$352,000,000 Put into "Preparedness" Fund by New Revenue Measure

Washington, Jan. 23. — The new revenue bill was perfected to-day by a subcommittee for submission to the Democrats of the Ways and Means Committee. By specific provision it is entitled a bill to provide revenue on account of the army and navy. It puts into a special "preparedness fund" not only $222,000,000 of revenue to be collected from the excess profits tax and increased rates on transfers of estates but includes $130,000,000 out of the revenue to be collected under the emergency law of last year. By a new provision inserted to-day the President would be empowered to lower by proclamation the income tax to touch those of $2,000 a year instead of $3,000; the present minimum limit and to increase the surtax rates of higher incomes whenever he believes expenditures are going to exceed revenues. This provision is expected by its framers to produce $100,000,000 in time of emergency and its moral effect is expected to tend to hold down expenditures.

Peace League Libeled by Roosevelt, He Claims

New York, Jan. 23. — The "continued persistence" of Theodore Roosevelt in "mistating the position" of the League to Enforce Peace yesterday drew from Hamilton Holt, vice-chairman of the league, a reiteration of the principles for which the organization stands and a statement "to clarify its objects." "Where," asks Mr. Holt, "in the proposals of the League to Enforce Peace does Mr. Roosevelt find the faintest shadow of authority for declaring: 'The league does not propose to concern itself with the righteousness or unrighteousness of any action; it simply proposes that when a wrong has been done the wrongdoing nation and the wronged nation shall be forced to bring their case before some outside council and that the league shall go to war against whichever fails to take this action.'"

COLUMBIA BRIDGE CASE TO BE HEARD

Pennsylvania Railroad Will Make an Issue in the Lancaster Complaint

According to what has been learned at the Public Service Commission, there will be a lively hearing over the complaint of the Lancaster Automobile Club against the Columbia-Wrightsville bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad, one of the few bridges in the State used for railroad, vehicle and pedestrian traffic. The commission has forwarded the complaint to the railroad company for an answer and it will probably join an issue.

The bridge is historic. One of the early bridges built across the Susquehanna, it was completed in 1815 at a cost of $251,000 and was destroyed by an ice flood in 1832, being rebuilt only to be burned in June, 1863, to keep the Confederate army from Lancaster county. The railroad company has operated it for years.

The commission this afternoon sat to hear argument on objections filed by numerous coal operators in the bituminous region against the proposed amendment to the tariff of the railroad to permit it to refuse coal cars to those loading from wagons or any other way than from tipples. The testimony was taken on this case last week and strenuous objection, accompanied by some interesting statements, were made. Since that time over 260 persons have joined in the case and many letters have been received at the State Capitol.

BUREAU OF MARKETS IS BIG FARM NEED

community wholesomely attractive to the boy and girl," the Governor said, "you cannot keep them on the farm. Their interest in agricultural pursuits can only be awakened by bringing to them those things which they seek in the cities. And here is where the school becomes a big factor. Make it a center of social as well as of educational life and they will be happy and contented, and then you can work with them and in them and it will be an easy matter to turn their thoughts to farming and away from the allurements of the city."

In discussing the question of increased production the Governor held that only by intensive methods of farming can it be made more remunerative. "A big problem confronting the farmer is the marketing of his production," the Governor said, and added that he would recommend the creation of a Bureau of Markets which could help the farmer dispose of his produce quickly and economically. "The production of the farms of Pennsylvania can be doubled," the Governor declared, "if this Board will take up the question of an intensified application of farming methods, and, this will be an easy matter to turn their thoughts to farming and away from the allurements of the city."

The State's Cereals
A report on cereals and cereal crops was read by J. Aldus Herr, of Lancaster, disclosed some interesting facts of record breaking for the past year. The value of the cereals produced in the State in 1916 was over $113,000,000 as compared with $95,932,000 for the preceding year. Corn led with $49,700,000 and $36,000,000 was the return from the production of wheat. Lancaster led the other counties of the State in the output of corn with 65 bushels to the acre. The report showed that while the number of bushels of cereals produced in 1916 was smaller than in other years, the return in dollars had never been exceeded. One of the chief reasons for the smaller production was the scarcity of farm labor. In the discussion that followed the reading of the report, emphasis was laid on the fact that in large measure the production of the farms of the State depends on the efficiency of the individual farmer.

Farmers and Roads
Roads and road laws were discussed by Colonel John A. Woodward, of Howard. The care of roads was fully presented as deserving the thoughtful attention of the farmer as well as the public at large. The most important work, the Colonel said, was to demand from the State the great damage done by the careless and thoughtless public that uses their life is extended many years and the cost of maintenance is reduced to a minimum. Therefore, urged the speaker, laws should be enacted immediately to compel the public to keep out of the middle of the road, which belongs to no man.

At the afternoon session of the Board the reports of experts were continued. A. I. Weidner, of Arden, reported on fruit and fruit culture. Prof. F. D. Kern on botany; Chester J. Tyson on pomology; Dr. William Frear on chemistry and sanitation was discussed by Dr. S. G. Dixon. Dr. C. J. Marshall, of Harrisburg, reported on "The Veterinary Surgeon." S. Brown, of Saylorsville, fertilizers; R. J. Wild, of Sugar Grove, dairy and dairy products; D. L.

Fulkman, of New Wilmington, on wool and textile fibers. The specialists who reported were Prof. J. W. Kellogg, microscopist; Prof. H. A. Surface, entomologist; Dr. Joseph Kaibus, ornithologist, and Prof. W. G. Owens, meteorologist.

Vegetable Growers and Horticulturists in Session

The convention of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association began this afternoon. W. Paul Starkey, of Harrisburg, made an address on "Efficiency on the Farm and Garden." H. M. Ware, of Arden, Del., read a paper on "Mushrooms." The meeting was held in the Board of Trade Hall. Reports of officers and committees consumed a greater part of the afternoon.

President W. J. Lewis, of Pittston, at 2 o'clock this afternoon opened the annual session of the State Horticultural Association. The meetings are being held on the second floor of the Board of Trade building and will continue throughout to-morrow. This afternoon J. P. Stewart, of State College, made an address on "Improving Fields in Pennsylvania Orchards." A number of general questions were discussed and committees appointed on resolutions, legislation and nominations.

Finest Produce of State in Great Fair Show

Prize corn, apples, vegetables, dairy products and wool feature this year's annual exhibition of the State Board of Agriculture. The big show opened this morning in the Emerson-Brantingham building, Tenth and Market streets, and is said to be the largest ever held. The exhibition will be open daily from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m. Admission will be free.

The exhibition covers two floors, taking up a total floor space of 48,000 square feet. The second floor is taken up with the farm product exhibits, and on the first floor is found everything that is new in labor-saving machinery and modern tools for tilling the soil.

An idea of the exhibit may be had from the registration of prize corn displays, numbering 563; apple exhibits, 600, and vegetables, 60.

Products from nearby farms are prominent, including vegetables and other products from the Jednota farm, near Middletown, and the Robert J. Walton fruit and vegetable farms for storage; indoor versus outdoor

Why Goodyear Tires Win Friends

Business, it is said, finally resolves itself into a matter of dealing with friends.

From the first, the affairs of this Company have been conducted on that principle.

We sought to obtain friendship by deserving it.

By building into our product downright worth—fertile ground for confidence and respect, the very seeds of friendship.

We won friends to Goodyear—won them in prodigious numbers.

But our purpose continued unchanged, for holding friends is as important as winning them.

If you will look at a Goodyear tire, a Goodyear tube, or any of the Goodyear accessories, and learn what they mean in quality, in value, in service, you will readily understand why the friends who came to us in the early days are with us still.

If you will try a Goodyear tire on your car, you will understand why these friends were joined by other friends month after month, year upon year, until the Goodyear clientele became the largest single group of tire-buyers in the world.

If you will consider the growth of this business, you will realize the stupendous power of the good word spoken man to man, of the enthusiastic comment, of friendliness.

And you realize, too, why we spend upon our product so much of effort and of money to encourage the good word, to foster such friendliness.

—"a matter of dealing with friends."

Tire-buying will become that to you after your first Goodyear purchase.

Whether you buy a Goodyear Fabric tire, a Goodyear Cord, a Heavy Tourist tube, or minor items.

Each harbors the source of your greater satisfaction and our better relation—Goodyear quality.

Goodyear Tires, Heavy Tourist Tubes and "Tire Saver" Accessories are easy to get from Goodyear Service Station Dealers everywhere.
