25,870 FIGHTERS

Military Roll For 1916 Shows Increase of 656 in County Military Strength

Dauphin county could muster just 656 more men—a little over a third of a regiment, fighting strength—for military service in 1916 than during a similar period last year, according to the annual assessment of the military roll just completed and tabulated by the clerical force of the county commissioner's office.

The roll shows that 25,870 men between the ages of 18 and 45 are eligible for duty in 1916 as compared to 23,214 in 1915. More than 13,000 of this number are registered from the city and while there is a general increase as a whole there is a slight falling off in several wards. Steelton leads the boroughs of the county, while Susquehanna leads the townships.

Rakas Wants Insurance.—Acquitted a few days ago by a Dauphin county jury of charges of arson in that he set fire to his Steelton properties to obtain the insurance, Damjan Rakas yesterday began suit against the Providence, Washington and the German-American insurance companies for $2,400 and $1,000 respective benefits.

Prisoner Asks Fees.—The Dauphin county commissioner yesterday were asked by O. G. Wickersham, counsel for James Casterow, a witness in the Newton Rodgers' case, for an allowance of $40.50 for 27 days' witness fees during the time he was incarcerated in the Dauphin county jail. The precedent for allowing a jail witness fees pending the trial was established several years ago. The commissioners will investigate the Casterow case.

To Change Water Rates.—By order of the Dauphin county court, Charles H. Kinter, receiver for the Hummelstown Consolidated Water Company, is permitted to charge Mercer B. Tate, receiver for the Rutherford Heights Water Company, three and a half cents per 100 gallons. Tate is permitted to charge the Susquehanna company three and three-quarters cents, and the Paxtang consolidated four cents.

Wants License Change.—The Dauphin county court will be asked Thursday, January 4, to permit the transfer of the wholesale liquor license held by Andrew Schutzenbach at 406 Walnut street to 310 Verbeke street.

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM—Saturday, matinee and night, December 16—"The Million Dollar Doll." Monday evening, December 18—"La Belle France, with Burton Holmes." Tuesday, evening only, December 19—"Cyril Maude in 'Grumpy'." MAJESTIC—Vaudeville. COLONIAL—"The Microscopic Mystery." REGENT—"The Dollar and the Law." VICTORIA—"Civilization."

No English actor who has visited America in recent years has impressed himself as agreeably upon the public as Cyril Maude, now making his fourth American tour in "Grumpy," and who comes to the Orpheum Theater on Tuesday evening. Mr. Maude's career in this country started three years ago, and nearly all of the time he has played here, he has devoted his time to the presentation of "Grumpy." For many years Mr. Maude has stood high in the regard of English playgoers, being for fifteen years one of London's most prominent actor-managers. It was his intention, when he first came to the United States, to play comedy for a few weeks and then return to his playhouse in London. However, so quickly became the demand for his "Grumpy" performances, after that comedy-drama, that a Broadway hearing, that it took a year to satisfy New York's craving for his characterization.

"La Belle France," for the first time in his career as a lecturer on travel, has been chosen by Burton Holmes as the subject of his next travelogue. Although he has often taken his fellow travelers to Paris and its immediate vicinity, this is the first personally-conducted journey to the heart of beautiful France, as a country. His travelogue will reveal the grandiose old and feudal splendor and the ecclesiastical traditions—of princely palaces and monuments, such as the Abbey of Mont St. Michel—of exquisite chateaux along the Loire—of wonderful walled cities such as Angles-Morties and Cassanonne. It will also reveal the simple, home-like France of quiet villages and fair landscapes, and it will carry the traveler across the Mediterranean to the beautiful Barbary Coast of Northern Africa to reveal the most picturesque phases of Colonial France in Tunis and Algeria.

Mr. Holmes will give "La Belle France" at the Orpheum Theater on Monday evening, at 8:15 o'clock.

The Majestic's feature act the last half of this week is George Evans' Seven Honey Boy Minstrels. This aggregation of comedians, singers and dancers present one of the most enjoyable and at the same time most enjoyable novelties that has been seen on the Majestic stage so far this season. Ray Fern and Marion Davis are also on the bill. This clever couple offer for local approval a bright singing, dancing and talking skit called "A Vaudeville Directory." Completing the list of attractions are the comedienne, Constance company, presenting an entertaining comedy sketch, Helen and Rice, in their comedy vehicle entitled "Eggs," and Raymond Wilbert, excellent comedy hoop-roller.

In Ethel Leginska, who appears with Paul Reimers, world-famous lieder singer, in the Key Stone Concert Leginska's course at Chestnut Reimers Street Auditorium, this evening, Harrisburg will see a small elfin-like figure in a long-

CONQUERS RHEUMATISM IN A VERY FEW DAYS

It is an established fact that one-half teaspoonful of Rheuma taken once a day has driven the pain and agony from thousands of racked, crippled and despairing rheumatics during the last five years.

Powerful and sure; quick acting, yet harmless; Rheuma gives blessed relief almost at once. The magic name has reached every hamlet in the land and there is hardly a druggist anywhere who cannot tell you of almost marvelous cures.

If you are tortured with rheumatism or sciatica, you can get a bottle of Rheuma from H. C. Kennedy or any druggist for not more than 50 cents, with the understanding that if it does not completely drive rheumatic poisons from your system—money back.

"The Microscope Mystery," a thrilling and absorbing mystery story, featuring the dimpled darling of the screen, Lillian Walker.

This picture was produced in co-operation with the Savings Bank Section of the American Bankers' Association. The story deals with the use and abuse of money. It shows the "birth" of a dollar bill in the United States Treasury. It brings out very clearly how easily people are "duped" by swindlers, who promise them enormous rates of interest and dividends, taking their savings of years and investing them foolishly. The picture is not only educational, but also interesting. A love story and a "mystery" keeps interest throughout.

Charles Chaplin, the funniest man in the world, has "put something over" veraciously speaking, in his new play, "The Rink," to be shown tomorrow and Saturday. A special show will be given from 10 a. m. till 12 m.

Members of the third year investment class have each been assigned a thesis that will require at least a month of steady effort. The thesis is to cover all the details of a complete railroad report, each section having some particular railroad to cover in their report.

The men who won the contest conducted by the University to secure new students at the beginning of the school year have been awarded their prizes. Henry Levin, whose Wharton spirit never could be beaten, won first prize. Other prizewinners were C. W. Wolfe, I. W. Applier, Fred Knier, Francis Gingrich and Fred C. Burris.

Monroe Vance, a third year man, was recently transferred from a local shoe store to a branch in Lancaster. Since he has taken charge the Lancaster store which formerly had the lowest sales record in a chain of fifty stores, now leads the list.

A number of third year men will spend the week-end at their cottage at Dauphin. The party includes Richard McCallister, Bland Cornell, Frank Turano, William Lutz, J. A. Gebhard and Charles Warner.

Committees for the second year class have been appointed. The executive committee includes F. F. Heberling, chairman; D. C. Harvey, C. E. Fox, L. B. Smith. The social committee includes Thomas J. Bard, chairman, B. F. Mordal, J. W. Mumma, Lawrence Och, John E. Zook. The men who will handle the publicity for the class are Howard Neidig, chairman, William H. Dimmick, J. U. Diehl and L. A. Schitzer.

Ira Cargill and Howard Neidig will spend the week-end at their cottage on the Conodoguinet.
