MOTION PICTURES OF INDIAN WORK

Big Concerns Making Films Depicting Activities at Carlisle Industrial School

Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 15.—Motion pictures of the various activities in the industrial courses of the Carlisle Indian School have advanced to such a degree that special arrangements have been made by big "movie" concerns to feature films depicting this work as models of accomplishment.

This is proven by the Ford experience where there are now 35 students and 25 more ready to enter the employ of this manufacturer. After six months they all earn $5 per day, part of which is returned to the school, placed on interest and made payable to their checks, subject to supervision. The students are more than self-supporting.

Mr. Bradley further declares that the American Indian is 1,000 per cent. ahead of the Mexican in mechanical skill and initiative and that the industrial training in United States Indian schools is superior to the same class of schools in the Philippines.

The Bell Desk Stand
Here the felt-covered bottom plate has been taken off for a glimpse inside the telephone.
See how the "cords" come in through a hole at the side and lead on into the stand itself.
Think how the tiny copper wires of the "cords"—finer than hair, and woven together for flexibility—must "chafe" at these points if the instrument is jerked and twisted at the full length of the cord. Besides, this makes the transmission "raspy" and noisy.
You can help to safeguard the high quality of your Bell Service if you avoid the sharp "pulls."

THREE PAILS OF MILK SAVE BARN

Quick Action of Farm Hand Prevents Serious Fire on Franklin County Farm

Waynesboro, Pa., Jan. 15.—If milk had not been used in the place of water for fighting a fire that threatened the destruction of the large bank barn on the Strickler farm, near Waynesboro, on Saturday, the loss of the barn by fire would have amounted to several thousand dollars. The barn was on the Willow Glen farm along the Antietam creek, east of town, and the fire that threatened its destruction was discovered by Mrs. S. Elmer Beeler, a whose beautiful country home is a few hundred yards distant, and summoning her daughter, Miss Helen Beeler, and Arthur Kirkpatrick, who was visiting at the home, secured several buckets of water, and hurriedly ran to the blazing building. They were "beat it" however, by a man, who was milking cows in the barnyard; he got there first and, with three pails of milk, he dashed the fluid upon the flames that were rapidly consuming the doors of the barn, and with the addition of several buckets of water the fire was extinguished.

Early Visit of Buffalo Bill Vividly Recalled

George F. Ross writes to the Telegraph as follows:
"The newspapers have been publishing many incidents about Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) since he crossed the Divide a few days ago, and I recall an incident of his first visit to this city in the early 70's. He and 'Texas Jack' (William Omohundro) appeared here in Brant's hall in a border drama, written by E. J. Judson (Ned Buntline), who was the manager of the famous scouts. I witnessed the play which gave them many opportunities to display their remarkable feats with the revolver, and it is needless to say that many stage Indians were sent to the Happy Hunting Grounds by them. At that time the scouts were less than 30 years of age and splendid types of physical manhood. They were garbed in buckskin suits, wore moccasins, elaborately beaded and large light colored felt hats, and were most picturesque in their appearance. The Lochiel hotel, where they were guests, was the center for the 'kids' and the young men of the city while they were here.
