

OF INTEREST TO THE WOMEN

A GIRL AND A MAN

A New and Vital Romance of City Life by Virginia Terhune Van Water

CHAPTER LXI. (Copyright, 1916, Star Company.) The few hours of sleep that came to Agnes Morley that night were disturbed by dreams of Philip Hale.

In the intervals of wakefulness she recollected that she had not heard from him since he had left her with the threat against Bainbridge on his lips. With the morning, she dragged herself wearily from her bed, and dressed herself slowly. All energy had left her.

"Sure, ma'am," the maid began, "Whatever do you suppose this is for at this hour of the mornin'?" "It's from Dr. Martin," she explained. "Miss Morley was operated on yesterday afternoon. She is doing very well."

"She caught her breath with a little sob, but no tears came to her eyes. 'You'll be wanting to go to see her, won't you, Miss Agnes?' Jennie asked.

"Yes; soon after breakfast I will," Agnes said. Then she turned back into her own room and shut the door. She felt that she must be alone for a little while before facing even Jennie.

The Paper Not There Perhaps Philip and Bainbridge had quarreled. Perhaps one of them had been hurt. She had good cause, she reflected bitterly, to know that Bainbridge had a violent temper. He was big and powerful.

Then she reminded herself that her aunt was safe. Yes—she was glad this was so. But she wished that she might hear from Phil!

She did not notice Jennie's silence as the girl brought her a cup of coffee and set it down by her. Agnes only glanced about for the morning paper which usually came long before this hour. Jennie saw the look, and spoke before her mistress could question her.

"Your paper's not here, Miss Morley," she stammered.

"Not here yet?" Agnes queried. "That's strange. Have you looked outside the door for it?" "Yes, ma'am, and it's not there," the girl said hurriedly as she left the room.

Down in the bottom of the paper box in the kitchen lay the morning journal where Jennie had thrust it an hour ago. As she went about her work with trembling hands the bold black headline she had seen on the first page repeated itself over and over in her mind.

"Importer Shot. Partner's Son Held For Slaying."

Agnes Eats Little At another time the maid's manner would have arrested Agnes' attention. Now, however, her thoughts were too much occupied by her problems and fears for her to look beyond them.

"I am going out to telephone," Agnes announced as she pushed her chair back from the table. "I shall probably be back before I go to the hospital. I am only going to the corner to call up the office and find out if I am needed there this morning."

The druggist nodded to her pleasantly as she entered the store where she was in the habit of dealing. Returning his salutation absent-mindedly she went into the booth and gave the number with which she was so familiar.

"No," a hostile voice replied to her query as to whether Mr. Hale was in. "He ain't in and won't be in today. Good-by."

"Why Joe?" Agnes exclaimed as she recognized the red-headed clerk's tone. "This is Miss Morley. I want to know if Mr. Hale wants me today."

"Gee, I don't know!" the lad replied. "I don't suppose he'll be in at all to-day. It's terrible, isn't it?" "What's terrible?" the girl asked.

"Didn't you see the mornin' paper?" the boy demanded, a ring of excitement betraying his joy at being able to impart information of a thrilling character. "Why Mr. Philip shot Mr. Bainbridge last night and killed him. He's in the Tombs now. Isn't that terrible enough?"

But the girl did not reply. She raised one hand weakly and hung the receiver on the hook, then her knees gave way under her, and she sank down into darkness.

WARM AS TOAST FOR LITTLE ONES

Snaug Bath Robe Just the Thing to Wear These Chilly Mornings

By MAY MANTON

9220 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Child's Bath Robe, 2 to 8 years.

Here is a little bath robe that will delight the young wearer and make him thoroughly cozy and comfortable no matter how cold the morning may be. It is a simple little robe and it is a smart little robe at the same time. It is easy to make so that mother can undertake it without hesitancy, and it is just as cozy as it can be. In the picture, it is made from a flannel with ribbon bandings but flannel means eiderdown and the regular bath robe flannels and also the lighter weights. Which will be better will depend entirely upon where the little owner is sleeping, how cold his room is likely to be and special conditions of the sort. The pockets are placed exactly as are those worn by the big folk, so that the little child will be made very happy by that possession. Either a cord or a belt can be used to confine the robe. In the smaller front view, it is shown made of eiderdown flannel in pale blue and is bound with wash silk. That combination is practical for the materials both are washable. In fact, all the materials that are suggested for bath robes of the kind can be cleaned with soap and water for such condition is absolutely essential for the children's garments. The collar can be buttoned up about the throat or rolled open.

For the 4 year size will be needed, 3 1/4 yards of material 27 or 35 inches wide, 2 3/4 yards 44, with 5 yards of banding to trim as shown on the figure.

The pattern No. 9220 is cut in sizes for children from 2 to 8 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of fifteen cents.

COMMISSION MEETING SOON Final plans for the opening of the City Amateur basketball league season will be made in the next few days when the commission appointed on Tuesday night holds its first meeting. Every one of the five men appointed have consented to serve. The decision as to the size of the league and number to be organized will be made by the commission.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; rub it enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

MORE WHEAT HAS BEEN SOWN HERE

State Reports Indicate an Increase in Acreage Devoted to the Cereal Large increases in the acreage sown to wheat for 1917 harvest are noted in the reports received by the State Department of Agriculture, which places the present acreage at 1,373,500 acres, as compared with 1,338,000 acres last season.

The department says in its bulletin: "The increased acreage is due to the large demand and increased price received for 1916 wheat and shows about 3 per cent. increase in the State. Large increases are shown in Bedford, Bradford, Crawford, Elk, Erie, Indiana, Pike, Tioga and York counties. The wheat was sown late this fall in order to avoid the ravages of the Hessian fly."

A few reports of the presence of the fly in 1916 wheat have been reported. In many parts of the State a drought prevailed at seeding time and this made it necessary to wait for more favorable conditions. The condition of the wheat in the ground for this season of the year stands at 98 per cent. and the grain, in most instances, gained a good start before the ground froze. It is estimated that the area sown to rye is 263,400 acres, which is 1 per cent. smaller than the area seeded one year ago. The condition of rye in the ground is slightly below the average at this season of the year. Columbia, Delaware, Greene and Lackawanna counties show increases in acreage.

The department also announced that the smallest buckwheat crop that has been reported in years was produced on the Pennsylvania farms during the past season. Reports to the department show an estimated production of 4,480,000 bushels, about four-fifths of an average crop.

Last year's crop was estimated at 5,740,000 bushels, an average of 20 bushels to an acre, while the average this year was only 16 bushels to an acre. Districts which last year produced an average of from 20 to 25 bushels to an acre, while the low average of 12 bushels last season has been reached in many counties this year, some going as low as 7 and 9 bushels to an acre. The best average yields were obtained in Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Center, Dauphin, Lehigh, Montgomery and Northampton counties. The season was not a good one for use of manure and fresh eggs dropped from five to seven cents, as a result of the nation-wide boycott on these products and the activity of the government in investigating alleged illegal food combinations.

Easton. — The trial of Rose Marshall, stepmother of Grace Marshall, the 28-year-old girl who, it is charged, was kept in solitary confinement in the home of her father near St. Michaels, Md., for twelve years, has come to an end. Judges Adkins and Hopper, who sat as judge and jury, announced their verdict of "not guilty."

Washington. — Efforts in behalf of the bill to purchase Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, for $500,000 were renewed to-day before a House committee by representatives of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Washington. — Secretary Lansing announced to-day that official reports from Guatemala say Felix Diaz, whose movements in Mexico have been shrouded with uncertainty, is now near the Guatemalan frontier with a force of 600 men, of whom only 200 are armed. Officials believe this disposes of any serious danger from the Diaz movement to the de facto government at least for the present.

Washington. — The export news Shipbuilding and Drydock Company and the Cramps, in proposals submitted to the Navy to-day for the new battle cruiser, based their bids on actual cost. The Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, and the Fore River Shipbuilding Company offered to build the ships at cost plus 15 per cent. None of the companies made flat bids.

London. — The Spanish steamship Uribarte is reported to have been torpedoed. Her crew has been landed. Amsterdam. — According to advices received by the telegram from Ghent more than 40,000 citizens of Ghent already have been deported.

New York. — Seven ships loaded with munitions and war supplies, were destroyed by the explosion in the harbor of Archangel the first week of November, and the fire resulting burned between twelve and fifteen blocks of warehouse property, according to Americans, recently in Russia, who arrived here on the steamship Bergensfjord from Norwegian ports.

Umatilla, Ore. — Mrs. E. E. Starcher is mayor of Umatilla to-day, having defeated her husband in the election yesterday. Women also were elected to all other offices in the municipal government including four seats in the council, Ross, Calm.—J. P. Mills, better known by his stage name, Joe Hayden, who wrote among other popular songs, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-night," is seriously ill in a hospital here. Because of his advanced age little hope was entertained to-day for his recovery. Washington. — Compulsory physical examination for wage earners was opposed to-day by President John P. White, of the United Mine Workers of America, in an address before the conference on social insurance. He said it meant only those who passed the test would be subjected to a greater strain than previously.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me."

A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. Your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Notes. Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee that it strengthens eyesight 50 per cent. in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in Harrisburg by H. C. Kennedy, Croll Keller and by druggists generally.
