

ROSEWOOD TOSSEBS TROUBLE IN FOOTBALL MEN TALK OVER RULES

Eastern Coaches and Managers Oppose New Plans For Periods

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—Coaches and officials connected with the gridiron game in Eastern Pennsylvania, also one from Delaware and another from Maryland, assembled to the number of about thirty at the Walton last evening to discuss the football rules and make suggestions for changes to be submitted to the rules committee at its annual meeting. The session consumed nearly three hours and went on record as decisively opposing the Harvard proposition to eliminate the stop-watch from the gridiron by dividing a legal game into four periods of 50 plays each.

At the home team supply a standard stop-watch, and passed a motion recommending a rule that would keep hidden from the coaches of the two contending teams the start of the play the identity of the officials selected by the central board to serve in that particular game.

This latter motion was pushed through by Bob Folwell, the assistant coach; Wilmer Crowell, Swarthmore, the Lafayette coach, and Dr. Price, of Ursinus, the Muhlenberg coach.

Another Puzzling Question
Folwell brought up another puzzling point of great practical import, since it applies to the formations used most effectively this season by the Oregon eleven, the one he must meet at the Rose Carnival at Pasadena, New Year's day. He claims his scouts on the Western edge of the continent report that the Oregonians tackle carry the ball after lining up three yards behind the line of scrimmage. The rules specify that a lineman must be five yards behind the line when the ball is snapped in order to carry it legally.

The Oregonians get away with it because they swing their plays off in rapid succession at the start of play, before the tackle has ever taken his place in the line. The coaches and officials pondered over the thing at length, finally advising Folwell to tell his captain to take "time-out," right after the first play, and call the referee's attention to the way the men were lined up. If he does this, he will be in a man's place at the start of the play he would be officially a lineman thereafter and subject to the rules governing his carrying the ball.

The meeting adjourned in favor of a change in rules to make it legal for a player breaking into the game to report to any official and for the referee to be extremely careful in placing the ball after a hard scrimmage close to the goal line. Folwell brought up this latter point, pointing out that two touchdowns against Penn this season had not been scored had the referee placed the ball in a better position. In the Michigan game, he said, the head lineman tried to correct the referee's mistake, but was waved aside. Folwell argued that the head lineman was in a better position to see whether the ball had crossed the goal than was the referee.

Crowell brought up the protest against the professional athletes, who the coaches have a hand in the selection of officials, declaring there was no reason for a coach knowing the identity of the officials before the game. He found an able ally in Dr. Price, who at the meeting was won over to a passing motion to suggest a change to the rules committee. Crowell also argued in favor of a rule to wipe out "clipping" a man from behind. Dick Meitz, of Penn Charter coach, backed him up strongly, but no action was taken.

LEHIGH STARS SCHWAB GUESTS
Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 20.—Twenty-three members of the 1917 football eleven who won their "L" and who participated in the game that resulted in a victory over Lafayette were banded last evening at the Lehigh Country Club.

These men and about twenty others were the guests of Charles M. Schwab, president of the Steel Company—Dr. H. B. Drinker, president of Lehigh; Arch Johnson, Professor Reiter and several others. The announcement, made that "Ty" Halsted, of Brooklyn, would captain the eleven next year. The "L" men were given gold footballs in recognition of their victory over Lafayette.

SLAPS PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL
Bloomington, Dec. 20.—The athletic board of Indiana University took a hard when it refused to grant "its" to Arch D. Eberhart, of Huntington, and Walter B. Hess, of Hammond, Ind., for participating in the Pine Village-Clabby football game at Lafayette December 3 and disqualified them from further participation in intercollegiate athletics at the university.

Eberhart has been the mainstay of Indiana's football team for the last three years. He also is a baseball and track athlete of ability.

Hess was varsity quarterback and his punting and forward passing was a feature of every game this year. This was his first year on the varsity.

LETTER FOR CARLISLE INDIANS
Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 20.—At a banquet and reception in the gymnasium of the Carlisle Indian School to the football team, at which the whole student body and faculty were present, the C's were presented by Superintendent Lippis and Director Cleveland. The football men receiving C's were John Leroy, Thomas Miles, Jacob Herman, David Nori, George Tibbetts, George May, Francis Ojibway, Waldorf Eshelman and Lue Connolly.

The "cross-country runners" to receive C's were Juan Routzo, John Davis, Albert Snider and Welch Deed-sak.

At this time it was also announced that the companies winning highest honors under inspection were "C" of the small boys and "B" of the girls.

RIDERS BEHIND SCHEDULE
New York, Dec. 20.—The eleven teams leading in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden at 7 p. m. to-day, the 55th hour were 70 miles behind the schedule, the record for that period with 1,073 miles and one lap to their credit. The record, 1,143 miles and 4 laps, was made by Edward Wolfe and Kaiser in 1915. The two other teams are one lap behind the leading group.

CRAGO DEFENDS NATIONAL GUARD

Declares Border Training Has Justified Friends of System
Washington, Dec. 22.—An able defense of the National Guard is made by Representative Thomas S. Crago, of Pennsylvania, in an authorized statement. Mr. Crago, as an officer of the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers, saw active service in the Philippines during the Spanish-American War.

Calling attention to the annual report of the chief of staff of the army, which alleged the failure of the volunteer military system, Colonel Crago denies that this criticism should be attached to the National Guard by reason of its record on the Mexican border. On the contrary, he declared that the training had on the border has in a great measure justified the hopes that the friends of the Guard expressed in it. Colonel Crago's statement says:

"The chief of staff of the army has called attention to the failure of the volunteer military system. This criticism is immediately of course, attached, by persons antagonistic to it, to the part the National Guard has taken in the recent mobilization, but it is not fair to those National Guard organizations to blame any of the deficiencies which have been shown to exist in our system on the National Guard as an organization. In the first place the friends of the National Guard never contended that this was the ideal military system. What they did contend for, however, was:

Guards Given His Chance
"First, that the National Guard was the only body of troops in existence, other than the regular army, which could be relied upon to give instant response in the case of any emergency.

"Second, that since the National Guard has never had a chance to show what it could do when properly armed, equipped and supported by the Federal Government, it was only fair in considering any great extension of our military system to give the National Guard the first chance to show what could be accomplished by it.

"Unfortunately the call was made before the Guard had been reorganized under the provisions of the new military act, and they could not be expected to show much improvement over former conditions. The weakness which has been shown has not the fault of the Guard, but of the Federal Government in its failure to properly arm and equip the men who so promptly responded.

"In all of the eastern and many of the western States the Guard was mobilized promptly with the number of men which they had been allowed to carry on their rolls. These men were equipped, but when, without any warning, each organization was asked to increase its number to war strength it naturally followed that the Guard had no means of equipping these new organizations. This training, while it has been costly and has developed many weak spots, will not reflect any discredit on the National Guard, and in a great measure justified the hopes that the friends of the Guard expressed for it at the time federalization was being considered."

RED-HEADS IN ASCENDANCY
Milwaukee, Dec. 22.—Slog Hal-lujah, you red-heads! The carrot top has been knighted with the accolade of brilliancy of mind, as well as of appearance. Cohen Brothers Company advertised for a bright red-head office boy and followed it by the announcement that the firm wanted a red-headed boy because that kind is quicker and readier to learn than the brunette cousins.

And this tribute is paid to the strawberry blonds by a race, noted for its dark than its auburn hair, though King David was famous among his people for his brilliant locks. The company which is advertising for a red-headed boy is one of the biggest manufacturers of clothing in America.

All Heart Women Mostly BORES
New Matrimonial Fable by Dorothy Dix May Carry Lesson For You!

Once upon a time a Glad-Eyed Youth went to a Hum-Scholar Old Man who looked as if he had been flattened out by a Steam Roller, and thus addressed him:

"Congratulations," cried the Young Man, "for I am going to be Married to the Dearest Girl in the World, and she is Perfectly Devoted to me."

"Alas, my son," cried the old Man with a heavy sigh, "I can only pity you. Many Misfortunes may happen to a Man, but the Worst thing that can befall him is to Marry a Woman who is Too Much in love with him. Listen to the sad story of my Life, and let it be a Warning to you, so that you may Save yourself from a Fate like mine while there is yet time."

"I was once young and joyous like you, and I swelled out my Chest so that my Shirt Buttons would not hold, because I had found a Woman who Loved me too Well. Enough to do for me, little reckoning in my Folly that that same Love would make me wish that I were Dead."

"We were Married, and from that Day to this I have been able to call my Soul my wife, because my Wife thinks that her Love gives her a Mortgage on it."

"I do not dare to stay downtown a Few Minutes late talking with a Friend, because if I do not Punch the Domestic Time Clock on the Minute I find my Wife walking the floor and tearing her Hair because she is filled with Anxiety for Fear Something Awful has happened to her Precious Hubby."

"I cannot Eat any of the Paprika Foods that I like and to which I was Accustomed in my Happy Un-loved Bachelor Days, because my Wife Adores me so she will not let me run the Risk of Injuring my Digestion."

"I am compelled to Choose my Female Employees from the Lemon Box, although I would greatly enjoy being Surrounded by the Pick of the Peach Basket, but my Wife's Love makes her so Jealous that she would have Fits all over the Place if she learned I was working in the Office under Forty and without Cross Eyes."

"I am no Lethario, but I like the Society of Pretty and Charming Women, but every time I even look Interested in my Dinner Partner's Remarks I have to stand for a Scene when I get Home."

"I do not Boast that we have Never been Parted for a Single Day since we were Married. Ah, my Boy, do you get the Pathos of that Remark? Think of never having had a Single Day of the Bliss of the Gloomly Prospect of a Whole Life Sentence like that with no Allowance of for good behavior!"

"I have to Drag Wife along because I have to Weep and Walls that she cannot Bear to be Parted from me for even a Few Days. When I take a Vacation Mount Gretna, and Ruins it all, because I have to do what she would like to do instead of the things I should like to do."

"I cannot make her Understand that without wishing to knock her Personally, a Man gets Fed up on a Feminine Chatter and Longs for Man's Talk. Why, I know right now that it nauseates me, and I am going to Wear in Paris this Winter what I do about the Big League Prospects."

"I used to Wonder, before I was Married, how men took so little Trouble to Preserve the Wives' Affections. I now Perceive that it was the Instinct for Self Preservation, for there is no Jail in which you can be put if you are a Woman who loves too much."

"I am a Misfortune that a Man gets over being loved at the Altar when a Woman can go on being a Bride for Forty Years. Therefore unless you wish to be Bogged up in Soft Talk that it nauseates you to have to hand out, do not Marry a Woman who has All Heart, and who gets a Hurt look every time you Slow Down to Second Speed in your Love Making."

"Take it from me that a Woman can kill you with Love, and it is a Sticky, Messy, Unpleasant Way to Die."

"This fable teaches that the Women who are All Heart are Mostly BORES."

DILLON BESTS BILLIE MISKE
New York, N. Y., Dec. 20.—Jack Dillon's amazing powers of recuperation enabled him to overcome Billie Miske by the slightest margin at the Broadway Sporting Club, in Brooklyn last night. From every standpoint Miske made a great showing in the third and fourth rounds, and several times it was a question whether Dillon would be able to keep his feet. Miske was shooting straight hard punches at him with unerring accuracy and to save himself the famed "man-killer" had to wind his powerful arms about Dillon's head to ward off Miske's attack. He was plain in the rounds that followed, especially toward the end of the fight that Miske had fought himself out.

"SHAG" THOMPSON TO QUIT
Durham, Dec. 20.—"Shag" Thompson, formerly of the Athletics, intends to drop out of baseball for a business career in Richmond, Va., where he is now working. "Ever since 'Shag' was hit on the head by a wild pitch in the International League a year ago he has been seriously thinking of retiring from the game, and now that he has secured a good position he is about ready to step out of the game. Thompson wound up in the Western League last year.

NEW SCRANTON TOSSEB
Scranton, Pa., Dec. 20.—Alex Harvey, a former New York State League star, has been signed by Manager Frank Bruggy for his Scranton basketball team of the Interoceanic League. Harvey can play either forward or guard. He will be eligible to play in the series against the Scranton, Pa., State League team, which starts Wednesday night.

U. S. Workers in New Bill
Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—Salary or wage increases of from 5 to 10 per cent for about 18,000 Government employees receiving less than $1,000 a year and of $500 a year for each representative's secretary were provided for in the National Guard bill. A huge appropriation bill passed yesterday by the House without a record vote. The secretary's new pay is $150 a year, with an extra stenographer at $75 a month during the season. The bill was passed by a vote of 375 to 147. Chairman Fitzgerald of the appropriation committee, and Representative Lane of the House, introduced the bill. It was protested against the proposed increases on the ground that the Government already faced a huge deficit. Mr. Rainey declared that the country was confronted with the possibility of attempting to collect $400,000,000 more in new taxes.

Amateur basketball has a promising future in Harrisburg if present plans work out. The commissioners in charge of the affairs of the Amateur Basketball League are preparing rules to govern the games. It means a whole lot for the sport in this city. Basketball is real sport when played properly.

Why not organize a grammar school league and place these same commissioners in charge. Figure out the result of such a league. It means clean sport and athletes. The grammar school game as now played is rough and with very little attention to rules. Make the game right. Grammar school athletes in a rough and tumble game get the wrong conception of clean sport. It may affect the entire life of a student as regards a clean life. School officials would find the commissioners ready to give their aid.

Clarence Rowland has been reappointed manager of the Chicago American baseball team. President Comiskey gave out the news yesterday. This ends one more controversy. Several other clubs are still debating the managerial question.

CHARGED WITH THEFT
Lewistown, Pa., Dec. 20.—William Freeman, a native of Cuba, boarded for some time with Jeremiah Jones, here, and, it is alleged, stole $33 that Mr. Jones had hidden under a pillow. Officer Davis traced the man to the junction, where it was found that he had purchased a ticket for Pittsburgh. The police of that city were notified and when Freeman stepped from the train he was placed under arrest.

NEW BILLIARD RECORD
San Francisco, Dec. 20.—Willis Hoppe, billiard champion of the world, made a new world's record here yesterday in an exhibition match with "Young" Jacob Schaeffer, of Chicago, in which Hoppe made an unfinished run of 250 points, from the spot in an 18 1/2 ball line match of 250 points.

SYRACUSE TO PLAY IN NEB.
Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 20.—The University of Nebraska football team will play Syracuse University, New York, next Thanksgiving day at Lincoln, it was announced to-day. The Notre Dame game, usually played on Thanksgiving Day, will be moved ahead, probably to some date in October.

LARRY McLEAN SURE OF JOB
Cincinnati, O., Dec. 20.—Larry McLean, former Cincinnati, St. Louis, New York Giant catcher, is coming back to his old home—behind the plate for the Reds. Yep! it's true. Garry Herrmann verified the rumor yesterday by saying that Manager Christy Mathewson has been given power to give Long Larry another chance with the local team.

McLean made his last appearance yesterday by saying that Manager Hank O'Day was manager. He quarreled with O'Day and because of the catcher's failure to keep in condition he was traded to St. Louis and later sold to the New York Giants. McGraw dropped him after McLean, it is alleged, had attacked Dick Kinsella, the Giants' scout in St. Louis.

McLean then dropped out of base ball. Manager Mathewson saw McLean in New York recently and promised to give him another opportunity.

COUGHLIN TO TRY INFIELDER RYAN
Scranton, Pa., Dec. 20.—Manager Bill Coughlin of the Scranton baseball team of the New York State League, returned from New York where he was in attendance at the sessions of the National League. He cast many lines for desirable players, but made no catches. On the recommendation of Infielder Berkernt, Coughlin has signed a young semiprofessional from New York named Ryan. He is a second baseman.
