ORGAN RECITAL BY PROF. WALLACE

Given Yesterday to Large Numbers; Blind Musician Assisted by Two Soloists

To set a precedent is the task of a brave individual. To overcome the prejudice of a conservative city and hold a concert in a playhouse on the Sabbath day was surely setting a precedent for Harrisburg. And yet he did it and carried it off successfully, the well-known Prof. C. W. Wallace, blind organist of the Grand Photo Theater, in Derry street. From all parts of the city came men and women, music lovers by the hundreds, to enjoy the treat that they knew from experience awaited them yesterday.

Prof. Wallace is an artist of the highest order and a composer. With him on the program were two of Harrisburg's old favorites, Mrs. William K. Bumbaugh, soprano, and Miss Lerner, violinist; also little Miss Patti Thomas, the child pianist. The latter was particularly good in Lysberg's "La Fontaine" with the organ accompaniment. Mrs. Bumbaugh was at her best in the gradual crescendo of longing, "Tost's" famous "Good-bye" and there were many wet eyes in the auditorium during her singing of Bragg's "Angels' Serenade." Miss Lerner playing the violin obbligato, and Prof. Wallace at the organ, Miss Lerner's solo, Schubert's "Ave Marie," with the organ accompaniment was given, like all her work, with faultless execution and sympathetic understanding.

35 INJURED IN PENNSY WRECK

[Continued From First Page] ing the trolley car to that city, which is eight miles from the scene of the wreck. The uninjured passengers continued on their way on a later train. Only two were seriously injured. They were John Hannon, aged 32, porter on the dining car, who suffered a fracture of the right arm and internal injuries, and William H. Carroll, a chef, who was burned on the left arm, back and hands. His condition to-day was not improved. Others injured were: Edward Robinson, colored, 35 Prospect street, Brooklyn; F. H. Hoveler, colored, 551, 53rd street, Brooklyn; Thomas Lewis, colored, 41 Oak street, Jersey City; Melvin Biers, Mrs. Rochelle, N. Y.; Joseph Goodall, 274 Clark street, Jersey City; Albert C. Simms, colored, 226 West 134th street, New York; Herman Bartlett, colored, 16 Kearney street, Jersey City; Lewis Taylor, colored, 338 West 26th street, New York; Waverly Holland, colored, 145 West 138th street, New York; Miss Clara V. Mahoney, 31 North Second street, Harrisburg; Mrs. George L. Bailey, 927 Erie avenue, Williamsport; Edwin Robinson, 35 Prospect street, Brooklyn; Miss Z. Pedigo, 5013 North Seventh street, Philadelphia; Miss H. Rhoades, and Mrs. Rhoades, 532 West Fourth street, Williamsport; Mrs. T. M. Ullman, Williamsport; Mrs. Glenn McMillan, no destination; Mrs. E. T. Magee, 195 South Ninth street, Olean, N. Y.

Buffalo Express left Harrisburg at 5:30, running a few minutes late. The train slowed up on the straight line a quarter mile west of Landisville and was running about twenty-five miles an hour when the accident occurred. The cars turned over against a high bank. All passengers were thrown from their seats. The most injured were employees in the dining car who were caught in a small space when the car turned over. Several of the porters being thrown against hot stoves. Others were caught in the falling chinaware and supplies on the shelves in the rear of the car. Word was sent to Lancaster and Harrisburg as soon as possible and relief trains with physicians and surgeons sent to the scene of the wreck. Dr. George B. Kunkel and Dr. Hyman R. Wiener with Superintendent William B. McCaleb and other Philadelphia division officials went from Harrisburg to the scene, a distance of 28 miles in 2 1/2 hours.

Aid from Lancaster also responded promptly and with the members of the crew and passengers, the injured were made as comfortable as possible. There were many thrilling moments immediately after the cars left the rails. In the dining car a number of passengers were injured. One of the passengers was a woman with a baby. The child was knocked from her arms, and F. H. Hoveler, an employe, who was badly injured, crawled under a seat, rescued the baby and helped the mother from the car. William H. Carroll, the chef, was caught between the stove and partition. Buffalo Express was in charge of a Philadelphia crew, including Conductor E. Wallace; Engineer J. H. Stroth; Baggage-master J. A. Greenwood and brakemen J. A. Morris and E. J. Foley. This train usually is made up of nine cars but on account of the high travel on Sunday there were only six coaches. Wreck crews from Harrisburg, Lancaster and Columbia got busy soon after the wreck and at 1 o'clock the main line was open. Until the tracks were cleared all trains were sent from Lancaster to Columbia and thence to this city.

At the Harrisburg Hospital a corps of physicians looked after the injured, including Drs. Harvey B. Smith, E. R. Whipple, F. W. Coover, Carson Coover, H. E. Walter, L. C. Avery, Norman Shepler, George B. Stull, C. Trullinger and A. J. Griest. Drs. George B. Kunkel and H. R. Winer returned to Harrisburg with the relief train.

Pottsville Miss Prescribed For Dad When He Had Pneumonia

"Rub Daddy with Vick's 'Cause It Made Me Better, and It Will Make Him Better, Too," Said Little Emma Kienzle.

MR. KIENZLE IS WELL NOW. When Mr. C. F. Kienzle, 511 Laurel St., Pottsville, Pa., was stricken with typhoid pneumonia, his little daughter immediately recommended the remedy that always relieved her colds. Her advice was good, for Mrs. Kienzle writes—"The doctor had little hopes for him but I kept right on using Vick's and the pneumonia was broken."

When Vick's VapoRub Salve was first introduced from the South, Schneider's Pharmacy presented Mrs. Kienzle with a jar, and requested that she give it a thorough trial. Mrs. Kienzle reported—"At that time my little girl was suffering with a severe cold. Her head was closed and she could not breathe through her nostrils. She was tight on the chest and complained of her throat hurting her. We had been trying to doctor her up with cough syrops and tonics, but nothing seemed to break her cold. I rubbed a little Vick's VapoRub up her nostrils and made her inhale a little of it, and she had instant relief in the head. When I put her to bed I rubbed her chest and throat with a good thick application, and in the morning there was no trace of a cold." Mothers will find Vick's VapoRub Salve a sure enough "Bodyguard in the home." Three sizes, 25c, 50c or $1.00.

Could not Sleep. Hair Came Out. Cuticura Healed.

"My baby had eczema which began by itching on the head. It came in the form of blisters and it was no time till his head was a cake of scales. He was cross and fretful as his scalp was inflamed and sore, and he could not sleep. His hair came out and was lifeless and dry. I told my doctor how baby was and he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Before I used one box of the Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap baby was relieved, and I only used the second box of Cuticura Ointment together with the Cuticura Soap when he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, Nottingham, Pa.
