceling of the dispatch of a draft of recruits for the New Foundland regiment which had been planned for the last week in November. Regulations regarding measures for coast defense have been reimposed.

London.—Bitter feeling against conscription was manifested among delegates to the Australian interstate labor conference, a Reuter dispatch from Melbourne reports.

Amsterdam.—Premier Radoslawoff of Bulgaria has announced that Sofia will follow the example of her allies and mobilize labor for the production of munitions, according to a dispatch to the Berlin Mittag Zeitung.

London.—The progressive party in the Duma is continuing attacks on government, according to a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd. The dispatch says that after a lively debate on a statement issued by the administration regarding cabinet changes, the progressives moved a resolution to the effect that as the reconstruction of the cabinet is incomplete and consists rather of a change in individuals than in a change of administration, the Duma declares that irresponsible influences must be removed.

Rio Janeiro.—Extraordinary activity has been noted for several weeks on board the German ship interned here, according to the Journal. Some of the vessels have been receiving provisions and coal and others are clearly being used as a base. According to the Journal there is every indication that the ships are preparing to set out secretly in order to avoid requisition.

Copenhagen.—The delegation from the Danish West Indies, which has been conferring with the parliamentary committee in regard to the proposed sale of the islands to the United States on the eve of their departure, probably will take an opportunity to deal with a motion presented by the Socialists urging the government to take advantage of the disposition to meet the wishes of the United States and to see if it is possible to find a way to end the war.

St. Louis.—The third quadrennial convention of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America opened here to-day. Approximately 500 delegates, representing 18,000,000 communicants of thirty protestant denominations are attending.

Washington.—William J. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan were luncheon guests to-day at the White House and tonight Mr. Bryan is to be the honor guest at a dinner given by many Democratic admirers. It is expected they may make some statement of his intention to devote the next few years to the cause of national prohibition.

Baltimore.—The condition of Foxhall K. White, the widely known sportsman of New York who was seriously injured yesterday while riding in the annual hunt meeting at the Harford Hunt Club near Farmington, Md., was reported to be unchanged to-day.

200 Children to Sing at Evangelistic Services

A booster chorus including more than 200 children will sing at the evangelistic services on Friday evening in the Stevens Memorial Methodist Church when Dr. "Billy" LaMance closes the second week of his campaign in Allison Hill. Mrs. Landence is training the boys and girls during the week. Following a program by the children the campaign chorus will sing.

Dr. LaMance will speak to-night on "Excuses." Last night the church auditorium was crowded and a record attendance is expected at the last three meetings this week. On Sunday afternoon a mass meeting for men will be held at 3:30 o'clock in Stevens Memorial Church, and a mass meeting for women will be held at the same time in another church in the vicinity.

FIRE DESTROYS BUILDING
Fire last evening destroyed a two-story frame building at Italian's Park, near Hoffman's Woods. A call was sent to the Camp Curtin Fire Company about 30 o'clock. The building was not occupied.

BIGELOW, JUST APPOINTED DIES.

The day after his appointment he was forced to go to a hospital. Complications developed and he failed to rally.

Mr. Bigelow was one of the ablest and most misrepresented men in the State service in years. He was a native of Pittsburgh, born in that city November 6, 1859, and carefully educated. Early developing marked engineering qualifications, he came to the front in that wonderful industrial community and in 1888 was appointed director of works. He served until 1906 and in that time created Pittsburgh's park system, for which a monument to him was erected; made his highways talked about and did great things for the city for which he was blamed and praised. He was the man who induced Mrs. Schenly to make her notable gifts to the city.

When the Highway Department was reorganized Governor Tener named Mr. Bigelow to take charge on June 1, 1911. What he did for the State highway system will be realized some day when mud throwing is not so popular. He put the state on the nation's highway map and his work was taken up when he resigned early in 1915 by the late Robert J. Cunningham.

AMERICAN SHIP SHELLED AND SUNK

Transportation Company owned the John Lambert, of 1550 tons gross, which was built in 1903 at Chicago. The vessel sailed from Montreal on October 20.

Washington, Dec. 6.—State Department officials had received no reports on the sinking without warning of the American Steamer John Lambert by a German submarine. Steps will be taken to ascertain promptly the facts in the case.

47 Americans on Palermo, Shelled and Torpedoed

Madrid, Dec. 6.—The Italian steamship Palermo, with many Americans on board, has been torpedoed off the Mediterranean coast of Spain.

One sailor, reported to be an American, was wounded by a shell and died in a hospital at Palafrugell, Spain, near which the survivors were landed. Three others were seriously wounded by the torpedo.

New York, Dec. 6.—The Italian steamship Palermo, of 3203 tons gross, left New York November 15 for Genoa and Spezia and was last reported as passing Gibraltar on November 28. She carried no passengers, but had on board forty-seven American horse tenders.

Besides 858 mules and 163 horses, the Palermo carried 1452 cases of trinitrotoluol, a powerful explosive, and tons of munitions and other war supplies, besides general cargo.

Before the war the Palermo was engaged in passenger service between Naples and Palermo and this port. The ship was armed, it was said here at the office of Hartfield, Solari & Co., agents of the Navigazione Generale Italiana, owner of the Palermo. She carried two 3-inch rifles mounted aft.

"These guns," said Mr. Solari, "were carried for defense only."

Believe Palermo Shelled in Attempt to Escape

Washington, Dec. 6.—A brief consular dispatch announcing the sinking of the Italian steamer Palermo with twenty-five Americans aboard, off the Spanish coast, was received yesterday. It gave no details. News dispatches showing that the ship, armed with defense guns and loaded with horses and munitions for the Allies, was shelled before being torpedoed led officials to believe that she had attempted to escape after being warned and thus had lost her immunity from attack.

It was announced at the State Department that Austria-Hungary had been asked to make an investigation of the sinking of the American steamer Chemung in the Mediterranean November 28. The question of whether the vessel carried more than fifty per cent. contraband cargo, justifying in the opinion of some authorities the sinking of a neutral craft which a captor is unable to take into port, apparently is the only point at issue in this case.

BABY QUESTION YOUTH OF EGG

returned to him by his retail patrons.

All of them eventually found a speedy and final resting place in the garbage can. Several witnesses testified as to the undoubted age of the eggs; one or two witnesses went so far as to explain in detail that the period considerably beyond mere egg had been passed; a few bluntly advanced a guess as to the actual age of the young chickens that were discovered when the shells were broken for breakfast. Mrs. Cohen, who was one of Klompus retail patrons, offered the testimony of the baby.

"My man wouldn't eat the egg I'd prepared for him," she declared, "and I ate mine—part of it, that is," she amended, "and then I offered a portion of another egg to the baby. He didn't seem to want it; then I sprinkled it with salt, but he turned up his nose at it. We couldn't even fool the baby."

The trial of Gippel kept a jury and Judge Kunkel engaged in No. 1 courtroom nearly all day. Gippel's name appeared on the trial list as "Dippel" and this led to some delay until the indictment could be amended.

No. 2 courtroom was not without its thrill, too, during the trial of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peffer, Middletown, charged with conducting a disorderly house. The Peffers, according to J. A. Granger, the prosecutor, had frequent "beer parties," used a lot of profanity, gave little attention to the children of the house and otherwise disturbed the neighborhood. On the witness stand Mrs. Peffer flatly denied the allegations. She never called her children "little hell-devils," as had been charged, nor did she use "damn" as a swear word, she added. She admitted that at times she might have said "god-darn." A gray-headed feminine witness contributed the thrill, however, when a witness for the State declared that the old neighbor had said unkind things about Mrs. Peffer. Whereupon the witness rose in her seat, far back in the courtroom:

In other cases disposed of to-day included the following: Newton Rogers, convicted of felonious assault; James Braxton, felonious entry; W. M. Hurst, aggravated assault and battery in driving into another automobile, with jury's recommendation for mercy; Hubert Fagan, convicted of larceny, seven months in jail; Willie Atkins, carrying concealed deadly weapons, $5 fine and five months; Charles H. Jones, brought into court on a capias on charge of assault and battery upon George Foote, was acquitted and the costs were divided. The pair had a "little row," it was testified, because Jones had objected to Foote's carrying the ash can through the Jones parlor.
