War With Germany Will Not Halt Season; President Tener Talks

New York, Feb. 6.—Major league baseball will go on as before even if the United States becomes involved in a war between now and the opening of the baseball season, according to statements made public yesterday by Ban Johnson and John K. Tener, respective presidents of the American and National Leagues.

War Is Not Wanted
"War would have a most disastrous effect on baseball," said President Tener, "but the National League, for one, would start the season regardless of how serious the situation might be."

"I am speaking strictly for the National League. I believe the American League and all other organizations also would start, though it is possible that some of the smaller leagues might decide to change their plans and delay the start of their seasons until they learned what effect the situation had upon the larger leagues."

Faculty Director Grubb has announced that both Lock Haven and Clearfield high schools have offered football games with the Maroon to be played on those fields next fall.

Will Compete at Philadelphia With Old-Time Rivals; Enter Championship

Coaches Peet and Hill of the Tech track team have received word from Coach George Orton of the University of Pennsylvania that Tech will again be placed in the class with Central, Steelton, Reading, Williamsport, Altoona and several Central Pennsylvania High schools.

Error in Classification
An inquiry to the Penn authorities brought out the fact that because of the numerous entries for this year, there had been a mistake made in the classification of the Tech runners.

WELLY'S CORNER

That Harrisburg will have something attractive in bowling tournament in April is a foregone conclusion. The committee in charge of plans knows the game thoroughly and it will bring to Harrisburg bowlers from every town within a radius of fifty miles of this city.

Tech High officials lost little time in getting a change in classification for the University of Pennsylvania relay race in April. It was said at the time the list was published that an error had been made.

Something classic in boxing exhibitions is promised at the West End Republican Club, Frankie Ernie will be the matchmaker and will be in the ring as referee. He will sign up boys who fight. Complete plans will be announced within a week.

Dave Fultz appears to be getting away from a strike idea. He made public yesterday that there would be no strike next week or later on and intimated that if there was a war with Germany all baseball controversy would be called off. Perhaps Fultz has seen the error of his ways.

Probably the declaration of war will be preceded by an announcement that Bob Folwell has been signed up as coach at Penn. It looks as if the decision has been reached, as a statement is made to-day in a dispatch from Philadelphia that Folwell asks for no help this year.

By Dickson may coach the Lafayette football team. He was assistant coach at the University of Pennsylvania last season. It is not certain whether he will take the Lafayette job. However, it looks as if he would be better off.

Jack Murray and Jim Thorpe are picked as two notable come-backs. Manager McGraw expects to use both outfielders frequently. It will all depend on their batting ability.

It is said that Barney Dreyfuss will slice $35,000 from the Pittsburgh payroll this season. Last season salaries amounted to $114,000. If some of the New York State League clubs could have what is to be sliced off, President Farrell would have some baseball.

Penn State reports a successful year in athletics. R. H. Smith, graduate manager of athletics, shows a gain of $2,839.45 for the year 1915-16. Football and baseball were money-making branches of major sports. The track account shows a deficit of less than $300. The total income from all sports was $26,147.76 and the expense was $23,208.31. Of these amounts football brought in $21,829.60 and entailed an expenditure of $17,883.53. Baseball netted a profit of more than $1,000. The athletic association treasury has a surplus of $10,000.

Final indoor contests in the Pennsylvania District ultimate contests are in this week's schedule for local floors. Quilts, volleyball and billiards will be played at Seventh and Rely streets. Bowling contests take place at the P. R. R. Y. M. C. A.

With the possibility of war there is increased interest everywhere in the training of the young men of the United States for military service. Pennsylvania college at Gettysburg is in fine shape to place a battalion in the field. The college has organized five companies comprising 270 students and in the event of war, John F. Dapp, of this city, a member of the board of trustees, believes one hundred per cent. of the corps would respond. The present student enrollment at Gettysburg is 420. Major Frank Lee Graham of the United States army, is in command of the battalion and Sergeant Norwood Allen, non-commissioned officer of the regular army, has also been commissioned for service at the college. The course of military science and tactics at Gettysburg is optional, but it is proving unusually successful and popular.
