WORK IN PEKING AMONG SOLDIERS

Donald Carruthers Tells of Legation Guards' Association in Far Away China

Donald W. Carruthers of this city who is connected with Y. M. C. A. work of Princeton University in Peking, China, has much of interest to tell of the Peking Legation Guards' Association, especially timely as America is working untiringly at present for the welfare of her soldiers.

In a recent letter Mr. Carruthers says: "The Legation Guards' Association in Peking is located in a one-story building containing one large room, a small diningroom, one small classroom and kitchen, originally used as a street chapel for a local mission. It is consequently not too well adapted to the needs of the present work, but several high capacity electric lights make it one of the brightest buildings in the vicinity and consequently quite inviting. The flags of the various nations troop from every head. Large straw mats have been placed on the floor and give a feeling of comfort. Attractive flowers and shrubs; copies of maps, copies of paintings and portraits, both European and Chinese; a large table with illustrated booklets of almost every variety, and another filled with current periodicals in several languages and inviting Morris chairs add to its attractiveness. The kitchen is without doubt one of the cleanest Chinese kitchens in Peking, a feature especially appreciated. The association competes successfully with the open forces of evil which surround the building on every side—to which the man in uniform too often falls a ready victim."

The American Guards now form the main field for work. German, Austrian, Dutch, Italian and American soldiers in considerable numbers have used the building at the same time. Their spirit while in the association was well illustrated when the secretary introduced a German soldier to a Belgian. The latter said: "We are enemies but I will shake hands with you."

A branch of the Peking School of Commerce and Finance enables enlisted men to pursue courses of study in our night school. Others have been aided in securing correspondence courses in desired subjects. A fire-side talk is generally held on Wednesday evening, when the speaker has interest in enlisted men in the Far East are presented by outside speakers. During the serving of the refreshments the speaker has been formally questioned by the men, who much enjoy this opportunity of conversing with "a man from the outside."

Movies For the Germans "The German barracks have been given the use of the moving picture machine each week for shows in their own barracks. This definite service has been appreciated. Regular visits are made to the German and American hospitals. These are supplied with pictures, reading matter and flowers. The Germans have resulted from these personal visits, some men having sent for the secretary to come and see them.

There is an advisory committee composed of one French representative, one German, one Dutch, two English and two American representatives. More than $1,000 (Mexican) have been subscribed for the support of this work. The names of the American, the Japanese, the German, the Dutch and the Belgian ministers appear on the list of contributors. One commandant has asked his government to make an appropriation to the association of $1.50 per man in his command.

The announcement of the army association is sent personally to each United States marine on reaching Peking. The secretary was the only American civilian to be invited recently to see a detail of twenty-one marines off for America after more than thirty months in China. At the same time the secretary was the only civilian present except the officiating clergyman.

"To the traveler, the Far East becomes a land of charm and interest, but to the enlisted man stationed in China it becomes after a time a land of forgettable loneliness and isolation in the midst of a people whose language and customs will forever remain to him a perplexing riddle. Few men in distant America can fully realize how strong must be the light of civilization to separate them from all the restraining influences of home, in the face of this all-powerful seductive "spell of the East," termed by many who have felt its force "Samoa's blight on their manhood the hell of the East."

"D. W. CARRUTHERS." Mrs. Frederick Watson of Galesburg, Ill., left for home this morning after spending ten days with her sister, Mrs. Charles Allen Lester, of State street.

MEETING PLACE CHANGED The College Club wishes to announce that its invitation lecture this evening will be held at the Y. W. C. A., Fourth and Walnut streets, in place of at the Civic Club, because of lack of steam heat. The speaker will be William Webster Bilsworth, of the Century Company, New York, who will give reminiscences.

All members are urged to be present at this important meeting.

HELPFUL HAIR HINTS Worthy the Attention of Everyone Who Would Avoid Dandruff, Itching Scalp, Gray Hairs and Baldness "What will stop my hair coming out?" Reply: Parisian Sage is the best remedy for hair and scalp trouble; used to prevent baldness, grayness and dandruff.

The great war has not interfered with the sales of Parisian Sage—one of the most helpful and invigorating hair treatments known. It is used in this country from the original formula.

"Before going to bed, I always rub a little Parisian Sage (the 'Sage') on my hair. My hair is greatly improved. It stops falling out and makes it easy to dress attractively."

Beautiful soft, glossy, healthy hair for those who use Parisian Sage. You can get a bottle of this inexpensive French hair dressing from H. C. Kennedy and druggists everywhere. It gives a guarantee of satisfaction, or money refunded.—Advertisement.

"You say the name is Cream of Barley?" "And what are your other new breakfast foods?" "More of that kind? Well, they're only an excuse for cream and sugar. We want real breakfasts—nourishing and appetizing." "Cream of Barley—just the thing I want. How is it prepared?" "Well! That's very simple! And I know barley foods are the most digestible because the doctor prescribed them for my little boy when he could not eat anything else." "How interesting! If it's a favorite with athletes it must be nourishing." "Send me a package of Cream of Barley The Energy Food"
