Country School Problem

To-night the general theme will b "The Country School Problem," at a joint session of all departments in the joint session of all departments in the main auditorium. Addresses will be made by President E. M. Rapp, of Reading, "From the Viewpoint of a County Superintendent"; A. S. Cook, Baltimore county, Md., "The County as a Unit of Organization and Administration"; Warren H. Wilson, Teachers' College, Columbia University, "From the Viewpoint of a Sociologist". Herbert Quick, member of the Federal Farm Loan Board, Washington, "From the Viewpoint of an Author and Publicist."

In his address last night at the high school section meeting on "Efficient Democracy," Prof. Charles E. Beard, department of history Columbia University, declared that constructive work and efficient service are forgotten because of constant political friction. He condemned the system of permitting students to learn only a small part of foreign languages, instead of training them to become proficient in speaking one or two.
