Willard a copy of Spaul's reply to the central powers. The minister added that in the present situation Spain could take no other action than that defined in its declaration to Germany.

MANY WILLING TO BRAVE DANGER

Large Number of Passengers Switch From American Line to Allied Liners

New York, Feb. 9.—A number of persons, who had engaged passage for Europe on ships of the American line showed their readiness to brave the dangers of the submarine zone by cancelling their reservations to-day and booking on ships flying the flags of belligerent nations.

There are now only about forty first class passengers left on the St. Louis of the American line, but it is predicted that more will be booked as soon as the line decides to send her out.

The sixty second class and twenty third class passengers are standing by the St. Louis because most of them have little money and a majority of cases their hotel bills are being paid by the steamship company.

A wireless message from a passenger on the Holland-American liner Ryndam, given out here, contained information that the liner which sailed from New York for Rotterdam January 29 and turned back within a few hours of Falmouth, was warned by a German submarine to turn about just before entering the war zone.

GERARD TO LEAVE BERLIN TOMORROW

the British steamer Turino, was reported by Consul Frost to-day to be "apparently" a British subject. It was stated that he was born in Alberta, Canada.

Special attention was given to a report that in the sinking of the British steamer Turino yesterday an American sailor lost his life and to an negro sailor of the California, the big passenger ship which carried an American when sunk without warning on Wednesday.

President Wilson, pursuing his general policy of having the government refrain from any act which might be construed as having been prompted by an ulterior motive in the crisis, authorized an announcement that bank deposits, merchant ships and other private property of foreigners will not be seized, even in case of war.

Germany's original note to the United States announcing the resumption of unrestricted submarine warfare stated that neutral ships which were on their way toward ports on the blockade zones on February 1 would be "spared during a sufficiently long period."

German Fleet to Face British in Final Effort If U-Boat War Fails

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Naval experts predicted that Germany would try conclusions with the British fleet if the submarine starvation blockade against England failed.

They based their reasoning on the belief that Germany's blockade was undertaken as a measure of desperation because the point of actual starvation had been reached in Germany.

Before surrendering unconditionally to the Allies, however, Germany undoubtedly would make a final supreme effort to win control of the seas, they said.

The German failure with both her submarine and her high seas fleet, it was asserted, would enable the Allies to command absolute surrender and to impose their own terms.

Navy Recruiting Agents to Enlist 25,000 More Men

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Navy recruiting agents have been instructed to immediately enlist 25,000 additional men.

While the current naval bill authorized a peace strength of 74,000 men, it carried appropriations for considerably less than that number, since the department had estimated that in the normal course of events not more than 10,000 recruits above the number necessary to replace men discharged could be obtained.

Officials have been encouraged by recruiting returns during the winter months, however, which have brought the actual strength up to nearly 58,000 men already.

In the event of war probably the first act of the President will be to authorize the enlistment of the maximum war-time strength of 87,000. Probably this could be quickly accomplished by a provision in the department's regulations permitting volunteers to enlist for the duration of the war and not binding them to a full enlistment in times of peace.

RUSSIA DEEPLY IMPRESSED

Petrograd, Feb. 8, via London, Feb. 9.—The foreign office has given the following statement to the Associated Press in regard to the action of the United States in terminating diplomatic relations with Germany:

"The decision of the government of the United States to sever relations with a nation which has persisted in the violation of perversion of all the laws of warfare has produced a deep impression in Russia. We cannot too deeply acknowledge our appreciation of President Wilson's verdict. Everywhere where men are fighting for the triumph of right and justice the action of the United States will call forth new courage and consolidate their conviction of a necessity of insuring forever with German militarism and its atrocities."

AUSTRIA FOLLOWS KAISER Rio Janeiro, Feb. 9.—Brazil has received from Austria-Hungary a note identical with that of Germany respecting submarine warfare. In reply the government has sent a protest to Vienna identical with that already dispatched to Berlin.

Further Delay of Two Days For Neutral Ships Is Given to Spain

Paris, Feb. 9.—A Madrid dispatch to the Petit Journal says that the German government has announced that it grants a further delay of forty-eight hours for neutral ships at sea to regain neutral ports.

Germany's original note to the United States announcing the resumption of unrestricted submarine warfare stated that neutral ships which were on their way toward ports on the blockade zones on February 1 would be "spared during a sufficiently long period."

The note also said that neutral ships in ports within the barred zone would be given until February 5 to sail and must take the shortest route out of the restricted areas.

On February 2 the Spanish government asked the central powers for an extension of time in which Spanish ships at sea in the blockade zone could return to port, but no dispatches have mentioned any specific time limit as set by Germany.

Children of Mrs. O'Donnell, Two of Whom Are Missing, Were Born in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 9.—The three children of Mrs. Mary J. O'Donnell, two of whom, with their mother, were reported among the missing passengers of the Anchor line steamer California, sunk by a submarine, were born in Philadelphia and according to authorities here, were "potential Americans."

The third child was among the survivors. Notwithstanding that their parents were not naturalized these authorities hold that the O'Donnell boys, at the age of 21, could have become American citizens by the simple process of registering as voters.

At their option, however, it was held that they could have chosen British citizenship, by returning to England in the same manner.

Mrs. O'Donnell was a Scotswoman and her husband was a native of Ireland. They had lived in this city for 18 years. According to the Rev. Edward F. X. Curran, rector of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, at which the family worshipped, Mrs. O'Donnell had not seen her husband for three years and nothing is known of his whereabouts. "It is barely possible," said Father Curran, "that O'Donnell has taken out citizenship papers during this period."

Father Curran said that Mrs. O'Donnell was on her way to Scotland to make her home with her parents and that he had given her birth certificates for the children so that she could get passports from the State Department at Washington.

German Soldiers in Front Trenches Know of Diplomatic Break

With the British Armies in France, Feb. 8, via London, Feb. 9.—(From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—Miserable details of the breach of diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany have just reached the German soldiers in the front line trenches, according to the statement of prisoners taken by the British to-day. At Baillencourt farm, north of Grandcourt, eighty men and one officer of the Eighty-fifth German Infantry Regiment were captured. Most of them were from Hamburg and were formerly engaged in the shipping trade and spoke English fluently.

One of the prisoners said that he had heard from his own sources that America had broken off relations but that he did not know exactly what this would lead to. Another prisoner, shrugging his shoulders, said: "It makes no difference now who comes into the war. We don't care. For me the war is finished and the sooner all is over the better."

Others among the prisoners asked for information regarding the great liners formerly plying between Hamburg and the United States and now tied up in New York. They seem more interested in that phase than in any other.

Fight in Moonlight

The recent night fighting in the moonlight and across the frozen snow, in a temperature near zero, has carried the British lines well forward on both sides of the Ancre in the direction of Miramont, one part of the operations being the occupation of Grandcourt which was officially announced last night. For some time the British have been gradually improving their position in the Ancre sector, but the latest and most important phase began on Saturday night when, under a moon almost too brilliant for their purpose, the English troops swept forward five hundred yards over a frontage of three-quarters of a mile, taking 200 prisoners. This was north of the river and since then the pressure has been from the south.

On Tuesday night the British occupied a long section of a trench just west of Grandcourt, and on Wednesday patrols were sent out who reported that Grandcourt had been evacuated and that the enemy had retired toward Miramont after abandoning many gun positions. This was due to the fact that the British had reached a position where their guns could rake Grandcourt from three sides. Still pressing forward on the north General Sir's forces took Baillencourt farm to-day after a brief resistance.

British staff officers pointed out the significance of these latter advances in view of the German official statement of Tuesday which claimed the recapture of trenches occupied on Saturday. These officers say that the subsequent events are the best proof that the German statement was untruthful. Grandcourt was badly smashed but bits of walls still standing distinguish it from some of the other villages which were completely flattened and pulverized. German stores of provisions were found in the village and the British tommyes dined to-day on German rations.

Do they EAT their cereal?

In many households, there is only one answer: "Yes, because I give them Cream of Barley, you know." The reason for that answer is not hard to find. Children not only want flavor, they want a distinctively delicious flavor—Cream of Barley has it.

And children want even more than that—they want a cereal of whose flavor they won't tire. And they never tire of Cream of Barley.

That's because a child's system knows a lot about foods. The child may not know, but its system does. His system demands the right thing and if it doesn't get just the right thing it soon makes him refuse it.

Cream of Barley is always the right thing. It is made by an exclusive process, from the most digestible and sustaining of grains.
