WANTS NAME CHANGED
For obvious reasons, Leopold Christopher Hoernschmeyer dropped his name and asked to be called Lee Magee. The outfielder of the Yankees has always been known as Magee.

Lee is engaged to marry Miss Beatrice Rodgers, of Cincinnati, and in order to save the embarrassment of the bride being known as Mrs. Hoernschmeyer while he is known as Magee, the ball player has applied to court to have his name legally changed to Lee Magee.

Tennis Prizes This Afternoon;

Events and Winners

The tennis medals were awarded winners this afternoon by principal H. G. Dibble in chapel. Gold prizes were presented to the champion in each event and silver to the runner up. They are of very neat design, the name of the recipient being engraved upon the back.

The Central tennis tournament attracted much attention this fall from outsiders as well as students. The athletic association provided material for the participants and the medals for the conquerors. The events and their winners are:

Events and Winners

The tennis Medals were awarded this within the team, but Coach Izzy Winters was delighted to-day by the preliminary showing of Larry Fox, the oarsmans and football player.

Fox is the unique character of the recent football season. He was one of Yale's best variety oarsmen last season, but he had not played football till after the recent season opened. His wonderful physical ability, however, was an asset which inexperience did not cloud and he was given constant coaching by Heffelinger, Glass, Mertingand Brides, Yale's galaxy of guard coaches, which developed him remarkably the last month of the season.

Fox, who halis from Philadelphia, is a hardy Norseman, standing 6 feet 6 inches tall and welghing 210 pounds. His great reach and height are certain to make him the most unique

On account of bad weather, the finals in girls' singles have not been played. It is to be decided between Marion Black and Ruth Starry, the loser receiving the medal for the runner-up.

JAMISON SHADES WAGOND
Philadelphia, Dec. 22. — After Johnny Tillman tapped the bell sending Eddie Wagond and Tommy Jamison on their way in the final bout at the Broadway Athletic Club, last night, all was confusion. After six rounds of whirlwind slugging that kept the spectators on their feet in a frenzy Jamison was entitled to a hairline verdict.
It was an eleventh-hour rally staged in the closing round that brought the verdict to Jamison. He kept pumping a shower of left uppercuts to Wagond's jaw that had the Italian's head bobbins back and forth.

It is likely they will not play here next season, but another team may take the place of Gettysburg. Each year Gettysburg has raised its demands until now they receive 50 per cent. of the net gate receipts and expenses. Now they give notice that the general admission price must be raised, and this demand the local team's management flatly refuses.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 22.—If Joe Finker wants a berth managing a minor league ball club he can have it right here in this town by simply applying to the Memphis Southern Association club. When the owners of the local club became aware that Tinker's day as a Cub leader was over they instantly decided to make the once great shortstop an offer to manage the local team, and if the Cubs will let Joe come here and he is willing he will be tendered a contract as good as any minor league club in the country can offer.

Is Building Up Strong Aggregation of Players; Only Two Holdovers

Philadelphia, Dec. 22. - While

onnie Mack has to sign up every one of his players but two for next year's of the Athletics for the 1917 dash. In building over his machine for the past two seasons Mack now feels confident that when the team steps on the field in the spring it will be the best he has shown Philadelphia fans since he dismantled tite famous club which won international fame by its feats.

To put the 1917 outfit upon the field the boss of the Athletics will have to discover a man for second and third base, get an outfielder to aid Strunk and Thrasher, and develop enough pitchers to help out Joe Bush, Elmer Meyers and Jack Nabors. His catching stage is intact and will consist of Schang, Myer, Haley and Picinich. This is the only department in which he will not experiment.

Stuffy McInnis and Elmer Meyers are the only two men with holdover contracts.

Lajoie Is Out

Stuffy McInnis and Elmer Meyers are the only two men with holdover contracts.

Lajoic Is Out

Lajoic will not be back on the team, for last fall his name was scratched off the reserve list and the great veteran became a free agent. To fill up that vacancy at second Mack is depending much upon Cable, who played second base for the Newark International League club last year. Cable is a right-handed lead off man and one who ought to fill the bill, according to Mack. He also has Lowry and Grover to fall back upon. Witt will naturally be stationed at short, but third base is also an uncertain proposition, for beside Pick and Headley he is pinning much confidence in Bates, the Paclific coast star. Bates is rated as a good fielder and fair hitter, and will probably be the man to get the assignment. The pithing staff is the problem which is causing Mack much speculation these days. In Bush, Meyers and Nabors he has only three veteran flingers and the latter two are only over cutting their eye teeth in the majors.

The Athletics will not eliminate any of the twenty-five-cent seats at Shibe Park next season, according to Mack. No matter what the Phillies do as a result of the League action to cut down the two-bit sections, the Mackmen will retain the 4,000 seats in which the fans can now sit for a quarter.
