

COAL CARS MUST BE SENT BACK SOON AS EMPLOYED

Commerce Commission Prescribes Drastic Regulations to Lower High Prices

Washington, Jan. 20.—Drastic regulations designed to relieve the shortage in coal cars and bring about a lowering of present high prices of coal were prescribed to-day by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The new regulations require that original owners of all coal cars as fast as unloaded and give the railroads ten days to devise methods of relieving the shortage in other types of cars.

The commission's order also requires the railroads to apply the same regulations to refrigerator, heater, ventilated and insulated cars.

The new order became effective February 21. The committee which the railroads are called on to appoint should be vested, the order states, with plenary powers and should operate with the commission in seeking relief for the shortage of other types of cars.

Issuance of the order is a culmination of the investigation which the commission has been conducting for several months, the last hearing having been held here December 28.

The hearing was attended by the representatives of a large number of the coal and shipping and Department of Justice officials investigating the high cost of living who had been in frequent consultation with officials of the commission.

"The present condition of car distribution throughout the United States has no parallel in our history," said the commission's decision.

"It is clear that the entry of a formal order is necessary to protect shippers, consignees and the general public."

PROMOUNCE CHILD TEACHING FAILURE

Education Board Finds Students Are Burdened With Useless Information

New York, Jan. 20.—The General Education Board, founded and richly endowed by John D. Rockefeller, finds reason to believe that present-day teaching in the elementary and secondary schools—the teaching of children from 6 to 19 years—is a failure.

The new school, which will open with part of its classes in the fall of 1917, will admit boys and girls from 6 to 19 years of age.

Organized recreation, play and games will be provided. Constant efforts will be made by means of individual, class and school excursions, by means of pictures, lantern slides, charts, maps, shop and laboratory, special reading matter and discussions, to give the pupils sufficient contact with their natural industrial, social, economic, vocational and domestic environment to familiarize them with the uses and demands of the actual world in which they live.
