MEXICAN WAR DIES

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Jan. 2.—Edward Remmel, ninety-one years old, of Upper Mauch Chunk, the last surviving Mexican War veteran in this county as well as the Lehigh Valley and one of the few in the entire country, died at his home yesterday of infirmities due to old age. He was consclous to the last.
Previous to his illness there was nothing he cared for more than to be surrounded by friends, to tell his experiences during the war with Mexico and how the army fought its way into the Mexican capital after storming Chapultepec, in which he had an active part, and where he narrowly escaped death.

Superintendent J. Kelso Green, of Cumberland County, Makes Important Recommendations

Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 2.—Educational inventory, declares County Superintendent J. Kelso Green, discloses the fact that the two most pressing needs in Cumberland county are consolidation of schools and closer supervision on a basis of forty teachers to each supervisor.

Legislative action increasing the length of term, minimum salary, and adequate pension system and increased appropriation should be taken, he declares. Emphasized features in the schools are physical, not military, training, agricultural instruction, debating, spelling bees, school fairs, corn and fruit shows and patron days.

New Officers of Church

The bill at the Majestic is pleasing throughout, with the Golden Orloft Troupe in the position of headliner. This group of Russian sing-majestic ers and dancers display unusual talent, and present a musical offering that cannot fall to meet with the approval of all classes of theatergoers. The Most of this act is "Christmas Eventual titlly staged productions seen at the Majestic this season. Mack and Vincent are also on the bill, and this clever couple offers a delightful singing and talking act, with some piano playing introduced. Gertrude Millington and company entertain with a laughable comedy skit, entitled "Love and War;" the Sylvester Family presents a pleasing little offering which they call "A Happy Evening At Home, while Juggling Nelson provides splendid enter-retainment with his series of clever juggling feats.
