MASONS CALLED BUILDERS OF U. S. A.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 30.—Dr. Madison C. Peters, in a lecture last night in Memorial Baptist Church on "The Masons as Makers of America," reviewed the story of the American Revolution and declared that from the laying of the first cornerstone of the Green Dragon Inn, Boston, by such Masons as Samuel Adams and Joseph Warren, the development of opinion which preceded the war to the crowning triumph of the Declaration of Independence, as President of the United States, was a Masonic movement.

The "Mohawk" of the "Boston Tea Party" were members of St. Andrew's Lodge, led by the Junior Warden, Paul Revere, he said. The first President of the Continental Congress, Peyton Randolph, was Grand Master of Masons of Virginia, who was followed by another Mason, John Hancock. The Declaration of Independence was carried and signed by Masons, Charles Carroll was perhaps the only signer not a Mason, he asserted.

At another session of Washington were Masons. The traitor of Monmouth, Charles Lee, was not a Mason, nor were Muffin and Conway, who joined Gates in the conspiracy to displace Washington and give Gates the place of Commander-in-Chief, Dr. Peters declared.

All of Washington's appointments to the Supreme Court were Masons, and all in his two Cabinets were Masons, with the possible exception of Thomas Jefferson, who did not become a Mason until he went to France. Alexander Hamilton, James Madison, Robert Morris and Haym Solomon, the Polish Jew broker, who carried the $2,000,000 of finance the Revolution, not a dollar of which was ever paid back, were Masons, the speaker pointed out.
