MEDICAL MEN TO ASK AMENDMENT

Important Changes in the State Compensation Act Suggested by Doctors

A series of radical changes in the provisions of the State Workmen's Compensation acts relative to medical and surgical matters was suggested to the State Compensation Board today by a committee headed by Dr. J. B. McAllister, of this city, ex-president of the State Medical Society, and representing that organization, the State Homeopathic Medical Society and the State Eclectic Medical Society. The committee discussed the proposed change with members of the board and a further meeting will likely be arranged. The State administration has not yet announced its policy in regard to the compensation acts in the coming winter, but at the recent Industrial Welfare and Efficiency conference there were expressions in speeches in favor of retaining the acts for a further test of two years.

The amendments proposed by the medical men to-day were as follows: Creation of a permanent medical advisory council of three medical men, representing each of the three recognized schools of medicine in the State, to act upon all medical and surgical questions that may be appealed from the board's decision.

Employment by the State of a consulting physician and surgeon who shall not have any other governmental affiliation, nor any with corporations or employers to prepare questions to be laid before the board.

Making the board a court of appeals on matters in dispute regarding services of physicians and that all medical matters on appeal be referred to the medical advisory council. Changing the period of disability for medical attention from 30 days, the date of disability to be fixed from the time the patient reports for treatment.

Elimination of the word "major operation" for the act and amending is so as to provide for increase of the maximum of medical or surgical and hospital services to $200 and to allow a sliding scale of fees, the rate of charge to be in accord with those the physician in charge is accustomed to receive from other members of the same community of the same standard of living in his community. The fees to be paid to the attending physician.

Flees Rattler and Finds Mine Worth $100,000

Denver, Col., Dec. 14.—While fleeing from a six-foot rattlesnake near Wittenburg, Ariz., a few weeks ago Herman Hertz, of Los Angeles, nearly fell into a prospect's hole, but managed to bring himself up standing in time to see the snake plunge to its death. Hertz who is a businessman, and not a miner, rescued the snake's body and had himself photographed with it. Then before he left he picked up several specimens of the rock the miners had discarded in their search for gold. These he took to his home city and had assayed, with the result that he learned that the rock, which was of colors varying from yellow to purple, contained from 2 to 4 per cent. of vanadium, which is used in hardened steel and an extremely valuable product, especially at this time.

Returning to Arizona, he bought an interest in the property and sent the shaft down to a depth of sixty feet, all of the way in ore and in a body eighteen feet in diameter. He arrived in Denver recently in response to a telegram offering him $100,000 cash for the property, which came from a group of Denver capitalists. This offer he has submitted to his partners, but is inclined to believe that it will be rejected.

ALLIGATOR USED TO CLEAN SEWERS

A 600-ft. 12-in. sewer in Florida recently became clogged with sand and dirt. Several sewer-cleaning contrivances were used and about $1,500 was spent, but to no avail. The pipe remained in its unsatisfactory condition. Just when everyone had given up in despair a small alligator was secured, to which was fastened a rope. The animal, when lowered into the pipe, proceeded toward the next manhole, dragging the rope after him. When the alligator had traversed one section of the sewer, the rope, to the middle of which knotted chains were attached, was pulled back and forth and the obstructions removed. The scheme is pictorially described in the Engineering Record, out Saturday.

"BUTCH" HAS A DEFICIT CAMPAIGN

Would Follow Democratic Example and Accept Aid to Pay It

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Dec. 14.—John Jay "Butch" McDevitt, late candidate for president on the John J. McDevitt party ticket, has made up his expense bill and wishes it understood that he is not opposed to the Democratic plan of having campaign deficits paid off by friends. In making public his campaign expenses, "Butch," late "millionaire for a day," late "candidate for president," etc., says: "First, allow me to congratulate Wilson on his manly fight. Again let me say that Hughes was a worthy foe. I do not know what Mr. Hughes contemplates doing for the future, but as for me, I presume it's back to the foundry. I am sorry for my uncle, Hugh McGeady, who had hoped for my success. "No man who never entered the contest for the highest office in the world will ever realize the feelings of defeat and all that it means. But the people know best, at least they think they do. "I am giving below a list as close as I can now recall, of my expenditures during the campaign: Special train to New York city $365.00 Hall rent for conducting convention 100.00 Spent entertaining delegates favoring booze 200.00 Entertaining dry delegates 1.50 To William J. Bryan, for a few pointers 6.00 To former Governor Sulzer to remain on ticket in order that I might not be the worst beaten candidate in the country 50.00 For general publicity authorities 190.00 Fines paid to police authorities in New York city 55.00 The above was for wet delegates. Contributions received: Former Mayor Riddle of Atlantic City, my vice president $525.00 Daniel I. Hart 10.00 Bill Leslie 1.00 Mayor Kosek 5.00 Judge O'Boyle 10.00 John Calvin 25.00 Todd Walsh 100.00 From my brother Joe 10.00 "The last amount was given with the understanding that his wife should not know anything about it, as it would make the balance of his life miserable, I mean more miserable. Yours, "JOHN JAY McDEVITT. "Late candidate for President. "Note: Total expenses, $968.50. Contributions, $731. Deficit, $237.50. "Being informed that the Democratic National Committee has sent out the S. O. S. sign, I am not opposed to having the above balance cleared."

Albert Heller, died in a hospital of hardening of the arteries. When she died she left part of her little hoard of earnings to the eldest child in the Heller family, Mark Heller, now living in Denver. He was born when Lena had been in the household only a year.
