

CENTRAL HIGH TENNIS CHAMPIONS RECEIVE MEDALS---MACK TO BUILD NEW TEAM

CENTRAL STARS RECEIVE MEDALS

Prof. H. G. Dibble Awards Tennis Prizes This Afternoon; Events and Winners

The tennis medals were awarded winners this afternoon by principal H. G. Dibble in chapel. Gold prizes were presented to the champion in each event and silver to the runner-up. They are of very neat design, the name of the recipient being engraved upon the back.

The Central tennis tournament attracted much attention this fall from outsiders as well as students. The athletic association provided material for the participants and the medals for the conquerors. The events and their winners are:

Events and Winners
Boys' singles, Richard Robinson, runner-up, Seymour Nissley.
Boys' doubles, Seymour Nissley and Richard Robinson; runners-up, Edward Williamson and James Carey.
Girls' doubles, Mildred Runkle and Ruth Starry; runners-up, Marion Black and Margaret Hill.

Mixed doubles, Ruth Starry and Richard Robinson; runners-up, Nancy McCullough and Seymour Nissley.
On account of bad weather, the finals in girls' singles have not been played. It is to be decided between Marion Black and Ruth Starry, the loser receiving the medal for the runner-up.

JAMISON SHADES WAGON
Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—After Johnny Tillman tapped the ball sending Eddie Wagner and Tommy Jamison on their way in the final bout at the Broadway Athletic Club, last night, all was confusion. After six rounds of whirlwind slugging that kept the spectators on their feet in a frenzy Jamison was entitled to a hair-raising verdict.

It was an eleven-hour rally staged in the closing rounds that brought the verdict to Jamison. He kept pumping a shower of left uppercuts to Wagner's jaw that had the Italian's head bobbing back and forth.

Up until the final round the rumpus was about even, Jamison got off a lead several times rocking Wagner with a long, rangy left swing to the chin.

WANTS NAME CHANGED
For obvious reasons, Leopold Christopher Hoenschmeyer dropped his name and asked to be called Lee Magee. The outfielder of the Yankees has always been known as Magee.

Lee is engaged to marry Miss Beatrice Rodgers, of Cincinnati, and in order to save the embarrassment of the bride being known as Mrs. Hoenschmeyer while he is known as Magee, the ball player has applied to court to have his name legally changed to Lee Magee.

Larry Fox Yale Wrestler; Baldrige Quits Sport

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 22.—Howard M. Baldrige, the New England heavyweight wrestling champion, has given the wrestling team officials of Yale a chill by announcing that he will not compete in the tournaments of the team this winter because of a slight injury which might be aggravated by a strenuous season on the mat. He has left the team, but Coach Izzy Winters was delighted to-day by the preliminary showing of Larry Fox, the oarsman and football player.

Fox is the unique character of the recent football season. He was one of Yale's best varsity oarsmen last season, but he had not played football till after the recent season opened. His wonderful physical ability, however, was an asset which developed him remarkably last month of the season.

Fox, who hails from Philadelphia, is a hardy Norseman, standing 6 feet 6 inches tall and weighing 210 pounds. His great reach and height are certainly the most unique of his many talents. He has been constant coaching by Heffelfinger, Glass, Mering and Brides, Yale's galaxy of guard coaches, which developed him remarkably last month of the season.

Yale's schedule for the season was to-day announced as follows: February 10, Columbia, at New York; February 17, Pennsylvania, at New Haven; February 24, Annapolis, at Annapolis; March 5, New England intercollegiate championships at Boston; March 10, Princeton, at Princeton.

Wolstencroft Wins Shoot; One Clay Bird Gets Away

Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—Shooting at a wonderful clip, William T. Wolstencroft led the flock of gunners who shot over the traps of the Independent Gun Club yesterday at Holmesburg Junction with 99 out of 100 clays. The event was a testimonial clay pigeon shoot to Fred Schaefer, a comedian, who is an enthusiastic target shot, and despite the disagreeable day a fair crowd of gunners popped away at the flying clays.

The event was a dead bird added handicap one and which resulted in a nip-and-tuck race between Wolstencroft, Chief Bender and A. P. Hoffman for high actual scoring honors. Wolstencroft and Bender shot from scratch and the Indian broke one less than the veteran wing and target shot.

Stone shot along with the field and had the satisfaction of finishing with 98 down, breaking 94 of his flyers and carrying a dead bird handicap of four. His father also handled the shotgun and succeeded in breaking 77 of his century.

One woman gunner, Mrs. A. Moulten, shot at 50 disks and after running up 47 did not compete in the final 50. The high scores follow:

TECH'S LAST GAME IN GYMNASIUM

To Select Captain To-night; Charles Pollock Is Favorite in Contest

Technical high school's basketball quintet will play its final contest of the season in the school gymnasium this evening. The Middletown high school five will meet its opponents. Following the holiday recess, the Moon team will enter upon the series of games that will decide the Central Pennsylvania League championship. Lebanon will be the first attraction at the City Gray's Armory January 5.

Select Captain To-night
The matter of captain will likely be decided to-night by a vote of the fans between Pollock, Miller and Harris. The latter has lead so many fans to Tech that it is thought that he will not accept the honor should it be tendered him. Charles Pollock is a popular candidate with many of the players, and is picked by many to be the new leader. Ira Arthurs will officiate in the contest, this evening. Game starts at 8 o'clock.

Altoona and Johnstown Flirting With Blue Ridge

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 22.—Altoona and Johnstown, the two large Pennsylvania towns that are seeking a franchise in the Blue Ridge Baseball League here, will have a fight on their hands if they are earnestly after the berth. Cumberland, Md., will also ask for the franchise, and Colonel Russler, one of the owners of the team, has notified President J. V. Jamison that he will attend the league meeting to be held in this city next month and make application for the franchise. Cumberland and Frostburg were considered as applicants last year, when it was proposed to make a league of eight teams circuit. Chambersburg, Hanover and Gettysburg, the three Pennsylvania towns now in the league, will remain. Strong influence is being brought to bear to get Altoona or Johnstown, or probably both towns, in the league for next season.

TEAM WANTS GAMES

Lewistown, Pa., Dec. 22.—The Clems Basketball team of this place is anxious for a game with some team in Harrisburg or vicinity, this team is made up of youths aged about 16 years and is said to be very strong. Any team wishing further information should address David Sherman, Captain, Third and Grand streets, Lewistown, Pa.

STATE GETS JOBS FOR MANY PEOPLE

State employment agencies were the means of 2,199 persons securing places during the month of November according to a summary of the reports of the four agencies made publicly by the bureau to-day. During the month requests were made by 3,193 persons to find their jobs and employers asked for State aid to secure hands for 3,375 places. In all 2,250 persons were referred to positions.

Heiress Needs $300,000 Just to Tide Her Over

New York, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Olga Florman, oppressed by the high cost of living, has sought an order from the surrogate's court to obtain at once $300,000 from the state of her father, Charles Kohler, so that she can keep body and soul together a few months, when she will receive one-third of her father's residuary estate of $2,000,000.

She is now held out until then she will not have a cent to live on. When she reaches the age of twenty-five, she gets $100,000 from her father's estate and there will be another $100,000 when she is thirty-five and still another when she is forty.

Now all she has, except the $50 a week which her husband, Nils, earns, is an annual allowance of $25,000, and there's the baby to buy things for, too. In her application Mrs. Florman made objections to the accounting of the executors. She asserted that the trustees set aside for her, when provided by her father for herself, her mother and two sisters.

Just as $300,000, she pointed out, could just as well be put in a bank, as the excess income, which she estimates at $1,209,318.

When Mrs. Florman asked some time ago for $25,000 a year, she told the court her husband had died when she was a child and her father had died, and her mother had died, and she had no one else to depend on.

Cannon Balls of 1776 Dug Up at Monmouth

Tennent, N. J., Dec. 22.—While grading near the church at Old Tennent, on the historic battlefield of Monmouth, employees of J. S. Dudley unearthed three round shot cannon balls, about eighteen inches below the surface.

The missiles are in a good state of preservation, despite the fact that they have lain in the earth since Revolutionary days. Two weighed twelve pounds each and the third six pounds. They were preserved with other relics of the battlefield and church.

Has Triplets at 18; Husband Only 19

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 22.—Probably one of the youngest mothers of triplets ever in this city is Mrs. Lena Stockman, who is only eighteen years old. Three baby girls recently arrived at her home. Their father, Lawrence Stockman, is but nineteen years old.

Mrs. Mary Herr, mother of Mrs. Stockman, has indirectly achieved a record of her own. She is only thirty-five years old, but the other week she was merely a mother; now she has three grandchildren.

Memphis Wants Joe Tinker to Lead Southern Team

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 22.—If Joe Tinker wants a berth managing a minor league ball club he can have it right here in this town by simply applying to the Memphis Southern Association club. When the owners of the local club became aware that Tinker's day as a Cub leader was over they instantly decided to make the once great shortstop an offer to manage the local team, and if the Cubs will let Joe come here and he is willing he will be tendered a contract as good as any minor league club in the country can offer.

Interest here in baseball has been booming for the last two years and when George Moriarty, the former Detroit and White Sox star, who managed the team last year, decided to take a job umpiring on Ban Johnson's staff of umpires for the coming season it left the Cubs without a manager. Moriarty made a hit with the fans last summer, and while not a howling success as a manager, he nevertheless brought a flavor of big league ball into Memphis, and the fans having tasted of that essence want more of it. Hence the desire for Tinker.

Darcy Is Due Tuesday; Australian on Atlantic

New York, Dec. 22.—Unless storms and shipwrecks intervene to delay his boat or cast him up on desert islands, Les Darcy, the mystery of the Atlantic, will plant his feet in this city some time next Tuesday. This information leaked out yesterday, and although Tex Rickard would not confirm it, he let it be known he was certain of the Australian fighter's arrival next week. Rickard has been in wireless communication with Darcy several times since he started the wild scramble for bouts by announcing his intention to match Georges Carpentier with some one. He knows the boat on which Darcy is a passenger or a sailor, and says that when the proper time comes he will let the public in on his secret.

Considering the number of self-confessed managers for Darcy, it is too bad the day of his arrival should become known, for the antipodean champion doesn't like crowds, and "Darcy" would be a poor description for the gathering that will be on hand to look after Darcy's interests.

Rickard is uncertain as to the probable opponent of Darcy. The performance of Jack Dillon and Billy Mischig Tuesday night left no choosing between those scrappers, and Rickard believes Mike Gibbons would be a splendid adversary for the visitor.

Bits From Sportland

Cornell for the first time in many years will not have a hockey seven. Lack of suitable facilities for practice is the reason assigned—a very adequate reason.

LeGore, who was induced by Captain Taft to try for the Yale basketball five, is making rapid progress and may appear in the regular line-up.

Brown's successful football season has started talk of a stadium among the alumni. It is hoped that a new structure will have reared its walls by 1918. As one swallow does not make a summer, neither is one successful season likely to make a stadium.

A Cornell graduate has suggested Greg's Sailor Song, Op. 68, No. 1, as the music for a new football song. Why not save it for a crew song?

Syracuse football authorities are said to have offered $10,000 as an inducement for the Ithacans to come to the Salt City next year. The Ithacans declined with thanks. Feeling between the two universities has not been any too warm, neither the last game was played in 1900.

George Brickley is still moving around. The former Everett and Trinity star is to enter St. Anselm's College, Manchester, N. H.

Cumberland is believed to have captured all records for lack of success in football. The team was beaten, 222 to 0, by Georgia Tech, and 107 to 0 by Swannee the following week—329 points against her to nothing in two games.

Professional football in Ohio was occasionally marred by the failure of stars to appear. Maubetsch was one notable delinquent. Jim Keady, formerly of Lehigh, was the thrilling star of the Toledo team.

MACK'S NEW TEAM LOOKS LIKE COMER

Is Building Up Strong Aggregation of Players; Only Two Holdovers

Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—While Connie Mack has to sign up every one of his players but two for next year's race, he treasures an optimistic view of the Athletics for the 1917 dash. In building over his machine for the past two seasons Mack now feels confident that when the team steps on the field in the spring it will be the best he has shown. Philadelphia fans since he dismantled the famous club which won international fame by its feats.

To put the 1917 outfit upon the field the boss of the Athletics will have to discover a man for second and third base, get an outfielder to aid Strunk and Thrasher, and develop enough pitchers to help out Joe Bush, Elmer Meyers and Jack Nabors. His catching staff is intact and will consist of Schang, Myer, Haley and Picinich. This is the only department in which he will not experiment.

Study McInnis and Elmer Meyers are the only two men with holdover contracts.

Lajoie Is Out
Lajoie will not be back on the team, for last fall his name was scratched off the reserve list and the great veteran became a free agent. To fill up that vacancy at second Mack is depending much upon Cable, who played second base for the Newark International League club last year. Cable is a right-handed lead off man and one who ought to fill the bill, according to Mack. He also has Lowry and Grover to fall back upon. Witt will naturally be stationed at short, but third base is also an uncertain proposition, for beside Pick and Headley he is pinning much confidence in Bates, the Pacific coast star. Bates is rated as a good fielder and fair hitter, and will probably be the man to get the assignment.

The pitching staff is the problem which is causing Mack much speculation these days. In Bush, Meyers and Nabors he has only three veteran fingers and the latter two are only over cutting their eye teeth in the majors.

The Athletics will not eliminate any of the twenty-five seats at Shibe Park next season, according to Mack. No matter what the Phillies do as a result of the League action to cut down the two-bit sections, the veterans will retain the 4,000 seats in which the fans can now sit for a quarter.

WELLY'S CORNER

Penn's football squad enroute to Los Angeles passed through Harrisburg this afternoon. On New Year's day a game will be played with Oregon. In the party were several officials and 23 players.

The Hassett Girls will open the basketball season to-night at Cathedral hall. Williamstown high school girls will be the attraction. It promises to be some game. The Hassett players have been practicing daily and show strong knowledge of the cage game.

Good team work last night by the Enhaut ex-high five brought a victory over Hummelstown, score 41 to 21. The Bartek brothers were stars for the winning team. Leinbach played a star game for Hummelstown.

The Vincome five scheduled to play the Harrisburg Independents to-morrow night is one of the other cage teams in the State. Each year new stars are signed up, and the Quakers always give satisfactory exhibitions.

BAN FAVORS SUN GODS
Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, is not in favor of cutting the schedule to 140 games, and he also is opposed to reducing the number of 25-cent seats in the various parks. "Neither proposal will be discussed at the schedule meeting in February," said Johnson. "The National League can do as it sees fit regarding reducing the number of cheap seats, but we will not make a change. We propose to continue to cater to the fans with limited purses and we will cut expenses again before we will deprive those who can't spend more than 25 cents of the privilege of seeing games."

STAR SPRINTERS TO RUN
New York, Dec. 22.—Invitations have been extended by Patrick J. Conway, president of the Irish-American A. C., to the following prominent athletes to compete in the special invitation events at the annual indoor games of the "Winged Fist" Club at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, January 13: For the 100-yard, 1,000-yard run, John Overton, of Yale; Earl Eby, of the University of Pennsylvania; Joe Higgins, Fordham College; H. Baker, of New York; Dave Caldwell, Boston A. A.; Willie Gordon, New York A. C., and Mike Devanny. For the 800-yard special, Ted Meredith, Meadowbrook Club; Tom Halpin and William J. Bingham, Boston A.; Larry Scudder, University of Pennsylvania; Hector Auroy and J. M. Roche, of New Haven A. A.

EDDIE COLLINS IN DANGER
Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22.—Eddie Collins may not be captain of the White Sox next year. When Owner Comiskey announced that Clarence Rowland would manage the team again next season he declined to say whether Collins would captain the team. Some of the fans profess to see significance in the words of Comiskey, as follows: "I might have gone out on first base myself last year and perhaps we would have won the pennant. Anyhow, I know of one or two instances when I would have been under some pop fly balls, whether the captain forgot to shout who was to take it or not."
