ARBITRATION HEARINGS
The Times correspondent interprets this as meaning that Dutch ships carrying food to England will not be molested by German submarines or seized by destroyers. He adds: "It is part of a wide agreement," and also says that the understanding with Holland provides for the payment of foodstuffs by German treasury notes.

with disobedience because they participated last night in an "I-want-to-go-home" demonstration.

Four hundred men of the Eighth regiment noisily protested against their enforced stay. They were ordered to desist after "taps" had been sounded, but the men under arrest continued the racket. They were then ordered to remain in the company street without leave.

Major General Clement of the Eighth, announced that he has no objection to these almost nightly demonstrations, so long as the men confine the protest parades to their own hours. In every district of El Paso these demonstrations have been held decrying the Washington policy which the troops declare is responsible for their continued stay along the border, officers of the Pennsylvania division have said that they believe further service here is ridiculous, and that while they sympathize with the men in the demonstrations they cannot participate.

Men of Company D, Eighth Regiment, during the last few days have sent home many menus of their Thanksgiving dinner to show the "folks back home" that they had a real "feed" with turkey and all the fixin's. The menus which were used carried a colored cut of the American flag and on the back is a small verse of poetry.
