Tech High School Notes
Music will again be the one big feature of the Christmas entertainment that the Tech students will give December 22 to the open-air "kiddies" of the Lochiel and Susquehanna buildings. Professor A. M. Lindsay, director of music at Tech, will have charge of the musical numbers. Committees from the members of the senior class will be appointed shortly to arrange the details for the entertainment.

No less than a score of Tech players won the much coveted "T" during the gridiron season and will receive their award at the Christmas entertainment. A letter will also go to Manager George Stark. The graduates will also get cardigans of maroon. Those who played their last game for Tech are Captain Harris, Gougler, McFarland, Gipple, Fitzpatrick, Snyder, Miller, Wear, Philippelli, Eyster, Todd and Garman.

Tech students will endeavor to dispose of 1,000 Red Cross stamps within the next several days.

When the annual election of the athletic association is held in several days the position of manager of the football team is likely to go to Willis Patterson.

The recent issue of the Tech Tatler, the monthly school publication, contained sixty-four pages, the largest paper ever put out by the students with the exception of the commencement numbers. The Tatler featured individual pictures of the entire football squad with a "write-up" concerning each individual. A football story by "Gill" Stewart added the necessary touch to make the issue a football number.

Youthful Accomplice of Laust Arrested by Police

William Hirnisey and Ross Allen were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Schelhas, Speese and Patrolman Gardner on suspicion.

Hirnisey is the 16-year-old son of Mrs. Mae Hirnisey who is in jail with Lou Faust, charged with being his accomplice in the hundreds of robberies that were committed by him in this and a dozen near-by cities.

When Faust was arrested young Hirnisey was allowed to go free because he furnished the police with information and did not seem to have been connected with the robberies. He was sent by the police to the home of a relative in Baltimore and less than a week ago an aged grandfather came to the police station, offering to do anything in his power to keep the grandson from following the example that his elders had furnished for him.

Girl of Nine Gets Prize For Her Potato Garden

London, Dec. 8.—Unlike Mary and her garden, which grew shells and pretty maids all in a row, a little girl, 9 years old, fenced off a plot one yard square and raised a peck and a half of potatoes in it. For doing this she won first prize in a National Food Growing Competition under the auspices of the Oxford and District Temperance League and the Oxford and District Sunday School Union.

The yard square patch produced twenty-three pounds of potatoes from six seeds and two marrows, weighing thirty-one pounds, from four seeds. The little girl won a guinea for her exhibition and the Queen from Buckingham Palace ordered a letter to be sent expressing her interest in the result. The little girl won over many competitors.
