SHIMMELL SCHOOL FOR COMMUNITY

Center Association Organized Last Evening at Home of President Stamm

Just a week ago at a public meeting in the Shimmell School Building, Supervisor John F. Kob was authorized to appoint a committee to formulate plans for using that building to the greater advantage of the community.

At the invitation of A. Carson Stamm, president of the school board, this committee met last evening at his home and there was organized the Shimmell Community Center Association.

Beside Frederick E. Downes, superintendent of schools, there were present these invited residents of the Hill section: Harry D. Jones, John E. Gipple, D. A. Lutz, Ell N. Hershey, A. C. Dean, the Rev. F. L. Taxis, Paul March, C. E. MacCloskey, Al. K. Thomas, Harry Carr, E. M. Wallis, Chester Fisher, Harry A. Boyer, Dr. H. A. Stine and Messrs. Stamm, Cullmery and Kob.

A number of addresses were made on the subject of community work and school interests, and a committee of five, with Superintendent Downes as chairman, will be appointed by President Kob to draft a constitution and by-laws to be considered at a later meeting.

The association, the first of its particular kind in the city, will foster athletics and community work generally, with the L. S. Shimmell School Building, in South Seventeenth street as its central point of operation at the present.

Much enthusiasm was shown, and the undertaking is bound to prove successful.

CHORAL CONCERT CHARMING AUDIENCE

Wednesday Club Shows That Much Latent Talent Is Being Developed

War and rumors of war faded into the background last night before the charm and beauty of the choral concert of the Wednesday Club in Fahnstock hall in the Y. M. C. A. There was a great variety in the style of music offered, the program including vocal, violin, flute, piano, violoncello and harp.

The Wednesday Club chorus, formed into its regularity has been growing to vocal pitch, were under the capable control of their director, Miss Ruth S. Conkling. In their first selection, "Night" (opus 144-Saint-Saens), Mrs. William K. Brumbaugh carried the soprano solo to which the flute obligato of Mr. Eric Evans added a most delightful touch in imitation of the bell of the nightingale. The ever popular waltz song from "Faust," Mrs. Brumbaugh and Miss Belle Middaugh, soloists, rose and fell with its rich full swing carried along with perfect rhythm by several voices.

"Spring's Awakening" (Emanuel Bach) was arranged as a trio for violin, violoncello and piano and was played with splendid unison and sympathy by the Leona Kennedy trio, including Miss Sara Lerner, Miss Kennedy and Miss Margaretta Kennedy.

An innovation was a solo selection by Miss Vaughn, the young harpist whose popularity has been growing with such leaps and bounds. Her "Masurka" (opus 12-Schuecker) was so appreciated by the audience that the heartiest applause brought her back for an encore.

Mrs. Henry H. Rhodes' piano selections brought memories of the greatly gifted who have visited us of late. Not only is her interpretation marvelous but she possesses that firm, sure touch usually credited to the sterner sex.

In three choral transcriptions, "The Walnut Tree" and "The Lotus Flower" by Schubert (four-part arrangement with violin and harp accompaniment) and "The Bridegroom" by Brahms were demonstrations of the infinite practice pains taken by the chorus to produce by the pleasing esters in ensemble singing. The beautiful bouquet of flowers passed over the footlights to Miss Conkling was the mute testimony of the hearty appreciation of her leadership.

The piano accompaniments were beautifully played by Mrs. Bent L. Weaver, Mrs. Rhodes assisting. The number of the most enjoyable program was the arrangement of the 137th Psalm by Liszt given by the club chorus, Mrs. Roy G. Cox, soloist, and with the accompanying of violin, harp and two pianos. The pleading pathos in the words, "We wept—when we remembered Zion" changed to superb dignity in the great united cry, "Jerusalem, Jerusalem."

Schubert's "The Omnipotence," was the closing number and a fitting finale indeed in its majestic beauty to a music evening of which the Wednesday Club can be justly proud.
